30 YEARS WITH LAMBO

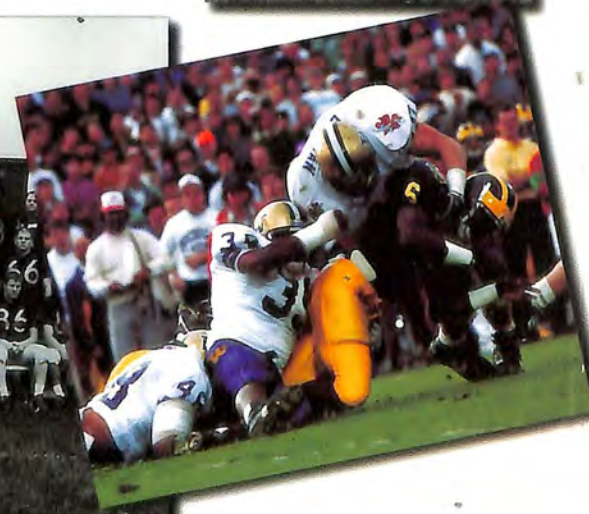

Jim Lambright has been a fixture on the Washington coaching scene for a period that covers four decades.

A native of Everett, Lambright graduated from the University in 1965, lettering twice for the football team. A member of the Huskies' 1964 Rose Bowl team, he earned All-Coast honors in 1964. As a senior he was named the squad's most inspirational player.

Lambright's coaching stint at UW dates back to 1969, when Jim Owens offered him a job on the Husky staff. A defensive coordinator for 15 years before taking over as Washington's head coach in 1993, Lambright designed the attack-style defense that helped the Huskies to three consecutive Rose Bowls and the 1991 National Championship.

The 1998 season marks Lambright's 30th year of service on the Husky staff. He is one of only three current Division I head coaches who have worked at their current school for at least 30 years.

The 1998 University of Washington Football Media Guide was published by the Media Relations Office, Jim Daves, director. The guide was designed and edited by Jim Daves. Additional editorial contributions by Ryan Church, Sean Moore, Brian Tom, Richard Gonzales, Ryan Wilkerson, Jack Vines, Brian Beaky, Lisa Center and Stacy Nishihara. Special thanks to Karen Chave and Steve Rudman for previous research. This publication was produced entirely by using desktop publishing software and applications on an Apple Macintosh computer system. Printing by Publication Services, Judy Robertson coordinator. Campus photos are courtesy of the UW's Photographic Services' photographers. Mug shot by Bruce Terami. Special thanks for the staff at Pacific Trading Cards for their assistance with the design of the cover. The media relations office extends its thanks to all members of past sports information staffs that have assisted in compiling information that is an integral part of this guide. Any corrections or additions to the media guide are welcome and should be directed in writing to Jim Daves.

Media Information

Fall Practice: Fall practice begins Wednesday, August 12. Practices will tentatively be held twice a day for the first two weeks at 9:25 a.m. and 3:55 p.m. Regular-season practice time is 3:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Practices are open to beat media. Video is restricted to the first 30 minutes of practice. Out-of-town media should contact media relations director Jim Daves about access. Media practice passes must be obtained from the Media Relations Office, Room 229, Graves Building.

Interview Policy: Contact the Media Relations Office for ALL interview requests. It is very helpful to have 24 hours notice so that the media relations staff will have ample time to make arrangements with players and coaches. Athletes are typically available before or after practice Monday through Thursday on a first-come, first-serve basis. Athletes are not available for interviews on Friday or on Saturday prior to a game.

Press Credentials: All credentials should be requested from Media Relations Director Jim Daves in writing. Requests should be made at least one week prior to the game. Credentials will be mailed if time permits. Credentials are generally mailed to the opponent SID the week before the game to distribute to visiting media covering the game. Credentials not mailed will be available on gameday from 9 a.m. until noon in the lobby of the Graves Building. After noon they will be left at Will Call at the west side of the stadium. Visiting media should make requests through the visiting Sports Information Director.

Parking: Limited press parking is located in areas designated N-24, E-11, S-1 and C-21. The E-11 lot is located on the northwest perimeter of the stadium. The C-21 lot is an underground garage located due west from Husky Stadium, directly across Montlake Boulevard. Parking passes should be requested through the Media Relations Office. Visiting media should make parking requests through the visiting Sports Information Director.

Photographers: Photo passes are available for accredited news media. They should be ordered in the same manner as press credentials. Visiting media should make requests through the visiting Sports Information Director. Photographers may work from the sidelines in accordance with NCAA rules. In no case may a photographer shoot from in front of either team's bench. No tripods are allowed on the field. Passes should be worn in plain sight. Armbands must be picked up prior to kickoff by showing a photo credential at the table located in the west end zone. Failure to adhere to these regulations, or any interference with play, is reason for expulsion. A box lunch will be served to photographers during halftime at the credential table in the west end zone. Freelance photographers will be subject to University licensing regulations for any images portraying Washington student-athletes and registered trademarks.

Press Box Elevator: The press box elevator is located on the lower level of the south side of Husky Stadium. The elevator is used by members of both teams' coaching staffs, media representatives and a limited amount of fans who require an elevator pass. Only accredited media will be allowed access to the elevator and press box. Please arrive at least 90 minutes before kickoff to assure your arrival at the press area well before game time. Media members do have priority elevator use, so be sure to indicate to the elevator attendant that you are a credentialed member of the media.

Services: Quarterly play-by-play accounts, computerized halftime and final statistics, scoring summaries and coaches' quotes will be distributed in the press box, in the postgame interview area and in the Don James Center media workroom following the end of the game. Play-by-play information, statistics, injury updates, etc., will be reported over the internal press box public address system. A light lunch will be served prior to kickoff and at halftime.

Telephones: The Media Relations Department has two telephone lines installed in the press box (543-2230 and 543-2231). These lines are intended for Media Relations use only. If media members require telephones, please call Pat Jones of the University of Washington Telecommunications Department at (206) 543-0133. The Telecommunications Department will arrange to install phone lines at your expense.

Husky Stadium: Husky Stadium is located five miles north of downtown Seattle and approximately 30 minutes north of Sea-Tac Airport. To get to the stadium from downtown Seattle, take I-5 North and take the 520 East (Bellevue/Kirkland) Exit. Take the Montlake Exit and turn left at the stoplight. Husky Stadium is located off Montlake Boulevard, on the right side of the street. Traffic conditions can become congested prior to gametime and media are advised to arrive at Husky Stadium early.

Professional Football Scout Tickets: Professional football scouts should contact the Husky Media Relations Office (543-2230) to purchase tickets for scouting purposes. Pac-10 policy does not permit professional football scouts to be credentialed.

Internet Site: www.gohuskies.com

Postgame Interviews: The elevator will leave the press box level with eight and four minutes remaining in the game for all members of the media wishing to go to the interview area. The elevator will leave again immediately following the end of the game. Media Relations personnel will escort the media to the interview room (assembly room, stadium tunnel) and will bring athletes to the interview room by request. The visiting Sports Information Director determines postgame interview procedure for the visiting locker room. An overflow lockerroom located near the visiting team lockerroom is used for media interviews.

Postgame Media Work Area: Media members may work in the press box following games, but are advised to use the Don James Center (2nd level, north stands) for filing purposes. The Don James Center is enclosed with plenty of work space, phones to use for filing, restroom facilities and soft drinks are available. Final statistics and coach and player quotes will be available in the work area.

Mondays with Coach Lambright: Coach Jim Lambright holds a press conference each Monday at mid-morning during the season in the Don James Center, beginning Monday, Aug. 31. Every attempt will be made to have the opposing coach available via teleconference hookup prior to Lambright's comments. All members of the media are invited to attend these weekly conferences. The press conference can also be accessed by teleconference. Call the media relations office to acquire the phone number for the teleconference.

NCAA Guidelines and the Media

Media members should be aware of several NCAA rules that apply to student-athletes. If there is ever a question if any media-related activity or event including a Washington student-athlete could be a possible NCAA violation, contact sports information director Jim Daves for an interpretation. Areas of concern include:

- Coaches and University officials cannot make comments on prospective student-athletes until they sign a national letter of intent. A coach cannot comment on a prospective student-athlete who verbally commits to an institution.
- Coaches and athletic staff are not permitted to write guest columns for publications.
- Do not ask student-athletes to list or endorse products.
- Photographers cannot provide student-athletes with photographs or slides. The media relations office offers a similar service for student-athletes to purchase photographs.
- Student-athletes may not be used in advertisements or endorsements of products, including media-related publications.
- Student-athletes are not permitted to conduct interviews for 1-900 services.

THE HUSKY TRADITION

With four Pac-10 titles, three Rose Bowl appearances and a national championship, Washington has established itself as the preeminent college football program in the west during the decade of the '90s. The Huskies won Pac-10 championships outright in 1990 and 1991 and shared the crown in 1992 and 1995.

Washington's 69-24-1 record (.739) ranks 12th among Division IA programs and tops among Pac-10 schools. Washington's 48-15-1 league record since 1990 is also the best in the Pac-10.

Washington football is as popular as ever in the Pacific Northwest. Last season the Huskies averaged 73,589 fans per game to rank 16th in the nation in attendance. Washington's average home attendance was 7,774 more than the next highest Pac-10 program. With 67,000 season tickets, Washington has more season ticket holders than the Seattle Mariners, Seahawks and Sonics combined.

Husky players have received numerous awards so far in the '90s. Steve Emtman was named the Lombardi and Outland Trophy winner in 1991 and went on to be the top pick in the NFL draft. Four Huskies, Emtman, Mario Bailey, Lincoln Kennedy and Lawyer Milloy were unanimous All-America selections. A total of 12 Washington players have been named to at least one first-team All-America squad. Washington's 42 first-team all-Pac-10 selections is the most among any league school.

Greg Lewis, Steve Emtman (twice), Mario Bailey, Dave Hoffmann, Napoleon Kaufman and Jason Chorak have all earned Pac-10 player of the year honors this decade. Husky players have won the league's Morris Award four times on offense and three times on defense.

Teams from the NFL have drafted 51 Huskies since 1990, including six first-round picks. Last year the Huskies led all college teams with 10 draft selections. In 1995 Washington had six former quarterbacks on NFL rosters, the most of any college program.

The Huskies have also excelled academically. Twelve Washington players have received Academic All-America or regional Academic All-America honors this decade. Ed Cunningham was awarded an NCAA postgraduate scholarship in 1991 and Dave Janoski received one in 1996. Jim Nevelle received a National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete Award scholarship in 1993.

The Huskies enter the 1998 season ranked 17th among NCAA schools in total victories with 593. Washington's all-time winning percentage of .638 is the 13th best mark among active programs. Washington's success is not limited to the decade of the '90s. The Husky program has a rich history and it can be traced back to a strong founding father – a trait common to many of today's top college programs.

What would Michigan have been without Fielding Yost? Imagine Notre Dame if Knute Rockne had actually decided to pursue chemistry instead of the backfield shift. Where would USC be without Howard Jones? The list goes on.

It takes more than a legendary coach to foster success. Outstanding players, dramatic victories, a pinch of luck and the ability to overcome adversity, all fit into the formula.

The success of Washington's football program can be traced back to one man — Gil Dobie. In the history of sports, Dobie accomplished something at Washington that is truly astonishing. During his nine-year stint as the head coach, Dobie never lost a game. Three times opponents managed to tie the Sun Dodgers (as the Huskies were known at the time), but no team ever pinned a loss on one of Dobie's squads. Washington's teams of that era ran off a streak of 63 games without lasting defeat. That record still stands in the NCAA record books as the all-time unbeaten streak. It is hard to imagine it will ever be surpassed.

Dobie established a tradition that kept rolling for the next three decades. Between the time he headed up the program in 1908, until 1941, the Huskies produced a 194-68-18 record — a winning percentage of .725.

“70,000 screaming, yelling and stomping — that crowd was probably the biggest difference. The acoustics here are amazing, a huge factor. I’ve been around C-130 transports a lot, and this almost felt like I was on a runway.”

— Army defensive tackle Al Roberts on playing in Husky Stadium.

It took a World War to slow down Washington's success on the football field. From 1942 to 1956 the Huskies could only manage a 65-68-7 (.489) record and never won the Pacific Coast Conference Championship. Since 1957, only three men have directed Washington's football program. One is credited with reestablishing the Huskies as a West Coast power. One directed Washington to its first national championship. The third has been associated with the program for over 30 years as a player, assistant coach and head coach.

Winning is only one part of Washington's football tradition. There have been many colorful characters and eventful games played since the first contest on Nov. 28, 1889 at 2:30 in the afternoon before 400 spectators at the old Jackson Street Park.

By 1903 Washington had won its first Pacific Coast Championship and, the following season, the team began to draw the attention of the traditional football powers.

In a showdown with California, the best

West Coast team at the time, the Golden Bears made the suggestion to shorten the periods to make it easier on Washington. That thought only served to motivate the Huskies to a 6-6 tie. While not a victory, it served notice another school was ready to join the elite programs of the time. And it was Gil Dobie who put Washington there.

Prior to the 1920s, college football's top teams were principally located along the Eastern Seaboard. But it was during the roaring '20s that stars began to emerge in the nation's heartland and on the West Coast. Knute Rockne built Notre Dame into a national juggernaut. Red Grange was a sensation at Illinois and Stanford had a standout running back named Ernie Nevers. Washington was also producing its first superstar — George Wilson.

Without an outpouring of national attention, Wilson was selected to the same All-America backfield as Grange and Nevers in 1925. It was a sportswriter named Grantland Rice who took notice of Wilson and selected him to the same Collier's Magazine squad as the more-heralded players.

Wilson was the one who led Washington to a 22-0 victory against USC in the first meeting with the Trojans. He also guided the Huskies to Washington's first Rose Bowl appearance. And, it was Wilson who led Washington to a 13-0 win against Nevers and Stanford in 1925 before a record crowd of 35,000.

Wilson was the first in a long line of outstanding Washington players. Take a look at today's NFL rosters and you'll find only a handful of schools that have produced more professional players. Through the years, Washington's rosters have been littered with All-Americans, All-Coast performers and All-Pac-10 picks.

What do the names Warren Moon, Steve Pelluer, Hugh Millen, Chris Chandler and Cary Conklin have in common? They are all former Husky signal callers who went on to excel in the NFL.

Then there's the legends like Don Heinrich and Sonny Sixkiller — players who captivated an entire region of the country with their Saturday afternoon exploits. The list goes on and on.

Great games? Washington has played in plenty. There have been 25 bowl game appearances over the years, including 14 in Don James' 18-year tenure at Washington. The Huskies have made 13 showings in the “Grand Daddy of them all” — the Rose Bowl.

The 1960 affair in Pasadena is considered a major turning point in Washington's history. Resurrected under Jim Owens' supervision, Washington's “Purple Gang” won the league title and the unenviable task of facing sixth-ranked Husky All-American defensive lineman Steve Emtman won both the Outland Trophy and Lombardi Award in 1991 while leading the Huskies to a national title.

Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl. Considered underdogs, the Huskies pinned a 44-8 thrashing on the Badgers. That victory also signaled a switch from the Big Ten's dominance at the annual event.

A decade later an untested sophomore named Sixkiller guided Washington to a surprisingly easy 42-16 victory against Michigan State and went on to etch his name in the Huskies' record books and into the hearts of their fans.

Warren Moon was on hand when the Huskies did the impossible, rallying from a 27-14 deficit with 3:01 to play and Washington State on the doorstep of Washington's endzone to steal a victory in the always-exciting Apple Cup series.

Then, as a senior, Moon led Washington to its first Rose Bowl win in 14 years, again beating the Wolverines.

There was Steve Pelluer hitting eight consecutive passes to rally Washington from 14 points down in the fourth quarter to defeat Michigan 25-24 in 1983 at Husky Stadium. Husky fans will never forget the memorable 1985 Orange Bowl when Washington benefited from a penalty as a result of Oklahoma's Sooner Schooner Conestoga wagon appearing on the field prematurely. The Huskies turned the game around with 14 straight points and a 28-17 victory.

Fans on hand to see Washington's fired-up defense blank USC 31-0 in 1990 will always remember the fever pitch of Husky football that fateful Saturday afternoon in Seattle.

Then there is the entire 1991 season. That year Washington fielded one of the greatest teams in the history of West Coast football. The Huskies went 12-0 and were named national champions.

In 1992, the Huskies ran a winning streak to 22 games and established a school-record 17-game home winning streak in the process.

And consider this, Washington is one of just three teams to have reeled off consecutive winning seasons for the last 21 years. That type of consistent effort on the field has been a trademark of Husky teams.

Washington has appeared in a bowl game in 17 of its last 21 seasons. During that run the Huskies have appeared in the Rose Bowl six times, winning four of those contests.

In 1993, Jim Lambright became the man to continue Washington's winning tradition. He's been a part of the Huskies' winning legacy as an all-coast player, a renowned assistant coach for 24 years, and now as the head coach.

Washington football has another unique element — Husky Stadium. Where else in the country can you boat to a game and have your tailgate party near the shores of Union Bay. Fans can sit in a stadium seat and view Seattle's skyline, Lake Washington or Mt. Rainier.

With a capacity of 72,500, Husky Stadium is also one of the loudest arenas in the nation. Nearly 70 percent of the seats in the dual-deck structure are located between the endzones. Just how intimidating can it be for an opponent? An ESPN sideline crew registered crowd noise readings of 135 decibels during the 1992 Nebraska game.

Washington's football program has come a long way since its early playing days on the rocky confines of Denny Field. The Husky program is steeped in tradition and history, of colorful figures and courageous exploits. None of it has come easy. But thanks to the dedication of the young men who have donned a Washington uniform, Husky football has become a special part of America's favorite fall pastime.

Located on the shores of Lake Washington and in the shadow of Mt. Rainier, Husky Stadium is annually noted as the most scenic college football setting in the nation.

Winning in the '90s

Washington's 69-24-1 record in the 1990s is the best among Pac-10 schools.

Husky Traditions

Here's a look at some of the more interesting aspects of the University of Washington, its athletic history and the Huskies' proud football tradition.

APPLE CUP — The annual battle between Washington and cross-state rival Washington State is known as the Apple Cup. It's interesting to note that, unlike Lord Stanley's Cup, the Apple Cup is not actually a cup. For a look at the history of the series, see page 308 of this guide.

ADDRESSES — Believe it or not, there ARE addresses for Husky Stadium and Hec Edmundson Pavilion. While the University uses a box system for mailing, the exact addresses are: Husky Stadium — 3800 Montlake Boulevard NE & Hec Edmundson Pavilion — 3870 Montlake Boulevard NE.

ASTRO TURF — Washington became the first major college in the country to use AstroTurf as an outdoor surface, covering its stadium in the summer of 1968 when it replaced its old sod field with the new synthetic surface at a cost of $300,000. The advantages of the new surface were said to be a reduction in the number of injuries because of the uniformity of the surface and the fact that the turf would be unharmed by rain. The fifth AstroTurf surface was installed in Husky Stadium during the summer of 1995.

ATHLETIC DIRECTORS — Washington athletic director Barbara Hedges enters her eighth year of administrative service at Washington in 1998. Here is a list of Washington's athletic directors dating back to 1915:

1915-16	J. Arthur Younger
1917-18	Claude J. Hunt
1919-27	Darwin Meisnest
1927-32	Earl F. Campbell
1933-35	Charles Frankland
1936-42	Ray L. Eckmann
1933-43	Carl V. Kilgore
1942-43	Roland E. Belshaw
1943-45	Alvin M. Ulbrickson
1945-56	Harvey Cassill
1956-59	George Briggs
1960-68	Jim Owens
1969-75	Joe Kearney
1976-1990	Mike Lude
1991-present	Barbara Hedges

ATTENDANCE — With a capacity of 72,500, Husky Stadium ranks as one of the largest college football venues in the country. Last year Washington ranked 16th nationally in attendance with a total gate of 441,534 and an average of 73,589 per game. The largest crowd for a game at Husky Stadium was 76,125 that turned out for the Army game in 1995. The Huskies have over 67,000 season tickets sold for the 1998 season.

BAND DAY — Band Day is held annually at a Husky home football game. A number of high school bands from across the state participate in the activities. Each band is introduced and plays a tune during pre-game warmups. The high school bands then join the Husky Marching Band for the playing of the national anthem and a halftime show. Band Day is scheduled for the Utah State game this year on Oct. 10. Band Day was originated during the 1950 season by Walter C. Welke as a means of honoring six cities which had been loyal to the University and its activities. High school bands from those six cities joined the Huskies for their halftime performance.

BAND JAM—Husky fans can get a head start on the Husky Marching Band's halftime performance prior to the start of every home game. The Husky band puts on a "Band Jam" in Hec Edmundson Pavilion one and one half hours prior to kickoff.

BIG W — The Big W Alumni Club is a special interest group of the UW Alumni Association consisting of Husky letterwinners that have completed their athletic eligibility.

BISSELL — For 24 years the Husky Band program was under the guidance of Bill Bissell until he retired in June, 1993. He was responsible for the coordination and direction of all phases of the Husky band and rally squad programs, and the choreography of the colorful halftime shows at all Husky home games. As long as Bissell was leading the Husky Band, you could count on hearing a few renditions of "Louie, Louie" and "Tequila." He was also one of the great showmen among college band directors. Husky football fans watched Bissell's bands recreate the Mount St. Helens eruption, stage horse races and wear outrageous costumes. Bissell, along with former Husky cheerleader Rob Weller, are credited with creating "The Wave" (see The Wave).

BLANKET DRIVE — Part of the festivities at Washington's annual Homecoming Game is the Blanket Drive coordinated by the Big "W" Alumni Club. The event annually raises close to $20,000 and 10,000 blankets for St. Vincent de Paul Society. The UW Alumni Association has earned a silver award from the Council for Advancement and Support of Education for the outstanding public relations effort in promoting the drive.

BLANKET PARADE—Part of the annual homecoming activities at Husky Stadium is the Blanket Parade following the Husky Marching Band's halftime show. Former Husky letterwinners, are allowed onto the field to form a tunnel for the Huskies as they return to the field. Many letterwinners bring along their letter blankets for the activity.

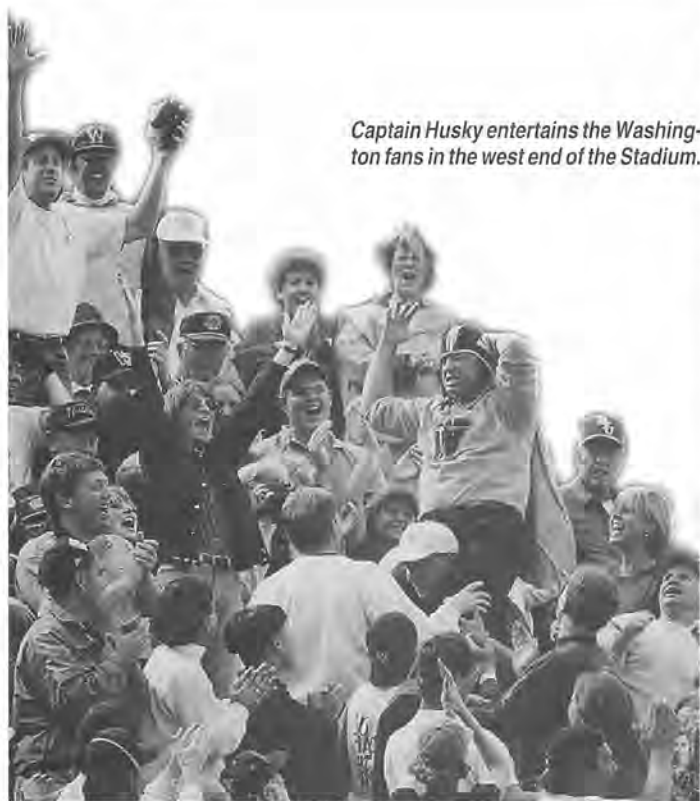

BOB ABEL — Although Washington lost its Husky Stadium dedication game to Dartmouth 28-7 on Nov. 27, 1920, Bob Abel holds the distinction of scoring the first touchdown in the new facility. He grabbed a blocked Dartmouth field goal attempt and raced 63 yards for the score.

BOW DOWN TO WASHINGTON — Washington's fight song 'Bow Down to Washington' was written by Lester Wilson in 1913. Following are the lyrics to the tune, which Husky students and alumni proudly sing at Husky sporting events.

Bow Down to Washington,
Bow Down to Washington,
Mighty Are the Men
Who Wear the Purple and the Gold,
Joyfully We Welcome Them
Within the Victors Fold.
We Will Carve Their Names
In the Hall of Fame
To Preserve the Memory of Our Devotion.
Heaven Help the Foes of Washington;
They're Trembling at the Feet
Of Mighty Washington,
The Boys Are There With Bells,
Their Fighting Blood Excels,
It's Harder to Push Them Over the Line
Than Pass the Dardanelles.
Victory the Cry of Washington...
Leather Lungs Together
With a Rah! Rah! Rah!
And O'er the Land
Our Loyal Band
Will Sing the Glory
Of Washington Forever.

The Apple Cup trophy goes to the winner of the season-ending game between the Huskies and Cougars.

BRUCE LEE — While Washington has many alumni who are famous for their athletic exploits, there are also some who have gained fame in the entertainment industry. Among them is martial arts legend and movie star Bruce Lee. The movie "Dragon", which chronicled Lee's life, premiered in Seattle during the spring of 1993.

CANADIANS — Vancouver native Jerome Pathon has the chance to leave a better mark on the Husky program than some of his countrymen did several years ago. In February 1992, engineering students from the University of British Columbia broke into the Graves Building trophy case after hours and removed the 1992 Rose Bowl trophy. After two days of confusion by UW officials and campus police, the trophy turned up north of the border at a party to celebrate the completion of the UBC engineering department's initiation week. The students completed the prank as a part of initiation procedures. The trophy was returned to the university soon after and is now located in a new trophy area in the lobby of the Graves Building. The new trophy case is considered to be "Canadian-proof."

THE CANDIDATE — In the race for postseason football honors, Lincoln Kennedy had timing on his side in 1992. Not only did the Husky All-American offensive tackle share the names of two former presidents, his senior season also came during a Presidential election year. His promotional slogan was, "Could there be a Better Candidate? Lincoln Kennedy for All-American."

Former Husky All-American offensive tackle Lincoln Kennedy at the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C.

CAPTAIN HUSKY — While King Redoubt roams the sidelines as Washington's official mascot, you don't have to go any further than the west (enclosed) endzone to find the Huskies' "unofficial" mascot — Captain Husky. Decked in a purple aviator cap, a full cape and loaded with plenty of props, Captain Husky keeps fans in the "Fun Zone" entertained and into the spirit of the game. In real life Captain Husky is Barry Erickson, who works in marketing in Seattle.

CENTENNIAL SQUAD — Washington celebrated 100 years of Husky football during the 1990 season. A Washington centennial team was selected by alumni, members of the media and long-time season ticket holders. Here is that team:

Offense

WR	Paul Skansi	'79-82
WR	Lonzell Hill	'83-86
OG	Max Starceovich	'34-36
OG	Chuck Allen	'58-59
OT	Vic Markov	'35-37
OT	Arnie Weinmeister	'42, 46-47
C	Blair Bush	'75-77
QB	Don Heinrich	'49-50, '52
RB	George Wilson	'23-25
RB	Hugh McElhenny	'49-51
RB	Joe Steele	'76-79
PK	Chuck Nelson	'80-82

Defense

DL	Paul Schwegler	'29-31
DL	Doug Martin	'76-79
DL	George Strugar	'55-56
DL	Ron Holmes	'82-84

LB	Michael Jackson	'75-78
LB	Joe Kelly	'83-85
DB	Nesby Glasgow	'75-78
DB	Ray Horton	'79-82
DB	Calvin Jones	'70-72
P	Rich Camarillo	'79-80

CHIEF JOSEPH — On November 20, 1903, Chief Joseph, the famous Nez Perce Indian, made his first visit to Seattle and attended the Washington-Nevada football game. Chief Joseph spent most of the game on the sidelines smoking a cigar. Asked his impressions of the game, which Washington won 2-0, he said, "I saw a lot of white men almost fight today. I do not think this good. This may be all right, but I believe it is not. I feel pleased that Washington won the game. Those men I should think would break their legs and arms, but they did not get mad. I had a good time at the game with my white friends."

CLASSES — Autumn quarter classes at the University of Washington begin Monday, September 29, 1997. The last day of instruction is Wednesday, December 10, with finals being conducted December 11-18.

THE COLLAPSE — No, this does not refer to a team blowing a lead or a late-season failure. The collapse remembered by most people associated with Washington athletics occurred February 25, 1987 during construction of the second deck of the north grandstand at Husky Stadium. The first partially completed section (only about 50 feet wide) toppled because of construction site errors, not stadium design, but no one was injured in the accident. The project, however, was still completed in time for the opening game of the 1987 season.

DAWG BITE — Dawg Bite, the final event of Homecoming Week, is a rain-proof tailgate party held in Hec Edmundson Pavilion prior to the football game. The pre-game Homecoming rally and foodfest, sponsored by the Alumni Association is complete with refreshments, entertainment and UW personalities. This year, Dawg Bite is scheduled for Oct. 24, prior to the Oregon State contest. Doors open 2 1/2 hours before kickoff.

DAWG DASH — The Dawg Dash Fun Run and Walk, now in its 13th year, kicks off Husky Homecoming Week. The 6k run winds through the University campus and ends in Hec Edmundson Pavilion. The race is sponsored by the Alumni Association. This year's race is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 18.

Denny Field was the original campus site for Husky football. The field still exists today on the Washington campus.

DAWG TAGS — Husky fans now can show their school spirit and help students by purchasing new University of Washington License Plates. The new plates feature the official "UW" and the new Husky logo. Of the $30 annual fee for every plate sold, $28 will go to the University of Washington student scholarship fund. For more information, contact your local Vehicle Licensing Agent.

DEDICATION GAME—Washington dedicated Husky Stadium on Nov. 27, 1920 against Dartmouth. The Green came away with a 28-7 victory. Interestingly, it marked the fifth time Dartmouth participated in a stadium dedication game.

DENNY FIELD — Washington's only other on-campus stadium site for football was Denny Field, located in the north section of campus near 45th street. Denny Field is occupied today by a grass field and tennis, volleyball and basketball courts for student use. The area is bordered by Hutchinson Hall to the south and dormitories to the north and east.

ENDOWMENT I — When Warren Moon returned to Husky Stadium on August 20, 1994, with the Minnesota Vikings to play against the Seattle Seahawks in a pre-season NFL game, the former Husky quarterback left a mark with the program that will be forever remembered and greatly appreciated. At halftime of the game, Moon presented Washington athletic director Barbara Hedges with a pledge of $150,000 for an endowed scholarship in his name to benefit the Washington football program. A Husky Hall of Fame member since 1984, Moon's next Hall of Fame stop may be in Canton, Ohio where the NFL honors its own all-time greats.

ENDOWMENT II — In 1992 a group of 10 former Washington football players pooled their resources to form the UW Professional Athlete Athletic Scholarship Team. The program is designed to provide UW academic scholarships for inner city high school students in the Seattle and Tacoma area through the University's Office of Minority Affairs. The players involved in the program were: Mario Bailey (Memphis, CFL); Chris Chandler (Houston Oilers); Ed Cunningham (Arizona Cardinals); Donald Jones and Charles Mincy (Minnesota Vikings); Siupeli Malamala (New York Jets); Le-Lo Lang (Buffalo Bills); Greg Lewis (retired); Jeff Pahukoa (Atlanta Falcons) and Aaron Pierce (New York Giants).

FIFTH QUARTER — The fifth quarter is a post-game gathering of contributors in the Hec-Edmundson Pavilion Addition. About 800 to 900 contributors gather for some post-game tailgating that includes the band, a raffle and comments from head coach Jim Lambright.

THE FIRST GAME — Washington won its first football game on December 17, 1892, beating the Seattle Athletic Club 14-0 at Madison Park. J. Harvard Darlington played quarterback, and Frank Atkins, the team's fullback, scored the first touchdown in school history on a five-yard run in the second quarter. Atkins was probably Washington's best all-around athlete. In addition to playing football, Atkins set a number of UW track and field records, including triple jump (41-10), pole vault (7-6 1/2) and high jump (5-1 1/2).

THE FIRST SELLOUT — Washington's first-ever sellout (21,500) at Husky Stadium came October 20, 1923 when the Huskies played Southern California for the first time. As a result of Husky fans snapping up all available tickets, the Seattle P-I's radio station, KFJC, arranged for the first radio broadcast of a UW game. Washington won the game 22-0 as George Wilson scored a touchdown and set up another with a 72-yard kick return.

FLAHERTY, GUY — Guy Flaherty began his football career at Washington and played every minute of every game during the 1906 and 1907 seasons. A severe case of boils on his arm prevented him from playing in all but the first and last game of the 1908 season. But even while too handicapped to play football, Flaherty turned out every day with the squad, and actually performed manager and assistant manager duties while unable to play. His willing service to Washington football was recognized by every member of the squad, thus a medal was named in his honor. Today the Guy Flaherty medal is awarded annually to the player voted "most inspirational" by his teammates, and is considered the top award given to a football player. The Flaherty Award is generally regarded as the first inspirational award offered in the country in intercollegiate athletics.

Gil Dobie never lost a game as the UW coach, posting a 58-0-3 record.

GENDER EQUITY — The Washington athletic department is one of the national leaders in achieving gender-equity for its student athletes. In December of 1997, The Chronicle of Higher Education cited Washington as "the only Division I-A institution with an undergraduate enrollment that was at least 50 percent female to have achieved substantial proportionality in both scholarships and participation."

GIL DOBIE — Legend has it that Gil Dobie, who coached the Huskies to a 58-0-3 record between 1908-1916, was one of the most tyrannical and pessimistic coaches to ever stalk a sideline. It seems everyone, except his players, had a dislike for Dobie's less-than-optimistic attitude. But to Dobie's credit, that pessimism was very calculated. Once, after one of his players had scampered 90 yards for a touchdown, Dobie told the would-be hero, "If you were any good at all you would do it more often."

GOODWIN — The first full-time football coach at Washington was W.B. Goodwin. He took on the task in 1892. Not only was he the first football coach at Washington, he was the first coach for any athletic team at the school. Goodwin was a member of the Eastern College Alumni team that faced Washington in its inaugural game in 1889.

GOVERNOR'S TROPHY — Before they battled for the Apple Cup, starting in 1962, players from Washington and Washington State played for a different trophy in the early years of the series. The Governor's Trophy was originally presented to the victorious team in the annual showdown. The trophy was initially presented by the state's governor — hence the name Governor's Trophy. Lost for decades, it turned up in the fall of 1995 in a Seattle memorabilia store. The owners had bought a scrap pile that was about to be melted down

HAIRBREATH HUSKY — When Seattle Post-Intelligencer artist Bob McCausland first began a Washington football cartoon in 1959, his main character didn't have a name, walked on all fours and looked a little ferocious. That soon changed as his main character, the skinny, upright Hairbreath Husky sporting a booster hat and a large letterman's jacket appeared each week during the football season for the next 22 years. The newspaper carried two Hairbreath cartoons weekly, one before and one after each game. Those cartoons were enjoyed by coaches, team members, fans and even opposing teams until 1981 when the P-I stopped carrying Hairbreath Husky. A collection including 240 of McCausland's best cartoon were published in a 1982 book entitled "Hairbreath Husky."

HALL OF FAME — While Washington does have a Husky Hall of Fame to salute its former student-athletes, a number of Huskies have been inducted into the State's Sports Hall of Fame. The Tacoma Athletic Commission established the State of Washington Sports Hall of Fame in the early 1960s. Membership plaques are displayed in the Tacoma Dome Shanaman Sports Museum. Here's a list of the Husky football players and coaches who have been inducted: Chuck Allen, Enoch Bagshaw, Herman Brix, Jimmie Cain, Chuck Carroll, Gil Dobie, Ray Frankowski, Don Heinrich, Don James, Ray Mansfield, Vic Markov, Hugh McElhenry, Warren Moon, Paul Schwegler and Jim Owens.

HEC EDMUNDSON PAVILION — Situated just north of Husky Stadium is Hec Edmundson Pavilion, built in 1927, just seven years after the completion of the stadium. The venerable fieldhouse is home to Husky men's and women's basketball, and features an indoor track, field event practice areas, batting cages, a gymnastics training room, weight room, racquet ball courts and the Husky Pool. Hec Edmundson Pavilion was host to the 1949 and 1952 Final Fours.

THE HELMETS — The Huskies wear an all-purple helmet with a gold Block W on both sides. Head coach Jim Lambright made the switch from gold to purple helmets for the 1995 season. He wore a plain purple helmet during his playing days at Washington in the early 1960's and felt that the purple helmets amplify the purple theme in Husky football.

HOMECOMING — Washington will play host to USC in this year's Homecoming game Nov. 8. The Huskies all-time Homecoming record stands at 36-32-3. For a complete review of the results of all of Washington's Homecoming games see page 293.

HOME FIELD — Washington's football teams have played at nine different sites in and around Seattle during the 105 years of Husky football before landing permanently in Husky Stadium. Those locations include: 1.) 14th and Jefferson; 2.) 18th and Jackson; 3.) at the old downtown campus where the Metropolitan Theater used to be; 4.) Downtown on Howell Street where the Manhattan Apartments used to be; 5.) In West Seattle; 6.) In Madison Park at the end of the old Madison Street street-car line; 7.) At a YMCA Park that used to be on Jefferson Street; 8.) At a former recreation park in north Seattle; 9.) At Denny Field on the UW campus. When the campus was downtown, the team's practice field was where the Four Seasons Olympic Hotel now stands.

THE HUB — The HUB, which stands for Husky Union Building, is Washington's student union. It is a social, cultural, recreational and service center for students and the University community with dining facilities, University Book Store branch, auditorium, bank branch, ticket office, offices for student organizations, barber shop, meeting rooms, lounges, microcomputer laboratory, ballroom and game rooms.

HUSKIES — The University officially accepted the nickname Huskies for its athletic teams on Feb. 3, 1922. The announcement was made at halftime of the Washington-Washington State basketball game. The nickname was selected by a joint committee of students, coaches, faculty, alumni and businessmen. The old name of "Sun Dodgers" was found unsuited when it met with disapproval of fans and students alike. The name "Huskies" was presented at halftime by football captain-elect Robert Ingram. When Ingram made his speech, large white placards were hoisted in the rooster's section occupied by varsity letterwinners displaying the slogans "The Husky stands for-fight and tenacity-character and courage-endurance and willingness." Other suggested nicknames were Wolves, Malamutes, Tyees, Vikings, Northmen and Olympics. (Also see Vikings and Sun Dodgers)

HUSKIES-COUGARS — It's hard to believe, but there are six known players who suited up for both Washington and Washington State. Call them Couskies. The six — Jay Stoves, Bill Ward, Tag Christensen, Verne Oliver, Wally Kramer, and Al Akins — all began their college careers at Washington State. During World War II the Navy and Marines transferred their new enlistees to Washington for the equivalent of officer candidate training. Washington State's football program, already depleted by military call-ups, was suspended until 1945. Those events saw those six playing for the Huskies in 1943, after donning the Crimson and Gray of WSU the previous season. Washington went on to the Rose Bowl that season with Akins starting in the backfield, but lost to USC 29-0. Akins did not play football at WSU, but letter on the Cougar basketball team in 1941 and '42. Two other Cougars, Hjalmer "Jelly" Anderson, and Jim Thompson, lettered in 1942 for WSU and became Huskies after the war. Anderson lettered for UW in '46 and '47 and Thompson in '46.

HUSKY FEVER — Have you ever been grocery shopping and wondered why Husky Fever logos are displayed on the shelves next to items? The signs indicate that portions of the sales from that product go to support Husky athletics. Started in 1977 in a hopes to increase attendance at Husky Stadium, retailers, food industry manufacturers, and food brokers pledge a portion of their case sales to the Husky Fever Committee which supports Husky athletics. Husky Fever now focuses its attention to scholarship endowments and has been labeled by Sports Illustrated as the most innovative and refreshing promotional idea of its time.

Washington played its home games at nine different sites before Husky Stadium was built in 1920.

The Husky Spirit statue is located on the plaza between Husky Stadium and Hec Edmundson Pavilion.

HUSKY SPIRIT — A life-size bronze statue of a Husky dog named "Husky Spirit" was dedicated on the plaza between Husky Stadium and Hec Edmundson Pavilion in 1996. The statue is a gift to the University from the Big "W" Alumni Club. The statue was sculpted by UW alumna Georgia Gerger, who is well known as the creator of the Pike Place Market Pig.

KING REDOUBT — King Redoubt is the eighth Alaskan Malamute to have served as the Husky mascot. He leads the team out of the tunnel before every home game and wanders the sidelines during the contest accompanied by trainer Kim Cross and several of his children, who act as handlers. The previous mascots were Frosty I (1922-29), Frosty II (1930-36), Wasky (1946), Wasky II (1947-53), Ski (1954-57), Denali (1958), King Chinook (1959-68), Regent Denali (1969-80) and Sundodger (1981-91). The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity acquired the first dog, Frosty I, and acted as its handlers. In 1959 Harry Cross, a professor of law at the University, took over the dog handler duties with King Chinook. Chinook's first appearance was the Idaho game that season. Cross' son, Kim, watched the dog on the sidelines.

KOMO — KOMO AM 1000, "Your Husky Station" is the flagship of the Husky Radio Network, providing live broadcasts of every Husky football game, home and away. Play-by-play announcer Bob Rondeau is joined by color analyst Chuck Nelson and sideline reporter Bill Swartz in the station's award-winning coverage of Husky football. Rondeau also handles play-by-play for all Husky men's basketball games on KOMO, while Swartz calls the action on KEZX-AM's coverage of the women's basketball games.

LEGENDS PROGRAM — In 1995 Myles Corrigan, Washington's director of football operations, began the Husky Legends program. The program was designed to recognize and honor all of the athletes who have attended Washington. A cookout is held in the spring for members of the Legends program in conjunction with Washington's annual Spring Fling.

THE LOGO — In 1995, Washington's logo depiction of its Husky mascot was redesigned. The new version of the Husky was drawn by Michael G. Reagan using an Alaskan Malamute named Turbo Carrera as the model for the new image. The new version of the Husky shows a three-quarter profile of the mascot in a pose that is more majestic and regal than the previous version.

LOU GELLERMANN — The public address voice at Husky Stadium since 1985 has belonged to Lou Gellermann, a 1958 UW graduate. Gellermann, whose trademark "Hello Dawg Fans" introduction echoes throughout Husky Stadium each gameday during the fall, was a four-year rower at Washington, and is a member of the Husky Hall of Fame as a part of the 1958 crew which rowed against the Soviets in Moscow.

LOUD — With nearly 70 percent of the 72,500 seats located between the end zones, Husky Stadium can be one of the loudest gridirons in the nation. How loud? During the 1992 Nebraska game, ESPN's sideline crew recorded a decibel reading of 135 during the course of the action.

LUCKY DAWGS — In 1996, members of the Husky football team began the Lucky Dawg program. The program allows youngsters who have been outpatients at Seattle's Children's Hospital or the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center to join the Husky team captains for the pregame coin toss at all home games.

THE MOAT — Athletic teams take great pride in protecting their home turf, so what would be better to symbolize that sense of battle in the Huskies' fortress than a moat? The Husky Stadium moat, however, is not constructed outside the stadium to ward off intruders, but inside to catch water runoff. The moat, surrounding three quarters of the stadium between the seats and the running track, was part of the original construction of the stadium in 1920, and was designed to help drain what amounts to 36,000 gallons of water from one inch of rainfall in the massive stadium. Though not designed to capture enemy personnel, the moat did claim one victim in 1992 — the Stanford Cardinal tree, which fell in while cavorting prior to the UW-Stanford matchup on Halloween.

MONTLAKE BRIDGE — A popular vantage point for viewing the Windermere Cup/Opening Day crew races, the Montlake Bridge spans the Lake Washington Ship Canal, known as the Montlake Cut, just south of Husky Stadium. The drawbridge opens frequently during boating season, allowing boat travel between Lake Washington and Portage Bay, causing traffic backups on Montlake Boulevard.

MOLDREM — Long-time Seattle artist Stu Moldrem has been providing cartoon drawings for the Washington football program since the 1950s. Every week Moldrem's artwork portrays a Husky senior and some interesting facts about their playing career.

MT. RAINIER — The tallest mountain in the state of Washington, Mt. Rainier, rises to 14,410 feet in elevation, and is visible from the UW campus on a clear day. It is located approximately 90 miles southeast of downtown Seattle. The view from Red Square toward Drumheller Fountain offers a stunning glimpse of the mountain, looking down Rainier Vista. Popular for its many hiking trails, the mountain has also been scaled by former Husky Head Coach Don James, who climbed to the top in 1983.

MT. EVEREST — A little bit of Washington has been to the top of the world, literally. On May 14, 1995, Paul Pfau temporarily raised a Washington flag while at the summit of Mt. Everest. A UW alumni, Pfau was the leader for the 1995 American Mount Everest Expedition.

NATIONAL CHAMPS — Know this first, teams do not win a Division I national championship in football. Teams are voted national champions by a myriad of organizations. Most fans recognize the 1991 season as Washington's first claim to a national title. The Huskies were voted number one in the final CNN/USA Today coaches' poll in addition to several other publications. But, did you know there are two other seasons when the Huskies received the top nod at the end of the year? In 1984, fresh off a win against Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl, The Football News picked the Dawgs over Brigham Young as national champions. In 1960 the Helms Foundation declared Washington its national champion AFTER the Huskies defeated top-ranked Minnesota in the Rose Bowl. At the time, the Helms Foundation was the only organization to select its national champ AFTER the bowl game.

NFL DRAFT — NFL teams have continued to find former Washington players very attractive in the annual college draft, selecting 50 Huskies in the past eight years and signing many more as free agents. Washington had 11 players selected in the 1992 draft, tying the previous high set in 1983. According to this summer's NFL pre-camp rosters, Washington had 39 players in the league.

NICHOLS — Ralph Nichols was probably the first gridiron star at Washington. In 1893 he led the "Purple and Gold" in its first intercollegiate game against Stanford. The Indians won handily 40-0. Still, Nichols was impressive enough to catch the eye of Stanford's student manager who offered him a "free ride" if he would consider transferring to the Palo Alto school. That Stanford student manager turned out to be Herbert Hoover, who went on to become the 31st President of the country. Nichols captained the team in 1894 and went on to serve as coach in 1895.

NIGHT GAMES — Washington will play only the third night game in the history of Husky Stadium in 1998. The Huskies matchup with Arizona will kickoff at 7 p.m. and be televised to a national cable television audience by Fox Sports Net. The Huskies previous night games came against Oklahoma State (1985) and Nebraska (1992).

NORTHWEST RIVALS — Since Washington began intercollegiate play in 1889, some of its biggest rivals have been Northwest foes Washington State, Oregon State and Oregon. The Huskies hold an all-time record of 164-83-15 in contests with those schools, maintaining an edge for Northwest bragging rights.

NO. 1 MATCHUPS — Since the Associated Press began its national collegiate football poll in 1936, Washington has faced the top-ranked team on six occasions. Here are the results of those contests:

November 6, 1937	at California	T	0-0
December 2, 1939	at Southern Cal	L	7-9
October 21, 1967	Southern Cal	L	6-23
October 19, 1968	at Southern Cal	L	7-14
October 4, 1969	Ohio State	L	14-41
October 21, 1972	at Southern Cal	L	7-34

In addition to playing against six top ranked teams, Washington has entered 15 games as the top-ranked team itself. Here are the results of those games, in which the Huskies are 13-2:

September 18, 1982	at Arizona	W	23-13
September 25, 1982	Oregon	W	37-21
October 2, 1982	San Diego St.	W	46-25
October 9, 1982	California	W	50-7
October 16, 1982	at Oregon State	W	34-17
October 23, 1982	Texas Tech	W	10-3
October 20, 1984	Oregon	W	17-10
October 27, 1984	Arizona	W	28-12
November 3, 1984	California	W	44-14
November 10, 1984	at Southern Cal	L	7-16
October 3, 1992	Southern Cal	W	17-10
October 10, 1992	California	W	35-16
October 17, 1992	at Oregon	W	24-3
October 24, 1992	Pacific	W	31-7
November 7, 1992	at Arizona	L	3-16

NO. 1 — During the 1982 season, the Husky football team was the first Washington intercollegiate athletic team to be ranked No. 1 in a major sport poll. The Husky softball team joined that elite group in 1996 following a doubleheader victory against top-ranked Arizona. That year the Huskies held the top ranking until they lost to Arizona in the finals of the NCAA championships.

OKTOBERFEST — Oktoberfest, a German festival, is held prior to a Husky home football game in Hec Edmundson Pavilion each season. Sponsored by the Young Alumni Club, it has become a Husky pre-game tradition. The 18th annual Oktoberfest celebration is scheduled for Oct. 3, prior to the Arizona contest.

PEGGY WATSON — Interviews with head coach Jim Lambright can be made through the sports information office or scheduled with Peggy Watson in the football office at (206) 543-2223.

THE PENALTY — Early in the fourth quarter of the 1985 Orange Bowl, Washington was involved in one of the strangest spectacles in college football history. After Tim Lashar kicked a 22-yard field goal to give Oklahoma a 17-14 lead, a penalty was called on the Sooners which nullified the score. The penalty was on Oklahoma's mascot, the Sooner Schooner, a Conestoga wagon powered by two tiny ponies.

The Sooner Schooner's driver, Rex Harris, apparently did not see the flag and charged on the field for a brief celebration. The officials promptly called a 15-yard unsportsmanlike conduct penalty on the Sooner Schooner and tacked it on the other penalty. The 20-yard setback made Lashar's next attempt a 42-yarder, which was blocked by Washington's Tim Peoples. Inspired by the momentum swing, Washington went on to score two touchdowns in less than 60 seconds around the five-minute mark, and won the game, 28-17.

PHOTOGRAPHERS — Bruce Terami and Joanie Komura have become just as much a fixture to Husky football as anyone else in the athletic department, combining for 46 years of service by taking photographs at Husky football games and other Husky sporting events. Terami started shooting for the athletic department in 1967 at Husky football games. Komura started shooting pictures for the media relations office 15 years ago, added men's soccer to her agenda in 1986 and has since expanded to covering all Husky sporting events. Ethan Janson, a grad student working on his degree in dentistry, is the youngster in the photo corps as he enters his fifth year of shooting the Huskies in 1998.

PICTURE DAY — Husky fans have an opportunity to meet the players, get autographs and take pictures at the annual Picture Day. This year's event is scheduled for Saturday, August 15 at Husky Stadium. Media are welcome, but this event is primarily intended as an opportunity for the fans to meet their favorite players. The event usually attracts several thousand fans.

PMS COLORS — The PMS numbers for the Huskies' colors are 124 (gold) and 267 (purple). Among Division I institutions, only East Carolina and Louisiana State University have the same specific color combination.

POLLS — Here's a look at some of the breakdowns when Washington plays a ranked opponent, or the Huskies are nationally ranked going into a contest. All results are compiled using the Associated Press weekly college football rankings.

UW's record while being ranked: 181-70-5 (.717)
 UW's record against ranked teams: 63-102-7 (.387)
 UW's record against top-10 teams: 18-58-3 (.247)
 UW's record against number 1 teams: 0-5-1 (.083)
 Jim Lambright's record while being ranked: 34-18-1 (.651)
 Jim Lambright's record against ranked teams: 9-12-1 (.432)

POPULATION — In 1993 Seattle boasted a population of 527,700. King County listed a population base of 1,587,700. The neighboring counties of Pierce and Snohomish had a combined population of 1,148,600.

PRESS BOX — The Husky Stadium press box is suspended from the roof of the south upper deck, making it susceptible to the shaking and rumbling caused by cheering fans in the seats below. Television replays of exciting plays in the stadium often display this shaking through unsteady camera shots. First-time visitors to the press box are warned to be prepared for any weather condition. It is also a good idea to bring a pair of binoculars.

PRESS CONFERENCES — Jim Lambright will hold his weekly press conference every Monday around during the 1998 season. Teleconference participation can also be arranged by calling the UW Media Relations Office at (206) 543-2230. An attempt will also be made to arrange a teleconference with the visiting coach. A buffet lunch will be served and several Husky players will be available following Lambright's comments.

PURPLE AND GOLD — Washington's school colors, Purple and Gold, were adopted in 1892 by vote of a student assembly on the original downtown Seattle campus. One patriotic group favored Red, White and Blue as the University's colors, reasoning that "since the school was named after the father of our country, our national colors should be the school's colors." The opposing faction argued that national colors should not be degraded for such everyday use. The debate was ended when a young English instructor, Miss Frazier, stood and read the following excerpt from Lord Byron's "Destruction of Sennacherib."

"The Assyrian come down like the wolf on the fold,
And his cohorts were gleaming in purple and gold;
And the sheen of their spears was like stars on the sea,
And the blue wave rolls nightly on deep Galilee."

THE PURPLE GANG — There was no series of teams in Washington's first century of football that was more permanently fixed in Husky football lore than the Purple Gang that Jim Owens unleashed on the Pacific slope in 1959 and 1960. Led by a one-eyed quarterback, Bob Schloredt, and a defense that was strictly for "Adults Only," the Purple Gang became Washington's first back-to-back Rose Bowl champions and sparked a renaissance in West Coast football that lasts until the present day. The two teams combined for a 20-2 record. The 1959 team became the only entire football team inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1994. Individuals inducted before then were Schloredt, Roy McKasson, George Fleming and Don McKeta.

RAIN — Sorry to destroy the myth, but Seattle is far from being the rain capital of the nation. While Seattle does experience frequent showers, its total annual rainfall ranks only 44th in the United States, at about 36 inches. Compare that with Alaska's Capital City, Juneau, which receives 120 inches a year, or Ketchikan, Ak., which soaks up 169 inches in an average year. But, Seattle will claim the title of being the home of Grunge Rock, Starbucks, Microsoft, Boeing ...

REAGAN, MICHAEL — Michael Reagan has been a fixture on the Washington athletic scene for his artistic contributions. He is the University's director of design, graphic services and forms management. His previous works have included prints commemorating Washington's Pac-10 championships, former head coach Don James and the centennial poster celebrating 100 years of Husky football. Reagan has done numerous pieces of art for professional sports teams and individual players. His artistic contributions to charity events have accounted for thousands of dollars in support.

RECORD DAY — On November 25, 1950, Washington's Hugh McElhenny and Don Heinrich had a record day during a 52-21 victory over Washington State. McElhenny romped for an all-time school record 296 yards and scored a modern-day record five touchdowns. Heinrich set a then national completion record with his 134th of the season. How Heinrich's record came about constitutes an intriguing piece of Husky lore. With Heinrich one completion away from breaking the record, Washington State had the ball with time running out. So the Huskies decided to let the Cougars score so Washington could get the ball and give it to Heinrich. On the next play, WSU's Dick Gambold tossed a 21-yard touchdown while Husky defensive back Dick Sprague did nothing to stop it. On the subsequent Washington series, Heinrich completed a pass to get the record and moments later McElhenny got loose for an 84-yard touchdown run to break the then single-season conference record of 1,010 rushing yards.

RED SQUARE — The well-traveled Central Plaza of the University is known on campus as Red Square because of its red brick paving. The site of the annual homecoming pep rally, Red Square borders the Administration Building, Suzzallo Library, Odegaard Undergraduate Library, Kane Hall and Meany Hall. The red brick expanse forms the roof of a 1,000-car underground parking garage built in 1971.

RICK HUEGLI — Washington's strength program is one of the tops in the country, largely because of the work of Rick Huegli. Huegli, the UW strength coach, was honored in 1992 as Strength Coach of the Year by the National Strength and Conditioning Association. Along with assistants Bill Gillespie and Keili Phelan, Huegli is responsible for coordinating the conditioning and strength programs not only for the football team, but for the rest of the athletes in Washington's 23 intercollegiate sports.

THE ROUT — Enjoying a 30-pound weight advantage per man, Washington recorded its biggest win in school history on October 25, 1919 with a 120-0 drubbing of Whitman before 5,000 spectators at Denny Field. Washington sprinted to a school record 19 touchdowns, seven of which were scored by halfback Ervin Dailey. On his TDs alone, Dailey amassed 350 yards rushing, which would have been a school record if official statistics had been kept. The game featured one notable amusement: In the second half, Washington's Gus Pope somehow tore a huge hole in his pants and the rout had to be put on hold while trainer Hec Edmundson hurried on the field to stitch the tackle's trousers back together.

SENIOR SALUTE — Washington annually salutes its senior class at the final home game of the season. The Huskies take the field first and form a tunnel for the seniors to run into Husky Stadium for the last time.

THE SNEAKERS GAME — After the 1932 season, Washington coach Jimmy Phelan accepted a challenge by the West Seattle Athletic Club Yellow Jackets, an assortment of former collegians and semi-pros, to play a "City Championship" game for charity. The day before the game, Phelan noticed during a workout, that freezing temperatures had turned the field practically into an ice rink. Phelan quickly purchased three dozen tennis shoes for his players to wear the next day. With the Yellowjackets slip-sliding all over, Washington scored touchdowns in bunches. In an attempt to keep their feet beneath them, all but three West Seattle players were playing without shoes on the frozen ground. It didn't help as Washington won 66-0.

SONNY SIXKILLER — The popularity of former Husky All-America quarterback Sonny Sixkiller was so great that a local radio disc jockey wrote a song called "The Ballad of Sonny Sixkiller" that remained on the charts in Seattle for weeks in 1971. A sampling of the lyrics follows:

He was born one morning 'neath the sun and the heat.
The proud grandson of an Indian chief.
The Cherokee tribe from which he came
Was the first to learn of his famous name.
Sonny Sixkiller.
He grew up strong into a proud young man.
Determined breed, he left his land.
Put down his arrows, hung up his shield.
And became a warrior on the football field.
Sonny Sixkiller.

Thunder Tummy Records (BMI)

SPORTS ILLUSTRATED — Two players in Husky history have been honored with an appearance on the cover of Sports Illustrated while at Washington: quarterbacks Sonny Sixkiller and Bob Schloredt. Sixkiller graced the cover October 4, 1971 during his junior year, while Schloredt appeared as a senior October 3, 1960.

SPRING GAME — The Purple & White Game, the annual scrimmage that signals a close to the spring practice season, is scheduled for April 26 in 1999.

THE STREAK — Washington has its place etched in the college record books in one category that may never be overtaken. From the last game of the 1907 season, until the 1917 campaign, Washington never lost a game during a 63-game stretch, winning 59 and recording four ties. The Sun Dodgers, as they were known at the time, tied Idaho 0-0 in the final game of 1907 and did not taste defeat until California toppled Washington 27-0 in 1917. During that run, Washington also pieced together a 39-game winning streak, the second longest in NCAA history.

STUDENT-ATHLETE SERVICES — The term student-athlete is taken seriously at Washington. To lend the necessary support for its student-athletes, Washington offers the Student-Athlete Services department. Located in the Conibear Shellhouse, Student-Athlete Academic Services has an annual budget of over $600,000. Student-Athlete Services offers one-on-one tutoring, group study tables, computer stations and self-help courses. A large full-time and tutorial staff offer a full range of academic support.

SUN DODGERS — Washington's teams were called Sun Dodgers starting in November of 1919. The nickname originated when a college magazine of the same name was banned from campus and, in protest, students adopted the name for their teams. But the Sun Dodgers did not do much for the Northwest's image, so a committee set out in 1921 to pick a new nickname. The decision came down to Malamutes and Huskies. The committee felt those were appropriate because of Seattle's nearness to the Alaskan frontier. The Husky was voted the most appropriate. (See Huskies and Vikings)

SUNNY BOY — Before the 1920's, Washington's football mascot was a three-and-a-half foot wooden statue named Sunny Boy, a sculptured replica of the happy-faced character, Sunny, who appeared in the University's humor magazine Sun Dodger. Maurice S. Holcomb, the artist who conceived Sunny, said the statue was meant to be a symbol of "Joe College" - books under one arm, a football under the other. But when Washington changed its mascot in 1923, Sunny Boy disappeared and was not discovered until 23 years later in South Bend, Ind. The statue had been removed from the trophy room of a university fraternity house as a prank and shipped to South Bend by the prankster to keep it in hiding. It was returned in 1948 and presented to UW officials at the Notre Dame game and has resided ever since at the UW Alumni Association. However, Sunny Boy was abducted again in the spring of 1994 in what was believed to be a fraternity prank. He was found a couple of days later in Issaquah and once again is back at the Alumni Association.

TAILGATING, HUSKY STYLE — While Husky Stadium fans enjoy the event of tailgating like those at other stadiums, the fans at Washington add a unique element not found elsewhere — tailgating by boat. The stadium's location on the shores of Lake Washington makes it easily accessible by boat from all over the Seattle area, and encourages many fans to use the water to travel to and from games. Members of the Husky crew team ferry fans to and from the shore to catch the action, or a ride home.

TARZAN — Sure, Johnny Weismuller made the role famous, but did you know a Husky was one of the actors who played the famous ape-man? Herman Brix, an outstanding Washington tackle, played Tarzan in the movies during the 1920s. He appeared in a total of 75 movies during his acting career including "Treasure of Sierra Madre" with Humphrey Bogart. Brix was also an outstanding track athlete at Washington, winning the national shot put title in 1927, later setting a world record in the event and eventually earning a silver medal at the 1928 Olympic Games.

TEAM ROOM — After each Husky home game, Coach Jim Lambright will meet with his players in the team room, located midway up the tunnel that leads into Husky Stadium. He addresses the media in the same area once the team has cleared the room. Members of the UW Media Relations staff will be available to bring requested Husky players to the team room.

THIRD QUARTER SALUTE — The 1997 season will mark the third consecutive year Washington has recognized its past football heroes during an in-game ceremony. At the break between the third and fourth quarters a former Husky "legend" is reintroduced to the crowd at Husky Stadium.

TICKETS — Tickets for Washington's 1998 home games are $30. For information on Husky tickets, call the UW Ticket Office at 206-543-2200.

THE TOTEM — At one time a totem stood proudly in Husky Stadium at the top of the west endzone stands where the current scoreboard is located. The totem, appropriately named "Tyee," was designed by then assistant superintendent of building and grounds, C. Ken Weidner. The totem, dedicated in 1938, was a composite of totem symbols to represent the spirit of the Husky and Washington. Each part of the totem had a significance of its own. The disks on the hat showed rank and prestige, and the three rings adorning "Tyee" represented the three football championships won by Washington in 1916, 1925 and 1937. An additional disk was to be added for each time the Huskies won the Pacific Coast Conference championship. Chief Lobehan of the Muckleshoot Tribe was on hand for the dedication during halftime of the Idaho game.

"TOUCHDOWN WASHINGTON" — When the Huskies find the endzone Washington fans know exactly what they'll hear if they are listening to the radio broadcast of the game on KOMO AM-1000. Veteran announcer Bob Rondeau's signature call of "Touchdown Washington" has become so popular it is considered part of the culture of Husky football.

THE TUNNEL — The tunnel in Husky Stadium's northwest corner leads to the home and visitors' lockerroom. The Huskies' team assembly room is located halfway up the tunnel. That area also serves as the postgame media interview room. A colorful display of Washington's bowl heritage is displayed at the top of the tunnel near the Husky lockerroom.

THE TURNAROUND — Washington is believed to hold the record for the greatest collegiate comeback of all-time—only this comeback took a year to make. In 1973, the Oregon Ducks held the Huskies offense to 102 total yards, intercepted six passes, and recovered three Husky fumbles en route to a lopsided 58-0 victory in Eugene. The following year, Washington exacted its revenge by rolling up 508 total yards and scoring a school record nine touchdowns while holding the Ducks to only 55 total yards in a 66-0 landslide victory at Husky Stadium. Not only are the 66 points a modern school record, but the swing of 124 total points is believed to be the largest in consecutive games of a series by any team.

U-DUB — Written often as UW or U of W, the most common way for Washingtonians to refer to the University of Washington is 'U-Dub' or, even simpler, just 'The U.'

UNIFORMS — Washington's home uniform features purple jerseys, gold pants, white shoes and purple helmets with a gold W and purple face mask. The road uniform features white jerseys and purple pants with the same helmet and shoe combination. The purple pants were introduced in 1989, ironically for a home game, worn with the purple jerseys. The Huskies faced Colorado with all-purple uniforms and lost 45-28. The combination was not used again, but the team continued to wear purple pants on the road with white jerseys, replacing the gold pants.

VANNA WHITE — Wheel of Fortune co-host Vanna White was on hand for the 1995 Army game at Husky Stadium as part of a promotion for a series of the shows' episodes taped in Seattle. White helped out with the coin toss and led the crowd of over 76,000 in a taping of the opening for the show.

VIKINGS — The Washington Vikings? Believe it or not, for a very short period in 1922, Washington's athletic teams were nicknamed the Vikings. The name came about when students were suggesting a change from the nickname "Sun Dodgers" that had been in existence since November of 1919. While no progress was being made on the name change, athletic officials adopted Vikings during the semester break in December of 1921. When the students returned to campus, they immediately protested the name change. By February of 1922 the name Huskies was adopted. (See Huskies and Sun Dodgers)

WASHINGTON FIELD — In March of 1920, as construction was being completed on the new football stadium, a judging committee held a contest to name the arena. The winning entry of "Washington Field" was submitted by Harold M. Sheerer, a plant engineer of Shipping Board at Seattle. Sheerer, who graduated from Washington in 1909, was awarded a $100 prize. His entry was selected among the 2,500 submissions. The other finalists were Crater and Cascadium. According to a story in the March 28 edition of the Seattle Times, "the committee preferred Washington Field in preference to Crater and Cascadium because it considered it a name which would be more easily known and understood throughout the United States."

WASHINGTON WARM-UPS — When the Huskies hit the road, their fans always follow with great support and the Alumni Association sponsors pre-game rallies called Washington Warm-Ups at all Husky away games. The tailgating includes refreshments, entertainment and an opportunity to gather with numerous Husky fans.

THE WAVE — Despite claims by others, the Wave can trace its origin back to Husky Stadium. It was October 31, 1981 when former cheerleader Rob Weller (yes, the same Rob Weller who once co-hosted Entertainment Tonight) was back on the sidelines and instructed the Washington crowd to start in one section and make a human wave that rolled around Husky Stadium. The original Wave saw Husky fans remain standing until the a full circle was completed in the stadium. Weller's original idea — working with former Husky band director Bill Bissell — was to have the crowd stand rapidly from the lowest seats to the highest. But they could not effectively coordinate the attempts. The Wave is believed to have started in the third quarter as the Huskies reeled off 28 points en route to a 42-31 win over the John Elway led Stanford team.

WELKE, WALTER — Before Bill Bissell's name was synonymous with the Husky Band, Walter Welke established himself as the Father of the Washington band. Up until Welke took over as band director in 1929, the ROTC band performed at football games. Welke inherited a unit of 26 persons and increased that number to 120 by 1941, before the war decreased the number of members and forced him to rebuild again. The 1956 season marked the last year Welke was at the helm, but he established a foundation that has made Washington's band one of the best for many years to follow. Bill Cole took over as director of the band starting in the 1957 season.

WIN STREAK — A lesser-known fact about Washington's football history is the 39-game winning streak coach Gil Dobie's teams compiled from 1908-1914. The Sun Dodgers, as they were known at the time, outscored their opponents 1,331 to 73. That is an average of 34-2. Washington managed 26 shutouts during the streak and even kept Oregon State off the scoreboard when the Beavers managed a 0-0 tie to end Washington's run. The streak broke the previous mark set by Yale from 1890-93 and stood until Oklahoma reeled off 47 straight wins from 1953-57.

KOMO Network

Washington's football games are broadcast live over radio station KOMO, AM-1000, part of the Athletic Department's multi-million dollar radio package. KOMO's radio network includes stations throughout the state of Washington and in Alaska and Oregon.

The KOMO radio broadcast team is a veteran, respected group of three individuals. Bob Rondeau, a well-known KOMO sports reporter, provides the play-by-play description of all Husky games, with former All-American Husky place kicker Chuck Nelson providing analysis and color commentary. Sideline reports are provided by KOMO radio's witty sports director, Bill Swartz.

The term "rebuilding" has not been used much around the Husky football program during the decade of the '90s. This year it could be an understatement.

Gone from last season's 8-4 team that defeated Michigan State 51-23 in the Jeep Aloha Bowl are 28 lettermen (15 offense, 11 defense and 1 kicker), including six starters on offense and five on defense. That group includes seven first-team all-Pac-10 players and a second-team selection. Ten players were drafted by NFL squads and two others signed free agent contracts. The 11 starting seniors combined to start 264 games during their careers.

There are impact players on both offense and defense who need to be replaced. Gone are All-American offensive linemen Benji Olson (guard) and Olin Kreutz (center), who opted to declare for the NFL draft a year early. Also missing from the offensive line is tight end Cameron Cleeland, who finished his UW career fifth on the all-time tight end receiving list with 50 receptions.

Tailback Rashaan Shehee, who averaged 6.2 yards per carry on 139 rushes in eight games, is also absent. Shehee rushed for 2,150 yards during his career and was an excellent receiver with 44 receptions. The losses at skill positions also include All-American split end Jerome Pathon, who set the UW single-season receiving record with 1,245 yards in 1997. Flanker Fred Coleman, while overshadowed by Pathon's lofty numbers, finished his career with the eighth most receptions (97) by a Husky player.

On defense the Huskies have to find replacements for outside linebacker Jerry Jensen (86 tackles) and Jason Chorak. Chorak racked up 59.5 tackles for loss (UW career leader) and 25.5 sacks during his career. Also gone is free safety Tony Parrish, who led the team with four interceptions in 1997, defensive end Chris Campbell and nose tackle Sekou Wiggs.

"Not only do we have to replace a lot of experience, but we have to have players step into leadership roles," says sixth-year head coach Jim Lambright.

The Pac-10 sanctions handed down against the Washington program five years ago have left the Huskies with senior and junior classes short on players. In fact, this year's team captains — a position usually reserved exclusively for seniors — include two juniors.

Washington will rely on the experience of its offensive line, one of the nation's top quarterbacks, two veteran inside linebackers and veterans in the interior defense and defensive backfield to provide the foundation for this year's Husky squad. How quickly new players can fill the vacated roles of last year's stellar senior class, and avoiding injuries that wrecked havoc on the UW lineup last year, will determine how successful this year's team can be.

The Offense

Quarterbacks	Ht.	Wt.	Yr.	Att.	Com.	Int.	Yds.	TD
Brock Huard	6-5	225	Jr.	461	254	15	3,818	36
J.K. Scott	6-3	210	RFr.	—	—	—	—	—
Marques Tuiasosopo	6-2	215	So.	64	37	1	650	3

Note: Career statistics listed.

With a leading returning receiver who is a backup tailback with only eight catches last season, it might sound surprising that Washington will put more emphasis on the passing game in 1998. But with a potential Heisman Trophy candidate and All-American passing the ball, Lambright feels he has the player-leader to bring a young receiving cast into the spotlight.

Last season junior quarterback Brock Huard teamed up with backup Marques Tuiasosopo to set a Washington single-season passing record. Huard passed for 2,140 yards and Tuiasosopo added 650. They combined for 26 touchdowns, threw only 11 interceptions in 308 attempts and completed 59 percent of their passes.

Huard enters his third year as the starting quarterback with 3,818 career passing yards. He needs to throw for 1,875 yards to surpass his older brother, Damon, as the Huskies' all-time leading passer. Huard already owns Washington's career record for touchdown passes with 36. His 23 scoring tosses last year was a single-season record.

"Brock is an exceptional player at quarterback," Lambright says. "He really takes control of the team. As a passer, he can put a nice touch on a short route or throw the deep ball accurately. He knows he needs to get stronger and become more durable and he has put in the time in the weight room to accomplish that."

Last season a sprained ankle forced Huard out of the majority of two games he started and did not allow him to play in a loss to Oregon.

As a backup, Tuiasosopo was extremely poised for a true freshman. He passed for 270 yards vs. Nebraska and 261 yards vs. Oregon.

Joining Huard and Tuiasosopo at quarterback next season will be redshirt freshman J.K. Scott. He will add another passer with a strong arm and solid mechanics to the Huskies' long line of successful quarterbacks. Jon Minter, a sophomore quarterback who redshirted last season, has moved to receiver for the '98 season.

"This will be a year where we might use the pass to help set up the run," Lambright says. "We've always been a well-balanced offense and I don't see that changing. If we have Brock all year, I think you'll see him put up some very impressive numbers."

Tailbacks

	Ht.	Wt.	Yr.	TC	Yds.	Avg.	TD
Jason Harris	6-0	210	Sr.	95	375	4.0	2
Jabari Johnson	6-0	200	RFr.	—	—	—	—
Maurice Shaw	6-0	215	Jr.	144	656	4.3	6

Note: Career statistics listed.

A knee injury that kept Rashaan Shehee out of the final three games of the 1997 season allowed backups junior Maurice Shaw and senior Jason Harris to gain some valuable playing experience. Shaw heads into fall drills as the likely candidate to replace Shehee after rushing for 538 yards on 125 attempts (4.3 avg.) last season. While he does not possess Shehee's breakaway speed, at 6-0, 215 pounds, Shaw has proven to be a tough runner.

A sore back that required surgery last spring could hamper Shaw's efforts to take over the top tailback spot. He only participated in one week of spring drills and was limited during off-season conditioning.

Harris produced about half of Shaw's numbers last year. He carried the ball 60 times for 269 yards (4.5 avg.) in limited appearances. Harris is the more versatile of the two players. He is the team's leading returning receiver with eight receptions totaling 42 yards last year.

Like Shaw, Harris saw his spring practice period cut short due to injuries. Sore ribs forced him out the final two weeks when he had the opportunity to establish himself as the possible starter.

Redshirt freshman Jabari Johnson will be given consideration for minutes this fall after working with the No. 1 offense most of the spring. Johnson rushed for 93 yards on 15 carries during the Spring Game.

Lambright has indicated he will not hesitate to use a freshman next fall at the position if necessary. The top two newcomers will be Willie Hurst and Jelani Harrison.

Sophomore Pat Conniff returns as the Huskies' fullback after taking over the position last year as a true freshman. While a limited part of Washington's offense, Conniff was extremely productive as a freshman. He carried the ball only 12 times but accounted for five first downs. Sophomore Devon Johnson, an h-back last season, has been moved to fullback for spring drills.

"We need to stay healthy at running back and to have these players work with our offensive line," Lambright says. "It will be interesting to see how our running backs respond to the challenge, because we have to be able to run the ball to have success."

Replacing Pathon

and Coleman, who accounted for 111 receptions, 1,968 yards and 15 touchdowns last season, will be the tallest challenge for the Huskies. Washington returns only four receivers/h-backs who caught a pass last season. That quartet combined for 15 receptions totaling 220 yards and three scores.

While lacking in playing time, the UW receivers do have some talent. That list starts at split end with sophomore Ja'Warren Hooker, who could prove to be one of the most exciting players in the nation.

Last season Hooker touched the ball only eight times but turned four plays into touchdowns. His first touch resulted in an 89-yard kickoff return for a score at Arizona. He averaged 22.7 yards per catch on six receptions and hauled in three TD passes. His blazing speed makes Hooker a big-play possibility every time he is on the field. The national high school sprint champion in 1997, Hooker won the 1998 NCAA Indoor Track Championship in the 55-meters and finished third at the NCAA outdoor meet in the 100 meters.

"All he needs is time and experience," Lambright says. "He needs to work on releasing off the line of scrimmage when players get a hold of him. More than anything he needs time and repetitions. He is without a doubt the fastest player to ever play at the University of Washington. He is very goal oriented and can be a tremendous asset to our team. He is a threat when he is on the field and defenses are going to have to prepare for that. He will open up a lot of things for our offense."

Washington's other returning receivers include senior Andre DeSaussure, who had three receptions totaling 29 yards in 1997, and senior Marvin Kasim and sophomores Mijo Austin and Dajuan Hawkins, who have no career receptions.

The receiving corps will be bolstered by the return of an injured player and a transfer. Sophomore Gerald Harris missed spring practice while recovering from knee surgery but is expected to return in the fall. As a true freshman in 1996, Harris had six receptions for 107 yards and was the number three receiver prior to his injury.

Junior Dane Looker emerged from spring drills as a possible starter at flanker. Last season Looker did not play after transferring from Western Washington, where he played two seasons of basketball. A former high school teammate of Huard, Looker has displayed a tremendous work ethic and could be hard to keep off the field.

combined for six receptions.

"There is no question we need some players to step up in this area," Lambright says. "While they may not have the stats, I feel this is a very hard working group of players. They have put in the extra time after practice and this summer with our quarterbacks to become a good group of receivers."

Washington has turned into Tight End U. during the 1990s. The last three players to start at the position are currently starting in the NFL and last year's Husky tight ends—Cameron Cleeland and Jeremy Brigham—were both be selected in this year's NFL draft.

Senior captain Reggie Davis has been moved from h-back to fill the void at tight end. At 6-3 and 230 pounds, Davis will be one of the lightest tight ends in recent Husky history, but he will create coverage problems with his speed. Last season he caught two passes for 32 yards and one score.

Junior Anthony Mizin, who has earned one letter, looked impressive during the spring and will enter the season as Davis' backup. The tight end corps is one of the deepest positions on the team. In addition to Mizin, John Westra and Kevin Cooper have game experience. Senior Chris Lang, a former defensive end, has also moved to the position.

"Reggie Davis gives us a good-looking, running athlete at this position," Lambright says. "He has moved around a lot on our team, but I think this is a position that will allow him to shine. He's a good leader on the team and he'll do a good job of helping our younger players along."

Despite the loss of two first-team All-Americans, Washington's offensive line should be a solid foundation for the offense. Three starters and several game-experienced veterans return from last year's unit which led the Pac-10 in sacks allowed (24).

Preseason All-American candidate Tony Coats (6-7, 300) switched from weakside tackle to weakside guard in the spring. A two-year starter, Coats is one of four seniors who could start on the line.

Other returning starters include senior strongside tackle Aaron Dalan (6-7, 320) and sophomore strongside guard Chad Ward (6-5, 310). Senior Brad Hutt (6-3, 285) took on the role as the starting center during the spring while sophomore Elliot Silvers (6-6, 300) has moved into Coats' old spot at tackle. Senior center/guard Ben Kadletz (6-2, 310), who missed last year's Aloha Bowl and spring practice while recovering from knee surgery, will be back this fall to play either center or guard.

Of the reserves penciled in on the offensive line, only sophomore guard Matt Fraize (6-4, 295), senior center Dave Dawson (6-3, 260) and walkon Colin Beard has any significant playing experience. Sophomore Dominic Daste (6-3, 305) will bolster the line after missing last season due to a broken ankle. Daste was a backup at guard as a true freshman before being sidelined with the injury.

"We feel good about the middle of the line and Aaron Dalan on the outside," Lambright says. "We need to develop some depth with our younger players in the spring.

We have some players who have looked good in the practices and now they will have an opportunity to get the playing time they need to complete their development."

Two starters return on Washington's defensive front that held seven of 12 opponents to under 100 rushing yards last season. Junior Mac Tuiaea (6-6, 290) returns at defensive tackle while junior Jabari Issa (6-6, 300) has moved to nose tackle after starting at both tackle and end last season. Last season Tuiaea accounted for 27 tackles, including seven tackles for loss and four sacks. Issa produced similar numbers with 24 tackles, including six for loss.

Sophomore Jeremiah Pharms (6-1, 235), who was a backup at inside linebacker last season, has moved to strongside linebacker to replace Jason Chorak. Josh Smith, a backup the past two seasons, will move up to a starter at defensive end. Ryan Julian (6-6, 250), who lettered last season as a true freshman, played the position all spring while Smith recovered from shoulder surgery. Senior Todd Johnson (6-2, 210) has moved up from his backup role to replace Jerry Jensen as the starter at whip linebacker.

The Huskies are lacking experience in the backup positions along the line. The addition of junior college transfer Toalei Mulitauaoepele (6-5, 320) could help that situation. He'll be joined by junior college transfers Odell George (6-2, 225) and Roger Faagata (6-4, 245) as players looking to fill backup roles. Redshirt freshman Larry Triplett (6-2, 285) figures as Issa's backup at nose tackle after an impressive spring practice session.

Marques Hairston

"We feel good about the players we have back and moving into the starting positions," Lambright says. "We might be a little quicker overall on defense and that could show on the line. We need some people who can get some pressure on the quarterback and you have to like a player like Jeremiah Pharms in that type of a role. He can become a big-play player for us."

Lester Towns

The playmakers in the Husky defensive scheme are the inside linebackers and both starters return from last season. Junior Lester Towns (6-3, 240) will be a candidate for all-star honors after leading the Huskies in tackles last season with 89. Towns is also the leader among returning players with 16 tackles for loss and five sacks.

Towns had foot surgery last spring that could spell a slow start for him in 1998.

Junior Marques Hairston (6-2, 235) proved to be a consistent performer for Washington last season at the other inside linebacker spot after moving from free safety the previous season. Hairston finished the year with 51 tackles despite missing a pair of games with a knee injury.

Nigel Burton

Junior Jeff Johnson (6-2, 225) gained valuable experience during the spring while Towns was out of the lineup. He figures to give the Huskies a needed option for rotating in a third line-backer.

Another player to emerge during spring drills was redshirt freshman walkon Ken Walker. The 6-1, 230-pound Hawaii native moved up to take the backup role behind Hairston heading into the season.

"Lester and Marques really compliment each other well and, having played together for a season, I think they will be one of the best linebacker combinations in the country," Lambright says.

Senior Brendan Jones, the backup at free safety last season, heads into the season as the likely successor to Tony Parrish. Jones has 18 game appearances over the past two seasons and has totaled six tackles. Redshirt freshman Omare Lowe and junior college transfer Renard Edwards will also contend for the job.

"We will probably not put as much pressure on the free safety as we have in the past in terms of making plays at the line of scrimmage," Lambright says. "With the experience we have at cornerback and roverback, we hope to come up with more big plays from those positions."

Note: Career statistics listed.

Washington returns both kickers from last season. Sophomore Nick Lentz walked on to the Husky program last season as a freshman and won the place kicking duties. Lentz converted seven of 10 field goal attempts (including a long of 46 yards) and hit 30 of 34 PATs. Redshirt freshman Jim Skurski will compete with Lentz for the kicking position.

Senior punter Sean O'Laughlin is also back after returning some consistency to Washington's punting game. Last year O'Laughlin averaged 39.2 yards per kick and had 14 kicks downed inside the 20-yard line. Transfer Ryan Fleming is expected to push O'Laughlin for the punting duties.

"Nick Lentz was just a real nice addition to the team last year," Lambright says. "For being a true freshman, he handled the kicking duties really well. We know how important it is to have a solid kicking game and having some veterans back in those areas will be a plus for a team where so many young players are being asked to step up."

Jermaine Smith

The Schedule

A young Washington team will face one of its toughest tests at the start of the 1998 season when the Huskies face Arizona State in Sun Devil Stadium in both team's season opener Sept. 5. The Huskies open their home slate two weeks later against BYU before traveling to defending national champion Nebraska Sept. 26. Washington will play four consecutive home games in October (Arizona, Utah State, California and Oregon State) before ending the season with three of four games on the road including the Apple Cup matchup with defending Pac-10 Champion Washington State Nov. 21 in Pullman. A Nov. 14 date in Husky Stadium with UCLA could feature a matchup of two of the top quarterbacks in the nation in Huard and UCLA's Cade McNown.

Joseph Stone	5-8	175	Jr.	—	—	—	—

Note: Career statistics listed.

Washington's defensive backfield has the most experience of any position on the field. Three two-year starters return, but a new name will have to emerge in the all-important free safety position.

Juniors Mel Miller and Jermaine Smith have been the mainstays at cornerback the past two seasons. Both players had one interception last season — Smith's a 91-yard runback for a touchdown at Arizona. Smith led the team with nine pass breakups while Miller accounted for 42 tackles. Miller sat out spring drills, allowing sophomore Toure Butler to enter the fall as a starter opposite of Smith.

Redshirt freshmen Wondame Davis and Lenny Haynes should see their first playing time at the position this year.

Senior Nigel Burton returns for his third year as a starter at roverback since transferring from Pacific. Burton finished fifth on the team last season with 45 tackles and is a top candidate for postseason Academic All-American honors. Senior Alvin Burleson, a regular on Washington's special teams, figures as Burton's backup this spring.

THE COACHES

Jim Lambright Head Coach

With the retirement of Nebraska head coach Tom Osborne following the 1997 season, there remain only three current Division I head coaches who have been associated with their current institution for 30 years. Washington head coach Jim Lambright is joined by Penn State's Joe Paterno and BYU's Lavelle Edwards on that elite list.

Lambright, Paterno and Edwards share many things in common. They rose from the ranks of the assistant coaching staffs of their current school to become the head coach. All three have coached on national championship teams and tutored dozens of All-Americans. All three are regarded in their professions for the innovations they have brought to the game. All three are heavily involved with the American Football Coaches Association. All three have given back to their respective communities through community service, foundations and donations.

The 1998 season marks Lambright's 30th year of coaching at Washington and his sixth year as the Huskies' head coach. In his first five seasons at UW, Lambright has won 38 games, directed the Huskies to the Sun Bowl, Holiday Bowl and Jeep Aloha Bowl, won a Pac-10 title (1995), defeated every team in the Pac-10 and won the Apple Cup three times.

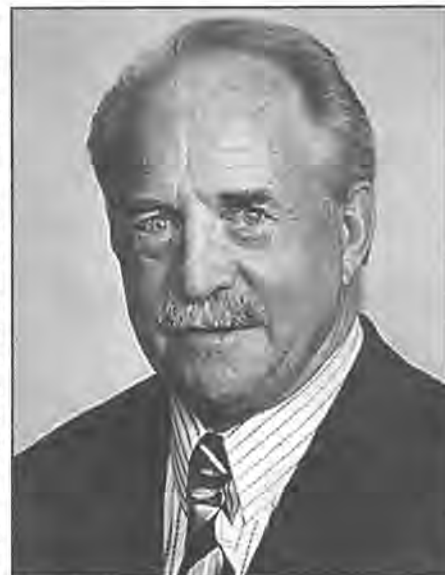

Lambright has compiled an overall record of 38-19-1 (.664), including a 18-5-1 mark in Pac-10 play over the past three seasons. Last year's team posted Washington's 21st consecutive winning season, the second longest current streak among Division I programs.

A pupil of legendary Husky coaches Jim Owens and Don James, preserving the winning tradition they established was not an easy task for Lambright, despite his long-time association with the program.

Few head coaches ever had to make the transition Lambright did when he took over as the Huskies' coach. On August 22, 1993, just two weeks prior to the season opener against Stanford, Lambright was named Washington's head coach when James announced his retirement in protest to Pac-10 sanctions against the Husky program.

Following a squad meeting where James announced his decision to the team and turned over the coaching mantle, Lambright quickly rallied a Husky squad that was in a state of shock. Faced with the challenge of coaching the inside linebackers, serving as defensive coordinator and also overseeing the program, Lambright set up residence in his Graves' Building office. Over the next two weeks Lambright was awarded a four-year contract, the players were counseled and a gameplan was put into place. The results — no players transferred and the Huskies banded together to hand the 15th-ranked Cardinal a 31-14 thrashing before a national television audience.

In the postgame meeting, as Lambright tried to address his team following the victory, his words were drowned out by the players chanting his nickname — "Lambo! Lambo! Lambo!"

In a short time span, under remarkable circumstances, the transition had been completed from the close of the James era of Husky football to a new beginning with Jim Lambright.

Lambright led the Huskies to a 7-4 finish in 1993 and a 5-3 mark in Pac-10 play. He accomplished that despite not filling his own position on the coaching staff during the season and losing tight ends coach Myles Corrigan midway through the year to heart surgery. The seven wins represented the most ever by a first-year coach at Washington. Lambright's hiring made him the fourth Husky coach who is a UW alumnus.

In 1994 Washington again finished 7-4 and compiled a 4-4 record in conference play. Lambright's first bowl appearance was the reward for a 7-4-1 record in 1995. The Huskies posted a 6-1-1 record in Pac-10 play and received a bid to the Sun Bowl. In 1996 the Huskies finished second in the Pac-10 with a 7-1 mark and received an invitation to play Colorado in the Holiday Bowl. The Huskies finished the season 9-3 and ranked 16th in the Associated Press poll, the highest finish in Lambright's tenure.

The 1997 season was the 29th overall for Lambright at Washington. He guided the Huskies to an 8-4 record that included his first postseason win, a 51-23 victory vs. Michigan State in the Jeep Aloha Bowl.

Prior to taking over the head coaching position, Lambright served as the assistant head coach for six years and defensive coordinator for 16 years. He started his coaching stint with the Huskies under head coach Jim Owens in 1969. Lambright's tenure with Washington is one of the longest of any current coach with one school.

Lambright began his coaching career in 1965 as an assistant coach at Fife (Wash.) High School, and was an assistant coach at Shoreline Community College from 1966 through 1969, just prior to beginning his long association with Washington.

The Everett, Wash., native was a four-sport letterman at Everett High School. He attended Washington and played football for the Huskies, earning two letters as a 180-pound defensive end (1963-64). Under Owens, Lambright played fullback, halfback, wide receiver, tight end, defensive end and linebacker. He graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in education and physical education in 1965 after earning all-conference and All-Coast honors in 1964. His 1964 accolades included the Huskies' Guy Flaherty Most Inspirational Award and being named The Everett Herald's Man of the Year in Sports.

As the defensive coordinator, Lambright's defenses have ranked high among conference statistical leaders, and all but one finished in the top half of the Pac-10 total defense statistics each year. The 1991 Huskies were second in the nation in rushing defense (67.1), total defense (237.1), scoring defense (9.2) and turnover margin (+1.73) and led the Pac-10 in virtually every defensive category.

Lambright implemented the "attack style" defense in 1990 that created havoc for opposing offenses. That style of play was a key factor in Washington's march to a

Head of His Class

When Jim Lambright took over the Washington football program in 1993, he was one of eight first-year head coaches among the Division I ranks. Since that time he has easily compiled the best record among those coaches and is one of just three who remains in his original job. Here's a look at the Class of '93's first-year coaches:

perfect season and the national championship in 1991. Numerous coaching staffs from across the country have visited the Husky coaching staff in recent years to learn the defensive strategy.

A handful of his former players earned All-America accolades at Washington. Ray Horton, Mark Stewart, Tony Caldwell, Ron Holmes, Reggie Rogers, Tim Peoples, Steve Emtman and Dave Hoffmann were all defensive players under Lambright who were named a first-team All-American. Emtman was selected the 1991 Lombardi Trophy and Outland Trophy winner.

Several of Lambright's defensive players — Fletcher Jenkins, Ron Holmes, Reggie Rogers, Steve Emtman and D'Marco Farr — were voted by their Pac-10 peers as the Morris Award winner, honoring the top defensive lineman in the league.

No less than 16 of the linebackers he has coached achieved first-team All-Pac-10 honors. A total of 17 of Lambright's former linebackers have been drafted by NFL teams.

Lambright is the fourth Washington alumnus to coach the Husky football team. Ralph Nichols (1895-96, 1898) was the first, compiling a 7-4-1 record. Enoch Bagshaw (Class of 1907) was the most successful, going 63-22-6 from 1921-29, and guiding the Huskies to their first two Rose Bowl appearances (1924, 1926). John Cherberg (Class of 1933) compiled a 10-18-2 record from 1953-55.

Lambright is 56 years old. He and his wife, Lynne, live in neighboring Marysville. His mother, Eloise, is a longtime Washingtonian who attends all the games. The Lambrights' children: Kris and Eric Lambright, Brad and Bart Mackie and Regan Campbell, all live in the immediate area with their families. Jim's sister, Sue, is also nearby to lend family support.

The Jim Lambright Medical Foundation

In the spring of 1997, Husky football coach Jim Lambright formed the Jim Lambright Medical Foundation, a nonprofit, volunteer corporation that funds research projects that can lead to a treatment for Niemann-Pick Type C Disease.

Next May, Lambright will add a major fundraising event to further the cause of his foundation. The Foundation's inaugural Celebrity Golf Tournament/ Dinner is scheduled to be held May 22-23 in Seattle.

NP-C is a genetic disorder that usually affects adults and children by interfering with their ability to metabolize cholesterol. It is progressive, degenerative and always — until a cure is found — fatal.

"The adult form of the disease has been diagnosed in my two sons — Brad and Bart — both of whom are over 30 years old," Lambright says. The long-term prognosis for them is not promising without a breakthrough in medical research."

The Foundation's purpose is to speed the search for a cure by funding research and promoting worldwide interaction working on NP-C and related diseases involving the metabolism of cholesterol.

Niemann-Pick Type C Disease is a genetic lipid storage disorder. Adults and children with NP-C are not able to metabolize cholesterol properly. Cholesterol accumulates within the cells of the liver, spleen and brain. This excess storage of cholesterol damages the nervous system, resulting in deterioration of the body. Symptoms include difficulty with upward and downward eye movement, slurred or slow speech, difficulty swallowing, loss of motor skills including unsteady balance, irregular gait and frequent falls. As the disease progresses, dementia, seizures and death occur.

Currently, there is no treatment for NP-C. While studies now are underway to determine the benefits of cholesterol reduction through diet and drugs, the most promising lines of investigation involve genetic therapy and cholesterol metabolism research.

Geneticists now are working to isolate the defective gene. Most of Chromosome 18, where the gene is located, has been mapped. Geneticists are confident that, given the current level of research, this gene can be isolated in the near future. With increased funding, the timetable for isolating the gene will be shortened. In addition, increased funding will speed the development of innovative therapeutic strategies to treat NP-C.

"Our Foundation will parallel the Ara Parseghian Foundation in a commitment to find a cure for Niemann Pick Type C Disease," Lambright says. "Our foundation will help all of those (adults and children) suffering from the disease. It may also help those millions of people suffering from heart disease, strokes, Alzheimer's Disease and other disorders that appear to be related to the metabolism of cholesterol."

What They're Saying About Jim Lambright

"The essence of Lambright's black and white coaching philosophy: When there is a problem, you solve it. If you work on it and it doesn't get solved — work harder."

— Tom Moore, *The Eastside Journal

"Coach Lambright embodies the mythical virtues of a 19th-century Western sheriff: forthright, trustworthy, fearless, tolerant to a point, tough when he has to be. He has a thick neck, muscular shoulders, powerful forearms, sun reddened cheeks, thinning hair, a dense mustache and crystal-blue eyes. His easy, direct manner and soft voice hint at courtliness."

— Fred Brack, *Seattle Magazine

"He tries to get everything he can out of each individual player. When Game Day comes, you know you're not going to be the weaker of the two teams on the field, that's for sure. He's big on the team taking care of itself, on leadership and responsibility."

— Tony Parrish, free safety, 1993-97

"Toughness, leadership, intensity — those are three good words to describe Coach Lambright. Look at our team and that's what we are, and that's what comes from him. He's very emotional. We play off that. But he doesn't just teach you about football. He teaches you how to be successful in life."

— Jason Chorak, linebacker, 1993-97

"He had to work awfully hard. He had a fiery determination. He was all-conference his senior year and that was because of determination, guts and hard work. I always felt that those qualities were going to continue, that as a coach that attitude could be spread to other players."

— Jim Owens, Washington

"Walk around a homestead filled with the sights and sounds of a working ranch — horses, chickens, fruit-bearing trees and plants, a barn filled with hay, dogs, cats and roosters — and you can understand why Lambright can come home each night, clear his head, and have as much serenity during the season as any football coach in America."

— Mark Blaudschun, *The Boston Globe

"It was kind of symbolic. It was our way of saying, 'This is your team now. This is your first victory.' We just wanted to let him know we appreciated all the time he's put in, all the sleepless nights he's spent over the last two weeks trying to get this thing going."

— Senior captain Andy Mason on the Huskies chanting "Lambo, Lambo, Lambo" following his first Husky victory.

"And while some mourn for Jim Lambright and the fact that he has to take over a program burdened with a two-year bowl ban imposed by the Pacific 10 Conference for NCAA violations, you won't hear him crying. This is the job Lambright has waited for for nearly a quarter of a century."

— Larry Henry, *Everett Herald

"Lambo was always a loyal guy. If you had a whole team of guys like him, you'd be set. He wasn't very talented, he wasn't very big, but you'd go undefeated every year with guys like him because he was a battler and a leader. He was tough, so rugged. He's a pretty amazing guy."

— Paul Harbeck, high school teammate

"He can be tough, but he's very positive, and he enabled us to keep our spirits up. He has a great personality, and if you have a problem, you can talk to him about it."

— Lawyer Milloy, free safety 1993-95

"He feels no need to coach through the newspapers. When he wants you to know something, he'll get right up in your face and tell you."

— Jim Nevelle, center, 1989-92

"Every coach makes you work hard and instills a sense of work ethic in you, from grade school all the way up to high school. But coach Lambright wrote the book on it. He believes that the best way to win and to be No. 1 is to out-work your opponent."

— Russell Hairston, cornerback 1989-94

"Lambo was knocked cold five times while playing football his last year (at Everett High School). He'd hit people that hard. I remember the coaches went out to Paine Field, which was an Air Force base back then, and got him like a fighter pilot's helmet to wear instead of his football helmet. He tried that about three plays and went back to his old helmet."

— Paul Harbeck, high school teammate

"He must have had some great conversations with himself driving home. 'What are you gonna do, defensive coordinator? I don't know, what are you going to do, head coach?'" — Randy Hart, assistant head coach, on Lambright's dual role as head coach and defensive coordinator in 1993.

"We recruited Jim because we saw him as a guy who would give you everything he had. He didn't do much his first three years, but he kept plugging away and he made a huge improvement between his junior and senior years. He got our most-inspirational-player award his senior year. I was absolutely delighted when he got the job, because he'd been so loyal to the program for so many years, waiting for his chance."

— Jim Owens, Washington head coach 1957-1974

"He's a strong man. He doesn't let you see weaknesses. And yet he's more comfortable. He's got his corner office, and he enjoys doing public relations and overseeing everything. He understands every position on the field. What hasn't changed is that he's still a personable guy. You are not intimidated walking into his office. He'll drop everything to talk. He cares about us. He told us from the get-go, his title has changed, but he's still the same Coach Lambright."

— Ernie Conwell, tight end, 1991-95

"Lambright is as indigenous to Husky football as the dog that appears so frequently on game-day telecasts."

— Blaine Newnham, *Seattle Times

"Jim Lambright has become kind of the guru of the eight-man front in college football."

— Greg McMackin, assistant coach at Utah

"That his players feel free to chant 'Lambo' is a sign of his humanness. That they don't feel intimidated and want to go hide in a corner when they meet him in the hallway indicates that there is not an invisible, yet formidable, wall separating them, as there is with many head coaches and their players."

— Larry Henry, *Everett Herald

"I'm talking to him on the phone and all of a sudden, there's nothing on the other end. After 16 years, I'm used to it."

— Lynne Lambright on her husband falling asleep during a telephone conversation the night before a game.

"Should Lambright stay at Washington as long as (Don) James, his greatness might be that he motivated those around him to greatness."

— Percy Allen, *Seattle Times

"He knows how to motivate. He knows how to get the best out of you. It's in what he says, what he does and just who he is."

— Brock Huard, quarterback

"Lambright is a conduit between Washington's past and future. He is neither old nor young. His blond hair has receded, but he still looks as if he could tackle a runaway fullback."

— Percy Allen, *Seattle Times

"Everyone expected us to fall hard. But (Lambright) stood by us and made us believe in the program and what it had stood for all those years before."

— Tony Parrish, free safety, 1993-97

Jim Lambright On ...

On pressure

"Generally, what coaches do is they don't recognize that there's pressure. They attack and assume everything is going to work out fine."

On his first practice

"I was standing out there looking around when it hit me. I realized, 'He's (Don James) not here. It was, 'OK, it's mine now ... we've got work to do.'"

On the transition to head coach

"The Washington job was always at the top of my list. It became that way as soon as Don James hired me and I was able to make the transition from Owens to James. It gave me an opportunity to learn from a new coach and a new system without moving."

On predictions

"People ask me: 'Do you sit down and write down a prediction of what your record's going to be?' I can't do that because my record at the start of the year is 11-0. I don't want to acknowledge the fact that I can't beat somebody. That is just so self-defeating in my mind."

On his schedule

"The long days go about 19 hours. Usually during the season I go on four or five hours of sleep. I can make it. I'm in good shape when I'm fired up."

On public recognition

"What shocked me (about becoming head coach) is the way people recognize me. I'm the same person, just a different title. But today when I walk through a grocery store, so many people say hello and want to ask how the team is going to do. It takes a little getting used to, but it's a wonderful thing. It's always been the job I wanted. I'm so lucky."

On high expectations

"I'm not ever going to give up the high expectations. That's the way I want this program to be. That's the way I expect it to be. I think if you expect less, that's what you'll get."

On the attacking-style defense

"A lot of what we started with came from visiting with Buddy Ryan and the Chicago Bears a few years ago—that's where a lot of our attack thinking came from. We've learned a lot from a lot of different people, so we're not going to turn around and act like this is all our own."

On growing up in Everett

"My dad was a commercial fisherman. He had a 55-foot boat, a purse seiner, moored in Everett. In the salmon seasons of June and July when I was a kid, dad and I and four crewmen would fish all over Southeast Alaska, out of Ketchikan and Juneau. I did this in the summers when I played for Owens, and it really built up my hands and forearms, wrestling with all that equipment. I never considered it work. Neither did my dad. We loved it. Whenever I had a chance, I'd drop a line overboard just to fish for fun."

On running out of the tunnel at Husky Stadium

"As a player you remember the first time you run down that tunnel more than anything else. You know, even today, I still get some chills down my spine and have a sense of pride in being a Husky when we run out the tunnel."

On being an outstanding defensive player

"The first ingredient to make him great would be a burning desire to win and be tough. There's really a close, binding element between those two things. You can't coach that. You need good feet, otherwise you can't get to the ball. Almost everything else is irrelevant. You have to be dying to win."

On Don James and Jim Owens

"The longevity of James and Owens together is incredible. You have to get to the people like Bear Bryant and the Nebraskas and Michigans in order to get equivalent years of consistency."

On the Husky tradition

"I understand the responsibility that comes with the tradition at Washington. Just like every player and coach, I know I need to improve each year, and I believe I will."

On his office above the weightroom

"Isn't it (the sound of weights hitting the floor) wonderful? Where else does a coach belong, but above the weight room where I can keep an eye on everything."

On hard work

"Any coach will tell you he wants to be No. 1. They'd be lying if they told you anything different. But most of all, he wants his players to experience what it's like to be the best football team in the country. And the only way to do that is through hard work and lots of dedication."

On life outside football

"I'm pretty much like a teddy bear at home. I like to ride my horses and relax. I'm a different person when I'm away from the football field, but I enjoy both things equally. I love my home and my family and my horses, and I love my job. I'm the luckiest guy on earth, if you ask me."

On trick plays

"If you can do something that's relatively smart, maybe a little risky but exciting for the players and fans, it's worth doing. If nothing else, it's good to have trick plays on film—it gives other teams one other thing to worry about."

On being named a Husky assistant coach

"I'll never forget it. I was teaching an ice skating class at Highland Ice Arena when the guy on the PA said 'Jim Lambright, we have a call from Jim Owens for you.'"

On time demands

"It's so critical that you have everything prioritized correctly because there are so many outside things that affect the job. It still comes down to you have to win—No. 1 foremost of all things on your job list. So you have to keep everything else in its place."

On trick plays in the kicking game

"You have to be willing to take a shot when the time is right. My feeling with the kicking game is that in order to keep people honest, you go into every game willing to attack with the kicking game."

On his ranch in Stanwood

"It gives me emotional tranquility and a way to get away. The more I see of coaches who burn out, I think so much of that has to do with the fact that they can't get away from the daily demands and the daily pressure. This is my way to get away from it."

Randy Hart

Assistant Head Coach Defensive Coordinator Defensive Line Coach

Randy Hart begins his 11th season as a Husky assistant coach, his fifth as assistant head coach and his fourth as the Washington defensive coordinator in 1998. Hart was named assistant head coach in December of 1993 by coach Jim Lambright. He took over as defensive coordinator following the departure of Chris Tormey, who was named Idaho's head coach following the 1994 season.

In his 10 seasons as the Husky defensive line coach, Hart has guided a number of notable players, including Lombardi and Outland winner Steve Emtman, the No. 1 overall pick in the 1992 NFL draft and a unanimous All-American.

Hart helped to engineer Washington's dominating defenses that led the Huskies to three consecutive Rose Bowl appearances at the start of the decade. The 1991 unit allowed only 101 points and 1,191 rushing yards in 11 regular-season games. That unit still holds six Husky defensive records.

Also under Hart's tutelage were 1993 Morris Trophy winner D'Marco Farr, a member of the St. Louis Rams, and NFLers Dennis Brown, David Richie, Tyrone Rodgers, Jamal Fountaine and Jason Chorak. In 10 seasons, Hart has coached six all-conference players, three winners of the Morris Trophy (given to the Pac-10's top defensive and offensive linemen) and two players — Jason Chorak and Emtman — who earned Pac-10 player of the year honors. He is a member of the American Football Coaches Association.

Hart came to Washington after serving as the defensive line coach at Ohio State, his alma mater, from 1982 to 1987. The return to Columbus also marked the third time he served as an assistant under Earle Bruce. From 1977 to 1981 he was the defensive line coach at Purdue under head coach Jim Young. From 1973-76 Hart coached the defensive line for Bruce at Iowa State.

His first full-time coaching position was at the University of Tampa in 1972, where he was the offensive line coach under Bruce. He served as a graduate assistant at OSU in 1970-71.

Hart graduated from The Ohio State University with a bachelor's degree in education in 1970 and earned a master's degree in higher education administration, also from Ohio State, in 1972. He earned three letters as a 6-2, 234-pound offensive guard on the Buckeye football team under legendary coach Woody Hayes and played for the Ohio State team that beat USC, 27-16, in the 1969 Rose Bowl. That squad, which posted a perfect 10-0 record, was named the 1968 national champions. Hart was a member of the Ohio State wrestling team for the 1966 season.

The first time Hart entered Husky Stadium was not as a Husky assistant coach. In 1969, his senior season, Hart was a member of the number-one ranked Buckeye squad that defeated Washington 41-14. Coincidentally, UW head coach Jim Lambright was a first-year assistant on coach Jim Owens staff at the time.

Hart's second trip to Husky Stadium came during the 1974 season as an assistant coach for Iowa State. The Huskies won that matchup 31-28.

Hart, who was born March 9, 1948, in Cleveland, Ohio, lettered three times each in football, wrestling and track at South High in Willoughby, Ohio and served as the team captain, and earned league MVP in football.

Hart and his wife Linda have two sons, Jay (21) and John (19).

Scott Linehan

Offensive Coordinator Wide Receiver Coach

During his brief tenure as Washington's offensive coordinator, Scott Linehan has designed offensive schemes that have led to record production on the field for the Huskies. The 1998 season mark's Linehan's fifth year overall at UW and his third as the offensive coordinator. This season he also takes over the quarterback coaching duties after tutoring the wide receivers the past four years.

Last season the Huskies set offensive records for passing yards (2,790) and passing touchdowns (26). Washington's per-game averages for total offensive yards (414.9) and passing yards (253.6) were the second highest marks in Husky football history.

In 1997, Linehan's offense allowed Washington to score at least 20 points in every game — the first time that has ever been accomplished by a UW team. The 1996 Husky offense set single-game records with 559 rushing yards and 734 total yards in Washington's 53-10 win vs. San Jose State.

In his first season as the Washington receivers coach in 1994, Linehan helped to convert Eric Bjornson, a quarterback the previous season, into a split end. Bjornson went on to lead the team in receptions and capped his career by being drafted by the Dallas Cowboys in the fourth round. In 1995 Linehan turned an inexperienced group, including two newcomers, into a solid part of the Husky offense. In 1996, Dave Janoski finished his UW career in the top-10 for receptions.

Last season, Jerome Pathon became his first Husky All-American. Pathon set single-season receiving records for yards (1,245) and receptions (69). He was drafted by the Indianapolis Colts in the second round of the NFL draft, while fellow wide receiver Fred Coleman was a sixth-round selection by Buffalo. Pathon finished his career fourth on the all-time receiving list (125 receptions) while Coleman was eighth (97 receptions).

Linehan assists with the kicking game coaching and off-season conditioning. He is a member of the American Football Coaches Association.

Before taking the job at Washington, Linehan was the offensive coordinator and quarterback coach at Idaho, his alma mater. In 1993, he coached quarterback Doug Nussmeier, who won the Walter Payton Award as the Division I-AA Player of the Year. His offense led the nation in 1993 and was second in 1992.

That was his second stint at Idaho; his first was 1989-90. In between, he was the quarterback coach at UNLV in 1991.

In his first term at Idaho, when he handled the receivers, he tutored several All-Americans, including Lee Allen (1989) and Kasey Dunn (1990). Yo Murphy followed suit in

1992 by becoming Linehan's third pupil to garner All-America honors.

His first coaching job was as an assistant at Sunset High in Beaverton, Ore., a position he held during the 1987 and 1988 seasons.

Linehan was a standout quarterback at Idaho from 1983-86, when he played under current Seahawk head coach Dennis Erickson. He led the Vandals to the Big Sky championship in 1985 and NCAA I-AA playoff appearances in 1984, 1985 and 1986. He was 32-16 as a starting quarterback and completed 547 of 947 career pass attempts for a career total of 7,018 yards. Those marks still stand near the top of Idaho's all-time records.

Linehan set Idaho's single-game passing efficiency record in a 46-7 win over Mankato State in 1986 when he completed 24 of 29 passes for 403 yards. He signed a free agent contract with the Dallas Cowboys following his college career, but a shoulder injury ended his playing career.

Linehan earned a bachelor's degree in public relations from Idaho in 1986. His brothers, Ron and Rick, were standout defensive players in the 1970's for the Vandals.

As a prep at Sunnyside (Wash.) High, he was the Washington Class AAA-AA back of the year as a senior in 1981. Born in Sunnyside Sept. 17, 1963, he and his wife Kristen, a former Idaho basketball player, have two sons, Matthew and Michael.

Dick Baird

Linebacker Coach Recruiting Coordinator

One of the top evaluators of high school players on the west coast, Dick Baird enters his 15th season on the Husky staff and his 30th overall in coaching in 1997. His tenure is the longest active stretch on the Husky staff and one of the longest in the Pac-10 conference among the assistant coaches. This season marks Baird's sixth as a position coach. Baird served exclusively as recruiting coordinator for nine years before becoming the wide receivers coach for the 1993 season. In 1994, he switched to take over the inside linebackers.

Last year Baird developed two new starters into one of the best young linebacking tandems in college football. Returning junior Lester Towns led the '97 team with 89 tackles while his classmate Marques Hairston racked up 51 stops.

In 1996, Baird saw inside linebacker Ink Aleaga earn first-team All-Pac-10 honors for the second straight year. Teammate John Fiala, who was a captain along with Aleaga, earned District VIII Academic All-American accolades and was drafted by Miami in the sixth round of the NFL draft.

Baird still oversees football recruiting and also handles the football compliance efforts. He is a member of the American Football Coaches Association. He directs both the Purple and Gold Football summer camp and the annual Husky Coaches Clinic.

Baird originally came to the University in 1984 as a graduate assistant coach working with the defensive line, after a several high school and college coaching stints. Immediately before coming to UW, he was the head coach at Olympic College from 1981-83, after serving as defensive coordinator from 1978-80.

His first head coaching job was from 1975-77, when he held that post at Mt. Rainier High School. He was also the defensive coordinator at Highline High (1972-74), a teacher and assistant at Kennedy High (1970-71) and a part-time assistant coach at Washington State (1968-69) under Jim Sweeney. At one time or another, he also has coached wrestling, boys and girls track and boys and girls basketball.

Baird graduated from Washington State in 1968 with a degree in speech and communication. As an undergraduate he appeared in several theatre productions including Guys and Dolls and directed two plays. He was also the sports editor of the WSU Daily Evergreen. Baird received his education certificate from the University of Washington in 1970 and continued his post-graduate studies in education administration in 1984 and 1985 at the University of Washington.

He was a three-year starter at linebacker at Washington State and was the team captain his final year, 1967. He earned All-Coast honors in 1965.

Baird, who was born in Seattle May 27, 1946, attended Roosevelt High school, just a mile from the UW campus.

He and his wife Kim have four children — Tiffany, Tristen, Brent and J.B. Both sons play football at Inglesmoor High School. Baird's parents, Bruce and Margaret, moved to Seattle in 1944 and are regulars at Husky games — both on the road and at home.

Cary Conklin Receivers Coach

Former Washington standout quarterback Cary Conklin became the newest full-time member of the Husky coaching staff in March. Conklin takes over the coaching responsibilities for the UW wide receivers.

Conklin will face the challenge of molding a young and relatively inexperienced receiving corps following the loss of NFL draftees Jerome Pathon and Fred Coleman, last year's starting receivers, who finished their careers among Washington's top eight all-time receivers.

Conklin was Washington's starting quarterback in 1988 and 1989 and finished his career with 4,850 passing yards, including 31 touchdowns. He still holds six of Washington's single-season passing records he set in 1989 including: total offense (2502); total offense per game (227.5); total offensive attempts (433); single-season passing yards (2569); passing yards per game (233.5) and passing attempts (365).

Conklin still owns Washington's single-game passing record for his 428-yard effort vs. Arizona State in 1989. When Conklin completed his playing career he ranked third on UW's career list for total offense and was second in passing yardage.

Conklin was the most valuable player at the 1989 Freedom Bowl and the offensive player of the game in the 1990 Hula Bowl. Conklin was drafted by the Washington Redskins in the fourth round of the 1990 draft. He was a member of the Redskins from 1990 to 1994, including the 1991 team that won the Super Bowl. In 1995 he played for the San Francisco 49ers in his final NFL season.

Conklin never redshirted a season while attending Washington. He played in six games as a true freshman and was forced into action during the ninth game of his sophomore campaign.

A three-sport standout at Yakima's Eisenhower High School, Conklin was the Gatorade/Washington Player of the Year in football and named the state's prep back of the year by the Sportswriters Association and the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. He was drafted by the Cleveland Indians in 1988 following his junior season at Washington, despite not having played baseball since his senior year in high school.

Prior to being named an assistant coach, Conklin spent the past two seasons working in the Husky program as a student manager while completing his undergraduate degree in political science. He is a native of Yakima, Wash.

Rick Mallory

Tight Ends Coach

The 1998 season is Rick Mallory's fifth year as an assistant coach in Washington coaching tight ends. During his first four years he has worked with four players who were selected in the NFL draft.

Mallory took over as a full-time coach midway through the 1993 season when Myles Corrigan was sidelined due to a heart condition. At the time, Mallory was working as a graduate assistant for head coach Jim Lambright.

Mallory was fortunate enough to have Mark Bruener leading his position group through his first year and a half on the job.

Bruener became the all-time Husky leader in receptions by a tight end, was named first-team All-Pac-10 twice and was drafted in the first round of the 1995 NFL draft by the Pittsburgh Steelers. As a rookie, Bruener started in the 1996 Super Bowl.

In 1995, Ernie Conwell took over as a starter and went on to earn first-team All-Pac-10 honors. Conwell was drafted by the St. Louis Rams in the second round of the NFL draft.

Last year marked the third time one of Mallory's players earned first-team All-Pac-10 honors. Cameron Cleeland picked up the all-league honors and was later chosen by the New Orleans Saints in the second round of the NFL draft. Washington's second tight end, Jeremy Brigham, was drafted by the Oakland Raiders in the third round.

Mallory has worked for the Huskies for all of his coaching career. He was promoted to his current position from his graduate assistant position, which he held in 1992 and 1993.

Aside from coaching the tight ends and the kicking game, Mallory serves as the liaison for the alumni association and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Mallory is a member of the American Football Coaches Association.

Mallory was a Husky tight end himself as a freshman and sophomore at Washington before moving to guard prior to his junior season (1982). A three-year letterman, he went on to earn All-Pac-10 and All-Coast honors as a senior in 1983, when he was also a team captain. In the 1984 NFL draft, he was selected by Tampa Bay as a ninth-round pick and went on to play five seasons for the Bucs.

Mallory earned his bachelor's degree in political science from Washington. He attended Lindbergh High in Renton, where he was a standout tight end on the football team.

Born Oct. 21, 1960, in Renton, Mallory and wife Shannon have three sons — Ryan (16), Adam (14) and Cameron (11).

Ron Milus

Defensive Secondary Coach Free Safeties/Cornerbacks

Ron Milus, one of five former Husky players on the current coaching staff, enters his seventh season as the free safety/cornerbacks coach this fall. In his previous seasons, he has done a great deal to make Washington one of the top interception teams in the Pac-10. The 1992 squad was third in the league before the 1993 Huskies picked off 22 passes to lead the nation. In 1994 UW finished fourth in the conference with 13 picks and in 1995 the Huskies topped the Pac-10 with 16 interceptions.

The past two years he has worked with two-year returning starters Mel Miller and Jermaine Smith.

In addition to coaching the defensive backs, Milus assists with Washington's special teams. His off-field responsibilities include scouting, study hall, summer film and film exchange. Milus is a member of the American Football Coaches Association.

Milus coached at Washington as a graduate assistant in 1991 after having served as an assistant to his father, Bill Milus, at Lincoln High in Tacoma for three seasons. He helped coach former All-American Lawyer Milloy while at Lincoln. When Milus joined the Husky staff on a full-time basis, he became the first of Don James' players to coach at Washington. At the time, he was also the youngest assistant coach in the Pac-10 at just 28 years old.

Milus graduated from the UW with a degree in society and justice in 1986 after earning four letters as a standout cornerback and return specialist (1982-85). He returned 49 punts for 410 yards and a touchdown during his career while registering 83 tackles, five interceptions and 10 pass deflections. In 1984, he won the most improved defensive back award during spring practice and still ranks in the top 10 in Husky history in punt return yardage. As a junior he finished fourth in the nation in punt returns with a 12.4 average on 17 runbacks.

After his college career, Milus spent a season with the San Diego Chargers.

Milus was born Nov. 25, 1963, in Tacoma and played for coach Jack Newhart at Lincoln, where he was an all-league selection. He won the Norm Mayer Memorial Award in 1981 as Tacoma's most outstanding player. As a senior he rushed for 1,003 yards in high school.

He and his wife Sandra have two young sons, Ryan (seven) and Bobby (three).

Steve Morton Offensive Line Coach

Coaching All-Americans, All-Pac-10 players and Morris Trophy winners is becoming old habit to Steve Morton, Washington's offensive line coach.

Now in his seventh season as the Huskies' offensive line coach, Morton has developed the unit into one of the most respected in college football. This year's group figures to be no exception, despite the loss of two first-team All-Americans off of last year's squad.

The Huskies offensive line has been atop the Pac-10 the past few years in two key categories — sacks allowed and rushing yards.

Last year's line included first-team All-Americans Benji Olson (guard) and Olin Kreutz (center). Both were juniors who declared early for the NFL draft. Kreutz was picked by the Chicago Bears in the third round and Olson by Tennessee in the fifth round. Olson was a two-time first-team All-American while Kreutz was named the Pac-10's 1997 Morris Trophy winner as the league's top lineman.

Following Washington's 1996 season, offensive tackle Bob Sapp was drafted by the Chicago Bears in the NFL draft. Sapp was also a Morris Trophy winner.

Morton has coached a number of players who have gone on to be drafted by NFL teams. Tackle Andrew Peterson and center Frank Garcia were drafted by Carolina in 1995 and made the expansion team's roster. Garcia started in the 1996 NFC Championship game.

In 1993, Morton coached three players who were either drafted or signed by NFL teams — Pete Pierson (fifth round, Tampa Bay), Tom Gallagher (free agent, Denver) and P.A. Emerson (free agent, Philadelphia). Another lineman that year, National Football Foundation post-graduate scholarship winner Jim Nevelle, turned down pro offers to begin his engineering career.

In 1992, he coached Lincoln Kennedy — an All-American, Lombardi Award finalist, two-time Morris Trophy winner and first-round draft choice (ninth pick).

Aside from coaching the offensive line, he also works with the kicking game. His off-field duties include the officials, football rules, recruiting and the summer job program. Morton is a member of the American Football Coaches Association. His postseason coaching experience includes the 1991 Blue-Gray All-Star game.

Morton was the offensive line coach at Iowa State (1987-91) before coming to Washington. At Iowa State, Morton coached standout lineman Keith Sims, who went on to star for the Dolphins and Eagles in the NFL.

That was his second coaching stint under Jim Walden. Morton also worked for Walden at Washington State, where he was the line coach for five seasons (1982-86) after serving as tight end coach from 1978-81 and as a graduate assistant from 1975 to 1977.

At WSU, Morton coached Mike Utey, who had emerged into a star lineman for the Detroit Lions before his career was ended by a tragic injury that left him paralyzed. Morton also tutored tight end Pat Beach, who went on to play for the Indianapolis Colts, among others.

Morton received his bachelor's degree in physical education from Washington State in 1976. He played two years as a center and guard for the Cougars after transferring from Grays Harbor Community College where he played from 1971-72. He was named the team's outstanding lineman and selected to the all-Northwest Junior College team in 1972.

Born Oct. 19, 1953, in Chehalis, Wash., Morton attended Chehalis' W.F. West High School. He and his wife Karen have two children, Beau (21) and Bethany (17).

Wayne Moses

Running Back Coach

While Wayne Moses is in only his second season of coaching the Washington running backs, his background tutoring top-notch ball carriers is extensive and impressive.

Moses graduated from Washington in 1977 after starting at cornerback during the 1976 and '77 seasons. Last year, during his return to his alma mater, Moses coached Husky tailback Rashaan Shehee, a first-team All-Pac-10 pick. Shehee earned the recognition despite missing the final three regular season games due to a knee injury. He was picked by the Kansas City Chiefs in the third round of the NFL draft.

Moses joined the Washington staff after coaching the running backs for Steve Mariucci at California in 1996. For six years, from 1990 to 1995, Moses was the running backs coach at UCLA under Terry Donahue. Moses began his coaching career at North Carolina State in 1980 when he tutored the defensive backs. From 1981-83 he coached for Denny Stolz at Bowling Green. The 1982 Falcon squad won the Mid-American Conference championship and played in the California Bowl. Moses served as the running backs coach at Rutgers from 1984-85.

From 1986-88 Moses was the running backs coach at San Diego State. He helped the Aztecs to the 1986 Western Athletic Conference championship and coached Paul Hewitt, the school's all-time rushing leader at the time. Hewitt was the nation's top scorer in 1987 with 24 touchdowns.

Moses had a one-year stay at New Mexico in 1989 as the wide receivers coach. His group of receivers included current Atlanta Falcon Terance Mathis, who at the time was the NCAA's all-time leader in pass receptions (263 catches) and receiving yardage (4,254 yards). During the 1989 season, Mathis caught 88 passes for 1,315 yards. Moses spent the summers of 1990 and 1993 in the camps of the NFL's Los Angeles Raiders and Seattle Seahawks in a coaching intern program.

During his 16-year tenure as a coach, Moses has had six of his running backs rush for 1,000 yards. He was most recently credited with the emergence of tailback Karim Abdul Jabbar, the leading rusher in the Pac-10 and ninth in the NCAA in 1995. The talented junior rushed for a school record 1,571 yards, a UCLA record, and had three straight 200-yard rushing games. Other players he coached at UCLA included Kevin Williams, who led the Pac-10 in rushing in 1991, Kevin Smith, a 1992 draftee of the Los Angeles Raiders and Maury Toy, a fifth-round pick of the Indianapolis Colts.

Moses lettered four seasons (1973, '74, '76 and '77) at Washington, starting at cornerback in '76 and '77 and intercepting seven passes his final two seasons. He helped the Huskies to the 1978 Rose Bowl, where they defeated Michigan, 27-20. Moses graduated from Washington in 1977 with a degree in political science. He spent six months out of football when he was hired by the FBI to train as an agent.

Moses was born in Newgulf, Texas. He and his wife, Rosalind, have two daughters, Valerie (16) and Kimberly (11).

Scott Pelluer

Roverbacks and Whip Linebackers Coach

Former Washington State standout linebacker Scott Pelluer is in his third year coaching Washington's roverbacks and whip linebackers.

This fall, the effervescent Pelluer will be faced with the challenge of replacing last year's whip linebacker, Jerry Jensen. A first-team All-Pac-10 performer, he was drafted by the Carolina Panthers in the fifth round of the 1998 NFL draft.

Washington's starting roverback, Nigel Burton, returns as a senior captain in 1998. Burton is a two-time Region VIII Academic All-American and a member of the NCAA's national student-athlete advisory council.

Pelluer spent three seasons at Northern Arizona as the defensive coordinator and linebackers coach before joining the Husky staff in 1996. Under his direction, the Lumberjacks developed a dominating defense that ended the 1995 season ranked No. 1 in every defensive category in the Big Sky Conference. Also nationally ranked in several areas, Northern Arizona's defense ended the 1995 season giving up an average of 14.8 points per game

-- the lowest total in the Big Sky Conference since the 1978 season.

Pelluer is a familiar name in the Northwest. A 1981 graduate of Washington State, he was a four-year starter at outside linebacker for the Cougars and earned honorable mention All-Pac-10 honors his senior season. He was selected to play in the East-West Shrine Game. He finished his career with 240 tackles, including 180 solo tackles. His brother, Steve, was Washington's starting quarterback from 1981-83, earning Pac-10 offensive player of the year honors in 1983. Arnie, his youngest brother, played linebacker at Stanford from 1984-87.

Prior to his arrival at Northern Arizona, Pelluer coached linebackers and was the recruiting coordinator at Boise State from 1987-92. Pelluer played six years professionally for the New Orleans Saints. He began his NFL career as a fourth-round draft choice of the Dallas Cowboys in 1981. The Saints picked up Pelluer on waivers in 1981.

While in New Orleans, Pelluer played in 65 games. He also participated in many community activities, organizing the "Winning Touch" football camp that raised money for the Louisiana Special Olympics. He also served on the board of directors for the Ronald McDonald House for four years. Pelluer is a member of the American Football Coaches Association.

Pelluer and his wife, Kimberly, are the parents of three sons, Tyler (11), Cooper (6), Peyton (3) and one daughter, Jordan (9).

Graduate Assistant Coaches

Keith Murphy Graduate Assistant -- Offense (Second Year)

Keith Murphy is in his second season as a graduate assistant coach at Washington after serving as a manager in 1996. Murphy, a four-year veteran of the Husky team, opted not to play in 1996 and to begin a career in coaching. He works primarily with the offense and special teams.

Murphy, who originally walked onto the Husky program, was one of nine players in 1994 to be awarded a scholarship. He appeared in two games as a freshman and three as a sophomore.

A native of Seattle, Murphy was born July 7, 1974. He earned all-league honors as a senior at Mt. Rainier High School as a defensive back and place kicker. His team reached the King Bowl when he was a junior and finished with a 10-3 record. Murphy also lettered in track, soccer and basketball.

Murphy graduated from Washington in 1997 with a degree in psychology.

Ikaika Malloe Graduate Assistant -- Defense (First Year)

Ikaika Malloe is in his first season as a graduate assistant coach on the Washington staff. Last year he served as a manager while completing his undergraduate degree. From 1993-96 Malloe was a four-time letterwinner as a whip linebacker at Washington. He works primarily with the Husky defense.

A native of Waimanalo, Hawaii, Malloe earned a reputation during his playing career as being the hardest hitter on the team. As a junior in 1995, he started all 11 games, six times at whip linebacker and five times at roverback. He led Washington that season with four interceptions. He was awarded a scholarship that season and for his senior season.

A regular on Washington's special teams during his career, Malloe was voted the Bob Jarvis "Most Inspirational Walkon" following his freshman season in 1993.

An all-state free safety at Hawaii's Kamehameha High School, Malloe earned his undergraduate degree in sociology.

The University of Washington

Founded in 1861, the University of Washington is one of the foremost institutions of higher education in the nation, richly combining its research, instructional and public service missions.

Its internationally acclaimed faculty includes four Nobel Laureates and the winner of the 1990 National Book Award for Fiction. Washington is part of an elite group of research universities whose contributions to American life are unique because they generate the basic knowledge upon which practical innovations are based.

The UW student body on the Seattle campus totals about 34,000, with an undergraduate enrollment of approximately 25,000 and a graduate enrollment of approximately 9,000. The UW also has campuses in Bothell and Tacoma, designed primarily for upper division (junior and senior) undergraduates. Total enrollment at these campuses is about 2,000.

For more than 25 years, the university has been among the country's top five institutions in the dollar value of federal research grants and contracts awarded to its faculty. Total grant and contract activity for 1997 exceeded $500 million. More than 80 percent of the university's grant and contract funds come from federal agencies. Research contributes directly to the educational goals of graduate and professional students, as well as to those of undergraduates.

Instruction and research at Washington are supported by a library system that is one of the most extensive in the nation, consisting of five major units and 18 branches, as well as libraries at UW Tacoma and UW Bothell, together housing more than five million volumes. In addition to offering instruction in more than 100 academic disciplines, the university offers a spectrum of continuing education courses that advance technical and professional skills and provide opportunities for personal growth and enrichment.

Washington has 16 major schools and colleges:

Architecture and Urban Planning, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Dentistry, Education, Engineering, Forest Resources, The Graduate School, Law, Medicine, Nursing, Ocean and Fishery Sciences, Pharmacy, Public Affairs, Public Health and Community Medicine, and Social Work.

About 90 percent of the University's undergraduate students are state residents, although instructional programs draw students from every region of the country and overseas. Most freshmen entering Washington are in the top third of their high school graduating classes.

Beyond its academic and service missions, the UW has a strong economic impact on Washington and the Pacific Northwest. With about 17,000 employees, Washington is the second largest employer in King County. Washington operates the University of Washington Medical Center and Harborview Medical Center, which annually provide more than 200,000 days of patient care and record more than 300,000 visits to their outpatient clinics.

Washington also plays a critical role in attracting new business to the region. It provides these, and established businesses, with a steady stream of well-educated graduates and with highly skilled faculty members who assist business and industry in a variety of ways.

The University of Washington in Seattle is located on 703 acres in the city's northeast residential area, a beautiful setting on the shore of Lake Washington and Portage Bay. The majestic Cascade Mountains can be seen to the east, while the western view includes downtown Seattle and Lake Union. The combination of this spectacular setting with buildings in both neo-Gothic and modern styles gives the campus a distinctive aura.

Richard L. McCormick President

Richard L. McCormick is the 28th president of the University of Washington. He received a bachelor's degree from Amherst College and his Ph.D. in history from Yale. McCormick's teaching career began at Rutgers University in 1976. From 1987 to 1989, he chaired the history department at Rutgers and from 1989 to 1992 was dean of arts and sciences there. From 1992 to 1995, McCormick served as provost and vice chancellor for academic affairs at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Almost immediately upon taking office as UW president in September 1995, McCormick set out to tour the state, meeting with alumni, political leaders, students and citizens. He said at the time, "I think it is essential to get out and hear from everyone who has ties to the UW."

McCormick has continued to fulfill a pledge that he made upon assuming the presidency—to be visible, accessible and approachable. His e-mail address is public and he responds personally to all his messages; he is a frequent speaker at civic organizations, community groups and campus events; and he has inaugurated a series of Community Conversations around the state, inviting citizens to ask him questions and to express their thoughts concerning how the University of Washington can better meet their needs.

In addition to building stronger links with the general public, McCormick has been energetic in helping unite the higher education community so that it can speak more frequently with one voice about the challenges facing the state in providing affordable access to high quality education. These educational partnerships have been extended to the K-12 system, as the UW works to be a part of improving education at all levels.

Within the University itself, McCormick has articulated several goals, including more closely aligning the fundamental missions of teaching and research; strengthening the arts, humanities and social sciences; and developing the UW into a true three-campus university, with each campus continuing to stress its unique strengths.

McCormick believes in a strategic approach to solving problems. One example is the University Initiatives Fund, a program of financial reallocation designed to enable the University to take advantage of new opportunities that the normal budgeting process does not allow. The UIF process will redirect $8 million over its first two years, permitting the establishment of new activities such as an undergraduate major in neurobiology and the revitalization of ongoing programs such as the Walter Chapin Simpson Center for the Humanities.

McCormick believes that internal and external forces are leading to fundamental change in higher education. "We must assume responsibility for change," he says, "and position the University to take even greater advantage of its unique strengths as it enters the new century."

McCormick is married to professor of history Suzanne Lebsock. They have two children, Betsy and Michael.

Seattle The Emerald City

First-time visitors are astonished at the wealth of natural beauty in and around Seattle. Literally touching the city's boundaries are thousands of square miles of evergreen forest and hundreds of miles of salt and freshwater shoreline. With this wealth of nature at their doorstep, both Seattleites and visitors concentrate much of their recreation in the outdoors.

Bracketed east and west by freshwater Lake Washington and saltwater Puget Sound, the city occupies a north-south corridor, slender at the waist and embracing numerous hills. On a clear day, the views of the mountains and water are spectacular.

Most of Seattle's attractions are clustered in pedestrian-scale sections, best savored on foot. Central business district buses are free and the Monorail speeds quickly between downtown and the Seattle Center.

Crown jewel of Seattle's attractions is the Seattle Center, the 74-acre legacy of the 1962 World's Fair. Its distinctive 605-foot Space Needle is the city's leading landmark and eight million people visit annually. From its lofty observation deck, there's a 360-degree view of the city and Puget Sound, backdropped by the snowcapped Cascade Range to the east and the Olympic Mountains to the west.

Seattle Center is enjoyable in any season but on weekends and fairweather days between April and October, it's a beehive of activity with outdoor concerts, amusement park attractions, impromptu performances and special events.

Downtown, just two blocks uphill from the water, Pike Place Market is one of the last authentic farmer's markets in the country. A walk through the colorful old market becomes truly a sensory experience as vendors hawk their wares in a dozen different languages; coffee, tea and spice shops assail you with their pungent odors; and seemingly limitless heaps of fresh fruit, vegetables and seafood stretch away on every hand.

Pioneer Square, the city's preserved historic district, lies adjacent to the southern end of the downtown waterfront. Here the city has its roots, centered around the original Skid Road (Yesler Way), a road used to skid timber down from the hills to Elliott Bay.

Many of the fine old brick and sandstone buildings have been painstakingly restored in recent years and a half-dozen square blocks of the district offer excellent shopping and dining as well as historic ambience. The Underground Tours that go beneath the current-day Pioneer Square cobblestones provide a glimpse of Seattle, circa 1890.

Seattle's strong maritime environment comes into sharp focus at Fisherman's Terminal, home of hundreds of purse seiners and gill net boats. Residents often take time to stroll along the piers, watch fishermen mending their nets and admire the sturdy boats that take these men to sea.

Getting out on the water is easy. The cheapest way is to board one of the big green and white Washington State Ferries for a ride across the Sound to Bremerton (55 minutes each way) or Bainbridge Island (30 minutes each way). Both ferries move through the bustling harbor traffic, offer a look at the islands and residential shorelines across Puget Sound and provide stunning views of the city skyline and waterfront from Elliott Bay.

Seattle is famous for its fresh seafood, especially local clams, oysters, salmon, halibut and crab. The best seafood restaurants also have water views where you can sit beside Puget Sound, Lake Union or Lake Washington and watch the marine traffic. But, Seattle dining is much more than seafood. Large Scandinavian and Oriental populations add exotic fares of those regions to Seattle menus. Visitors can also partake of French, German, Italian, Greek, Polynesian, Thai and a dozen other cuisines.

Barbara Hedges Director of Athletics

There is a chalkboard in Barbara Hedges' office filled with inspirational messages, quotations and philosophies provided by her staff and visitors. One of her passages reads, "Hope is not a strategy." It is very appropriate. The successes for Washington's athletic programs during Hedges' tenure have been forged in hard-work, planning and a commitment to excellence, not just hope.

The past two years are dramatic proof that Hedges' approach to building Washington's overall athletic program into one of the best in the country have been successful. Many of those successes have not been measured in wins and losses.

Washington finished eighth in last year's Sears Director's Cup Standings, the highest showing ever in the poll that measures overall athletic excellence. The Husky women's crew team won the NCAA Championship for the second consecutive year and freshman sprinter Ja'Warren Hooker won an NCAA individual title at the Indoor Track Championships.

A total of 21 of Washington's 23 teams competed in postseason competition. The Huskies had 35 student-athletes honored as All-Americans, 63 were all-conference selections and 11 were recognized as all-region or all-district. The Huskies were equally as impressive in the classroom. A total of five student-athletes were named Academic All-Americans and 77 were named to conference All-Academic squads.

Hedges' efforts in gender-equity have made Washington one of the national leaders in providing equal opportunities for both male and female student-athletes. In December of 1997, The Chronicle of Higher Education cited Washington as "the only Division I-A institution with an undergraduate enrollment that was at least 50 percent female to have achieved substantial proportionality in both scholarships and participation."

The future looks even brighter on the Husky athletic scene. A capital improvements project, "The Campaign for the Student-Athlete," is currently underway. When it is finished, there will be $70 million in improvements to the campus athletic facilities.

Last year the Husky soccer and baseball teams competed in new on-campus fields. Those venues will have stadiums, lights and scoreboards added during the course of the fundraising campaign. The impact of those new fields was felt immediately. The Husky women's soccer team drew the seventh highest attendance in the nation and the UW baseball team, playing on a new AstroTurf infield, missed only four hours of practice during the course of its entire season due to weather.

Next March Hec Edmundson Pavilion will undergo a massive $38 million, 18-month renovation. At the same time construction will begin on a new $16 million indoor practice facility. Washington's shellhouse, which houses the Student Athlete Services, is also scheduled to undergo upgrades.

The Husky program has been on the fast track since Hedges' arrival in 1991. One of Washington's greatest feats came just months after she took over the UW program when the Husky football team was crowned national champions after posting a perfect 12-0 record and making its third consecutive trip to the Rose Bowl in 1992.

More important than just championships, under Hedges' guidance Washington has become one of the national leaders in participation for student-athletes and compliance. Last season 750 student-athletes competed for Husky teams — the most in the Pac-10.

Hedges is similarly committed to a high level of academic achievement among Washington's student-athlete population. To this end, she has instituted a number of progressive measures — such as the Total Student-Athlete program devoted to leadership training, mentor programs and career nights — that she hopes will aid the student-athletes in more easily achieving all their non-athletic goals. The University's "U-Wired" program is unique in the nation, allowing student-athletes access to laptop computers to stay in touch with their classes while on the road competing.

Hedges is no stranger to the responsibilities of running nationally prominent athletic programs. In 1985, she assumed responsibility for the daily operation of 17 men's and women's sports, including the administration of a $4 million budget, as an associate athletic director at the University of Southern California. In June of 1989, Hedges was promoted to senior associate director of athletics at USC.

She joined the USC staff in 1973 when she was appointed associate athletic director in charge of USC's nine women's sports. Under her guidance, USC built a winning tradition for its women's sports programs that reflected a commitment to high standards of athletic and academic excellence. During her tenure, 13 USC women's teams won national championships and 68 women earned individual national titles. More than 150 Trojan women were honored as All-Americans and 36 athletes reached the Olympic ranks.

Since 1985, when she assumed the administrative responsibility for eight men's sports, USC earned three more national championships and 12 individual titles. More than 100 USC men garnered All-American acclaim and 10 were Olympians during her tenure.

She took the welfare of her student-athletes to heart through her membership on the President's Task Force to Review Student-Athlete Academic Services, the USC Student-Athlete Review Task Force and the USC Student-Athlete Drug Testing Review Committee.

Her commitment to the field of college athletics makes her a familiar name on the national scene as well. Hedges has served as president of the Council of Collegiate Women Athletic Administrators and the Western Collegiate Athletic Association and also served a term as president of the Division I-A Women's Athletic Administrators. She chaired the NCAA Women's Tennis Committee for eight years and the NCAA Division I Men's and Women's Tennis Committee in 1988. She was one of a three-member NCAA Special Television Committee to negotiate the NCAA rights for all sports except football and basketball with ESPN, ABC, CBS and international television.

In 1996-97 she was the first woman to serve as president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics and in 1998 she was named the first woman to the Board of Directors for the National Football Foundation. She is also the chair of the NCAA Honors Committee, is on the executive committee of the Division I-A Athletic Directors' Association and on the Blue Ribbon Task Force for College Football USA.

Hedges is also experienced with the administration of championship events. She served as tournament director for the 1995 NCAA Men's Final Four, the 1993 NCAA Men's Basketball West Regional and the 1984 West Regional Women's Basketball Championship. Hedges was instrumental in bringing the 1992 Division I Women's Final Four to Los Angeles. At USC, she was administratively responsible for the 1988 NCAA Division I Men's Golf Championship and the 1990 Division I Men's Tennis Championship.

Before going to Southern California in 1973, Hedges coached gymnastics and taught physical education at the University of Arizona. During her five years with the Wildcats, Hedges coached her team to three conference championships and assisted in integrating women's athletic programs into the University's athletic structure. She developed a community education program for high school students in the area, helping them become more knowledgeable about Arizona's athletic programs.

From 1967-68, Hedges coached and taught gymnastics at Carey Junior High School in Cheyenne, Wyoming. As part of her responsibilities, she established a gymnastics program for the entire school system, including the training of student-athletes, judges and meet officials. She also headed fund-raising efforts to acquire equipment for the program and organized a parents' support group.

Hedges began her career as the head of the West Denver High School girls physical education department. Her responsibilities included coaching and teaching gymnastics, tennis and coordinating various fund-raising efforts.

Hedges received her bachelor's degree in physical education from Arizona State University in 1963 where she was honored as the university's outstanding physical education major while also being named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. She received her master's from the University of Arizona in 1971.

Hedges was born on August 23, 1937, in Glendale, Arizona. She and her husband, John, have two grown children, Mark and Gregg.

Marie Tuite Senior Associate Athletic Director

Marie Tuite enters her fifth year as Senior Associate Athletic Director for Olympic Sports in 1998. She is Washington's Senior Woman Administrator. During her first four years at Washington, the Huskies have enjoyed a tremendous amount of success. Last year 21 of Washington's 23 programs were represented in postseason play. Washington finished eighth in the annual Sears Cup voting after an 11th-place finish in 1997. In both of the past two seasons the Huskies have won an NCAA team championship – the first time that has occurred in the history of the program.

Since her arrival at Washington, the Huskies have steadily improved in postseason appearances. In 1994-95, 15 of Washington's teams were represented in postseason competition. That number rose to 17 in 1995-96. In 1996-97 all 23 programs qualified or sent representatives to postseason play. Tuite also oversees the Husky training room and strength and conditioning operations.

Tuite, a 44-year-old native of Livonia, Mich., joined the Husky staff after serving as the assistant director of championships for the National Collegiate Athletic Association since 1989. She was a liaison for the NCAA's sports committees in the administration and conduct of various championships. Her duties included working with host institutions, coordinating corporate sponsor programs, merchandising and promotions.

During her tenure at the NCAA, Tuite oversaw the administration of the Division I men's soccer championship, the Division I men's volleyball championship, the Division I women's gymnastics championship, the Division I women's softball College World Series and the 40-team Division III men's basketball championship. She also worked with the NCAA Division I women's lacrosse championship and the Division I swimming and diving championship.

Tuite is no stranger to the Pac-10 Conference. She served as the assistant women's athletic director at California from 1984-89. Her responsibilities included managing, developing and controlling fiscal policies for the department; supervising capital construction projects; management of home athletic events; supervision of the business office and support staff and insuring department compliance with university, NCAA and conference policies and procedures.

Tuite is currently serving on the NCAA Championship Cabinet.

As director of athletic programs and activities at Alma College (Mich.) from 1981-84, Tuite coordinated 18 intercollegiate programs for men and women. Prior to entering the administrative side of intercollegiate athletics, Tuite held several coaching and teaching positions.

A 1975 graduate of Central Michigan with a bachelor of science in physical education, Tuite lettered for the Chippewas in basketball and field hockey. In 1981 she earned her master of arts degree in athletic administration from Central Michigan. Tuite was inducted into the Central Michigan Hall of Fame in 1990.

Gary Barta Senior Associate Athletic Director

Gary Barta is in his third year year as a Senior Associate Athletic Director for External Affairs at Washington. Barta joined the Husky staff in November of 1996. His responsibilities include the management of the external relations program, including development, marketing and promotions, ticket operations, external and community relations and media relations for the department of intercollegiate athletics. He also serves as a member of the development cabinet of the Vice President for Development.

Barta is spearheading Washington's "Campaign for the Student-Athlete," which will assist in funding $70 million in capital improvements. Barta is coordinating funding efforts to build a new soccer/baseball complex, renovate Hec Edmundson Pavilion, construct a new, multi-purpose indoor practice facility and renovate the Conibear Shellhouse.

A native of Minneapolis, Minn., Barta served as the director of athletic development and external affairs at the University of Northern Iowa for six years before coming to Washington. Barta began his career in fund development at North Dakota State from 1988-90. During that same time he was also a sportscaster for WDAY Radio/Television in Fargo.

Barta earned his bachelor of science degree in mass communication from North Dakota State in 1987. He was an option quarterback for the Bison football squad that won Division II NCAA national championships in 1983, '85 and '86.

He and his wife, Connie, live in Lynnwood and have a son, Luke.

Ralph Bayard Senior Associate Athletic Director

Ralph Bayard begins his sixth year as the Huskies' Senior Associate Athletic Director for compliance and academics. As director for compliance, Bayard shares the responsibility with Barbara Hedges for ensuring that the department of intercollegiate athletics is in full compliance with all applicable University, State of Washington, Pacific-10 Conference, and NCAA rules, regulations, and policies that govern intercollegiate athletics.

Bayard oversees Student Athlete Academic Services. He also oversees recruiting, camps and clinics, the summer jobs program, the Total Student-Athlete Program and drug education. He is a member of the National Association of College Directors of Athletics.

Bayard joined the Husky staff in 1993 after spending 16 years with the Washington Interscholastic Activities Association. He joined the WIAA in 1977 and served two years as public relations director and media coordinator. He then supervised tournament promotion, corporate sponsorships and the budget before being named the Associate Executive Director in 1987.

A 1971 Washington graduate with a degree in communications, Bayard earned his master's in communications from UW in 1977 and is currently working towards his doctorate in Educational Leadership and Policy Studies. He was a two-year standout wide receiver for the Husky football team after transferring from San Francisco City College. Following his graduation Bayard worked as the assistant news and public affairs director at KUOW Radio. He worked for one year as a news editor at KIRO Radio from 1976-77 before starting his career at the WIAA.

The 49-year-old Bayard and his wife, Idell, have two sons — Joseph (19) and Andre (12).

Ken Winstead Associate Athletic Director

Ken Winstead was named Washington's Associate Director for Fund Development in May. Winstead replaces Bob Stull, who was named athletics director at UTEP in February.

As associate director, Winstead oversees operations of the Tyee Development Office and the Husky Band. He assists senior associate director Gary Barta in fundraising opportunities and capital development. He also oversees the activities of Washington's 7,000-member Tyee Club.

Winstead spent the past year as Director of Development for USA Wrestling, where he coordinated a $10 million major gift campaign. He was associate athletics director at the University of Houston from 1994 to 1997, and oversaw the department's development, marketing, broadcasting and sports information departments.

Winstead was an associate athletics director at Oregon from 1986 to 1993 and oversaw external operations. He created the Oregon Sports Network as well as working with capital improvements and fundraising efforts. Winstead was also an assistant athletics director for development at Georgia Southern from 1982 to 1986.

He earned his undergraduate and master's degrees from Ohio University.

The 40-year-old Winstead and his wife, Robin, have one child, Alex (five)

Paul King Associate Athletic Director for Business and Finance

Paul King is in his fourth year overseeing the business and financial affairs of the athletic department. He is responsible for the overall financial management of all athletic programs, involving policy making, strategic planning, financial management, staff and organizational development. He is the department's chief operating officer and chief financial officer.

King supervises the business office, personnel and payroll, travel, computer systems, the equipment and laundry operation, the video operations department and handles all contract and insurance matters for the department.

Beginning his 15th year overall at Washington, King previously worked as the department's business manager. King joined the Husky staff as an accountant in the business office.

King's previous business experience is in the airfreight and woodstove industries.

A 45-year old native of Minneapolis, Minn., King received his bachelor's degree in accounting from the University of Minnesota. He and his wife, Deborah, have four children, April (16), Andrea (15), Benjamin (14) and Clayton (seven).

Chip Lydum Assistant Athletic Director for Facilities and Events

Chip Lydum is in his fifth year as the assistant athletic director for facilities and event management and 14th overall at Washington. Prior to being appointed to the position in September, 1994, he served for three years as the assistant to the athletic director. In addition to overseeing the day-to-day operation of Washington's athletic facilities, Lydum helps to coordinate the department's capital projects planning, maintenance and facilities scheduling.

Lydum began his career at Washington as an assistant sports information director from 1984-91. He coordinated all media relations for the men's basketball team, as well as providing sports information assistance for each of Washington's other sports. During that time, Lydum also played a major role in the department's media relations planning and execution for various bowl games and NCAA championship events as well as serving as venue press chief for the Goodwill Games volleyball and wrestling competition in 1990.

Lydum has been honored several times by the College Sports Information Director's of America (CoSIDA) for his writing, winning Best in the District honors in 1985 and 1986.

The 40-year-old Seattle native received his bachelor's degree in journalism from Washington in 1984 after serving in the United States Marine Corps. He is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics and is a graduate of the Sports Management Institute.

Robert Aronson Faculty Athletic Representative

Robert Aronson is in his sixth year as Washington's Faculty Athletic Representative, responsible for overseeing the relationship between the University and the athletic department. Aronson is a professor of law.

Aronson has been a UW faculty member since 1975. He has taught courses in civil procedure, criminal law, evidence, legal research and professional responsibility. He has written six books and numerous journal articles, and is recognized as a national expert in legal and judicial ethics. He was chair of the Faculty Senate in 1987-88, and served on the Advisory Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics from 1988-91.

Aronson received a bachelor's degree with honors from the University of Virginia in 1969, and his juris doctor cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania in 1973. He was a two-sport athlete, lacrosse and soccer, while at Virginia, and made the ACC honor roll for his academic and athletic achievements.

Aronson and his wife, Terri, have two daughters, Tamara (10) and Jennifer (eight).

Myles Corrigan Assistant to the Athletic Director Football Operations

Myles Corrigan is in his fifth year as the Assistant to the Athletic Director and overseeing football operations. Corrigan serves as a liaison between the Husky football coaching and administrative staffs regarding academic services, team travel and community outreach efforts. He directs the staff and athlete speakers bureau, oversees football alumni relations, including the Legends Program, boat moorage, the Legends Salute during football games and athletic parking, and coordinates the Husky Host recruiting organization for all sports.

Corrigan's Legends program has quickly grown to include several hundred former Washington student-athletes. Each spring the group meets on campus for a family luncheon centered around the Spring football game.

Corrigan was named to the position in February of 1994 after retiring from coaching after suffering a dissected aorta during the 1993 California game. Corrigan served seven years as an assistant coach at Washington.

Corrigan earned a bachelor's degree in speech and English from Cal State Northridge in 1968. From there he served as an assistant and head high school coach at five different California high schools along with being an athletic director before becoming offensive coordinator at Puget Sound in 1981. He stayed at UPS until 1986 when he became a graduate assistant at Washington until being hired as an assistant coach. Corrigan earned a masters degree in education from the University of San Francisco in 1983 and studied educational administration at the UW from 1986-87. He is a 1996 graduate of the Sports Management Institute.

Corrigan and his wife, Suzanne, have two sons, Brent, who is a junior at the University, and Todd (17).

Jim Daves Assistant Athletic Director for Media Relations

Jim Daves is in his seventh year as the Media Relations Director at Washington, overseeing a full-time staff of four assistants.

During his tenure at Washington, Daves has served as the media coordinator for the 1995 Final Four in Seattle and the 1993 West Regional of the NCAA Men's Basketball Championship. The past two years he has served as a member of the NCAA Communications Committee for the Division I Men's Basketball Final Four.

Prior to joining the Husky staff, Daves was an associate sports information director at Notre Dame from 1986-92. In addition to his responsibilities with football and men's basketball media relations, he was editor of both the football and basketball game programs. His football programs earned best in the nation citations five consecutive years from the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA). Daves has also been the recipient of several CoSIDA national writing awards. He served as the director of communications for the Midwestern Collegiate Conference from 1985-86.

A 36-year-old native of Greensboro, N.C., he received a degree in business administration from North Carolina Charlotte in 1984. He spent four years as a student assistant in the UNCC sports information office, two years as student sports promotions director for UNCC and his senior year as sports editor of The 49er Times, UNCC's student newspaper.

His wife, Patti, is the former public relations director for the United States Gymnastics Federation and the United States Ski Team and currently works for the University's Alumni Association. They have a chocolate lab named Bo who is most spoiled dog in the world.

Leigh Baker Ticketing Director

Leigh Baker is in her second year as the Ticket Director at Washington. She is responsible for all aspects of ticketing, including management, allocations and financial accountability. She oversees football season ticket sales that annually exceed 67,000, as well as sales for 11 other Husky sports.

Baker joined the Washington staff after serving as the Ticket Operations Director for the Seattle Supersonics from 1995-97. As director, she helped manage the Sonics' move into Key Arena, and was in charge of all ticketing during the Sonics' run to the 1996 NBA Finals.

Prior to taking over the ticket operation for the Sonics, Baker was the Ticket Manager for the San Antonio Spurs from 1993-94. She originally joined the Spurs' ticket staff in 1992. Her background in collegiate athletics includes a one-year stint at Texas A&M as a ticket office assistant. She is an active member of the College Athletic Business Management Association and the International Ticketing Association.

Baker graduated from Texas A&M in 1990 with a b.a. in history. She is from Houston, where her father, Dale Baker, is an assistant football coach at Aldine High School.

Leslie Wurzberger Marketing and Promotions Director

Leslie Wurzberger (formerly Keast) is in her second year as Washington's Director of Marketing and Promotions. She took over the position in December of 1996 after spending the previous five years as the assistant director of Olympic Sports at Washington.

In her new role, Wurzberger oversees the marketing, advertising, promotions and ticket and corporate partnership sales efforts for the Huskies' 23 athletic programs. She is responsible for all gameday special events and promotions, including entertainment, contests, premium giveaways and presentations.

She oversees the Husky Corporate Partnership Program, the Husky Mascot Team, the Group Tickets Program and the Washington Marketing Internship Program comprised of eight students working year-long to market and promote Husky athletics.

As assistant director of Olympic Sports, Wurzberger was responsible for the coordination and planning of all home regular season and special events for 23 men's and women's sports. She was also responsible for the development and implementation of marketing and promotional plans for selected Olympic sports.

A 1990 Washington graduate, Wurzberger came to UW after a one-year internship with the public affairs office at the NCAA. She assisted in the administration of inquiries from the news media, promotion of NCAA championships, NCAA Productions, marketing, licensing and corporate sponsorships, collegiate records and statistics and the Association's honors program.

Wurzberger graduated from Washington with bachelor's degrees in speech communication and business administration. As a student, she served as chairman of the Washington Student Athletic Board and worked for two years as a student assistant in the media relations office. She received her master's of science degree in sport management in 1992, from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, where she worked as a graduate assistant in sports information.

Wurzberger is active in a number of community organizations and was the chairman for the 1996 University of Washington Combined Fund Drive campaign. She is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Women Athletic Administrators, the National Association of Collegiate Marketing Administrators, the Women's Sports Foundation and the National Association of Collegiate Directors for Athletics.

She is married to Dean Wurzberger, Washington's men's soccer coach. They reside in Bothell.

Joanne MacEachran Director of Student-Athlete Academic Services

Joanne MacEachran is in her second year of directing Washington's Student-Athlete Academic Services department. MacEachran supervises the SAAS staff that includes academic advisors, an eligibility coordinator, financial aid coordinator, tutors, assistant director and life skills coordinator.

MacEachran works with the Husky coaching staff to develop specific academic support services and to improve academic advising and tutorial services. She serves as the department's liaison with faculty, the School of Education and other student support units on campus.

MacEachran came to Washington in 1997 after working for eight years as the director of the College Skills Center and Summer Seminar program at New England College (N.H.). She was also an Associate Professor of Special Education at New England College. Prior to taking over as the program's director, she worked as the associate director from 1982-89. She was an assistant professor of special education at New England College from 1976-82. MacEachran's background in education also includes stints as a lecturer at both New England College and Notre Dame College (N.H.).

MacEachran earned her doctorate in human development/reading and learning disabilities from Harvard in 1989. She graduated with a master's from Indiana in 1967 in British literature and linguistics. She attended Keene State (N.H.) for her undergraduate degree in education.

Rick Huegli Head Strength and Conditioning Coach

Rick Huegli is now in his 18th year as the head strength and conditioning coach. Huegli is responsible for directing the strength staff and coordinating training programs for each of Washington's 23 intercollegiate sports, while managing the weight room and handling the budget.

Huegli joined the Washington staff in 1981 after two years as the head strength coach at Wake Forest. He received his master's degree in education from Bowling Green in 1977, after receiving his bachelor's degree from Western Michigan in '74.

Following his graduation from Western Michigan, Huegli was a teacher and coach at Bishop Noll Institute in Hammond, Ind. from 1974-76. He was a graduate assistant football coach at Bowling Green while earning his master's degree, and moved on to coach football at Findlay College in '77.

The 46-year-old native of Livonia, Mich., was honored in 1992 as the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Professional of the Year by the National Strength and Conditioning Association, for which he is an active member. Huegli is also active in the community, speaking frequently to schools and organizations.

Huegli and his wife, Gail, have two daughters, Jordan (eight) and Carlin (five).

Tony Piro Head Equipment Manager

Tony Piro begins his 17th year in the Husky equipment room, and his 11th as the head equipment manager, coordinating equipment needs for Washington's 23-sport program. Piro's responsibilities include the management of three equipment rooms, laundry needs and overseeing a staff of seven full-time assistants and a staff of students.

A former student football manager, Piro received his bachelor's degree in political science from Washington in 1982. His professional involvement includes certified membership in the Athletic Equipment Managers Association.

The 40-year-old Seattle native and his wife, Sherry, have two children, Jennifer (12) and Matthew (nine).

Moe Herman Video Operations Manager

Moe Herman begins his 10th year as the Huskies' video operations manager, a position he has held since its inception in 1989 when the Pac-10 changed from film to video as its mode of scouting exchange. Herman is responsible for directing and managing the audio/visual media division of the athletic department, which serves every intercollegiate sport and support service.

Herman began working in the University's health sciences television department in 1974, before moving over to the athletic department in 1978 as a sports media producer, while also working in studio and remote production at KCTS. Herman then spent several years at local broadcast television stations, working as a studio engineer at KIRO for three years and as a studio lighting director and broadcast television engineer at KOMO for four years. After two years in video production and consulting at Halcyon Productions, Herman returned to the athletic department in 1989 to develop the video operations program.

A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., he earned his bachelor's degree in sociology from Pittsburgh and attended graduate school at Washington. He is a member of the Collegiate Sports Video Association and has been honored by IDEA for sports video production.

Herman and his wife Renee have three children, Seth (16), Rachel (13) and Alana (10). He is a frequent classroom volunteer at Wedgewood Elementary School and has chaired the PTA Enrichment Program.

Dennis Sealey Head Athletic Trainer

Dennis Sealey begins his 21st year as Washington's head athletic trainer, responsible for coordinating and administering medical service and health care for over 700 Husky athletes competing in 23 intercollegiate sports.

Sealey also supervises a staff of seven assistant trainers and 12 student assistant trainers, who provide medical care and attention to as many as 350 athletes per day in two separate training rooms in the athletic department.

Sealey began his career at Washington in 1972 as an assistant trainer, then spent five years at Nebraska as an instructor and athletic trainer/physical therapist. He returned to Washington in 1978 to assume his current post.

A native of Stromsburg, Neb., Sealey received his bachelor's degree in biology from Wayne State in 1970 and a master's in physical education from Nebraska in 1977. He also holds a certification degree in physical therapy from Iowa and was certified as an athletic trainer in 1974.

Sealey is active in several professional organizations, holding membership in the American Physical Therapy Association and National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA). He is a past president of the Northwest Athletic Association and the NATA board of directors. Sealey also served as chairman of the 1982 National Athletic Trainers Association Convention in Seattle and won the Eddie Wojewicki Award in 1974 for superior performance on the NATA certification exam.

In 1996 he was recognized by his peers as one of eight collegiate athletic trainers to receive the Most Distinguished Athletic Trainer Award.

Steve Bramwell Team Physician

Steve Bramwell begins his 20th season as the head physician for the Washington football team. A former standout football player for the Huskies, Bramwell received his M.D. with honors from Washington in 1971, after receiving his bachelor's degree in economics in '67. While attending Washington, Bramwell was honored with the Harkins Surgery Award, the UW Pediatrics Award and the UW Psychiatry Award.

Bramwell began his work in the field as an intern at Strong Memorial Hospital at the Univ. of Rochester in Rochester, N.Y. (1971-72). He then came back to Washington for his residency training in orthopedic surgery from '72-'76.

A native of Salt Lake City, Bramwell was appointed Assistant Professor of Orthopedic Surgery at the UW School of Medicine in 1977 and was also Director of the UW Department of Sports Medicine. He served in both capacities until starting a private practice in 1981.

On the gridiron, Bramwell was a three-year letterman halfback ('63-'65) and excelled as a kick returner. He still holds the Husky career record for kickoff returns (54 for 1,443 yards and a 26.7 average) and is second on the career punt return list (59 for 704 yards and an 11.9 average) as well as ranking 10th on Washington's list of career all-purpose yards (2,827).

His career kick return yardage and his combined kick and punt return yardage both established NCAA records upon his graduation. He was a first team Academic All-America choice in 1964 by the College Sports Information Director's of America (CoSIDA), and was inducted in May 1989 into the CoSIDA/GTE Academic All-America Hall of Fame as a member of Hall's second class of inductees.

Bramwell and his wife, Lynda, have five children.

Brad McDavid Band Director

Brad McDavid is in his fifth year as Director of the famed University of Washington Husky Marching Band. His duties with the band include principal field conductor, show coordinator, and administrator. In addition to serving as administrative coordinator of one of the most comprehensive athletic band programs in the country, McDavid also holds a lecturer position within the UW School of Music and is principal conductor of the University's Symphonic Band.

A native of Centerburg, Ohio, McDavid has served as Director of Bands at Licking Heights High School in Summit Station, Ohio, and Tempe High School in Tempe, Arizona. He received his Bachelors Degree in Music Education from Ohio State University in 1985 and his Master of Music Degree from Arizona State University in 1990. McDavid has also completed additional graduate studies while working with the Purdue University Band Department.

Most recently McDavid held the position of Graduate Associate Conductor at The Ohio State University School of Music while completing work on his Ph. D. in Music Education.

Washington 42, Brigham Young 20 September 6 Cougar Stadium

Washington opened the 1997 season in impressive fashion by handing the 19th-ranked Cougars a 42-20 loss to snap BYU's 12-game winning streak, the longest in the nation at the time.

BYU opened the game with an 80-yard scoring drive, sparked by a 43-yard pass on the Cougars' first play from scrimmage. The Huskies answered with a five-play, 80 yard drive of their own to open the season, capped by a one-yard TD plunge by Maurice Shaw, the first of his two TDs on the day. Washington poured it on before the intermission, scoring two touchdowns in the final three minutes on a run from senior tailback Rashaan Shehee and a 6-yard TD pass from Brock Huard to Fred Coleman. The Huskies came out just as fired up after halftime, scoring touchdowns in their first two possessions of the second half.

That would be more than enough for a

Husky defense that held the Cougars' high-powered offense in check. Washington held BYU to only two rushing yards and 306 passing yards. BYU did not record a first down in four drives during the second quarter and managed one first down in the first 12 minutes of the third quarter.

Washington's offense was clicking on all cylinders. Shehee finished the day with 171 yards rushing on only 12 carries, had one rushing TD and caught a 23-yard touchdown pass. Shehee's rushing total included runs of 65 and 75 yards (third and fourth longest of his career). Huard completed 18 of 23 passes for 285 yards and no interceptions. His favorite target was senior Jerome Pathon, who pulled in career-highs of seven receptions and 163 yards. Senior flanker Fred Coleman tied his career-high with five catches for 65 yards and two touchdowns.

Washington 36, San Diego State 3 September 13 Husky Stadium

Washington used an accurate passing attack and solid defense to defeat the visiting San Diego State Aztecs in its home opener, giving Washington its 12th straight home opening win.

After fumbling on its first possession, Washington settled in with a 64-yard drive capped by a 12-yard scoring toss from Brock Huard to Jerome Pathon. Later in the second quarter, Huard found Fred Coleman for a 44-yard score to give the Huskies a 17-3 lead at halftime.

It was all Washington in the second half as Huard found Pathon again, this time for a 53-yard touchdown mid-way through the third quarter. Washington final touchdown was a 12-yard strike to Reggie Davis late in the final period.

Washington's defense picked up where it left off the week before, holding San Diego State's offense to -7 yards rushing and less than 200 total yards. The defense also posted its first points of the season in the fourth quarter when senior linebacker Jerry Jensen, after recording his first career interception in the second quarter, found SDSU running back Marty Graham in his own endzone for the safety. Lester Towns led Washington's defensive charge, recording 10 tackles. Chris Campbell also turned in a strong performance recording 2.5 tackles for loss. The Huskies had four sacks on their way to recording the largest margin of victory in a home opener since a 56-3 win over Kansas State in 1991.

Brock Huard set personal bests with 313 yards and four touchdowns. Senior Jerome Pathon also notched career bests with eight receptions for 182 yards, including a pair of scores. Pathon became the first UW player to record back-to-back 100-yard receiving games since Mario Bailey in 1991.

Chris Campbell and the Husky defense limited the Aztecs to minus seven rushing yards.

Nebraska 27, Washington 14 September 20 Husky Stadium

Nebraska's powerful rushing attack proved to be too much against a Washington defense that entered the game as the nation's best versus the run. The Huskers' option attack piled up 384 yards rushing, with Ahman Green and Joel Makovicka leading the way with 129 yards rushing apiece, in a 27-14 Husker victory.

After Washington missed a field goal on the opening drive, Nebraska QB Scott Frost ran for 34 and 30-yard scores in the first quarter to give the Huskers the early lead. Green upped the Husker lead to 21-0 midway through the second quarter with a four-yard touchdown run. Frost finished the day with 97 yards rushing. The Huskers amassed 250 yards of total offense in the first half while the Huskies managed 203.

Washington took a big hit when sophomore quarterback Brock Huard was knocked out of the game after spraining his ankle in the opening quarter. True freshman Marques Tuiasosopo took over and tossed scoring passes to Cam Cleeland and Mike Reed to close the margin to 21-14 with 2:49 to play in the third quarter. Following an unsuccessful onside kickoff by Washington, Nebraska added two field goals to provide the final margin.

Husky receiver Jerome Pathon became the first receiver in UW history to record three consecutive 100-yard receiving games, posting a career-high of 195 yards on five receptions. It marked the third best single-game receiving performance in Washington history. He had receptions of 54 and 45 yards to set up Husky touchdowns.

Tuiasosopo finished the game with 270 passing yards and two touchdown passes, in addition to 12 rushing yards. Washington was held to 43 yards rushing by a stingy Nebraska defense.

Defensively, senior safety Tony Parrish recorded 17 tackles while Nigel Burton added 11.

Jerome Pathon provided plenty of big-play excitement against the Cornhuskers with five catches for 195 yards.

Washington 26, Arizona State 14 October 4 Husky Stadium

The Husky defense was outstanding in a 26-14 Pac-10 victory versus Arizona State.

Washington managed to sack Sun Devil quarterback Ryan Kealy nine times, hold ASU's running game to 51 yards and 231 yards of total offense to defeat the defending Pac-10 champions.

Washington used a powerful running game to control the clock and the game. Rashaan Shehee led the Huskies with 146 yards on 29 carries while his backup, Maurice Shaw, turned in 94 yards on 17 rushes.

Again, it was Jerome Pathon getting the Huskies started with a 17-yard touchdown reception from Brock Huard late in the first quarter. It was only the second touchdown pass completed against the Devils that season, and was the first time they had been scored on in the first quarter. The Sun Devils answered in the second quarter when they recovered a fumble on the Washington 19-yard line. J.R. Redmond carried the ball in from the three yards out after five plays to give the Devils a 7-6 lead.

Shaw gave the Huskies a 13-7 lead with 1:25 to go in the first half on a 28-yard TD run, but the Huskies were not done.

Nigel Burton picked off a Kealy pass on the first play of the ensuing drive and Shehee set up his own one-yard touchdown run with a 26-yard reception, to give the Huskies a 12-point lead at the midway point.

The Huskies gained 240 rushing yards against an ASU defense that entered the game allowing just 73.5 rushing yards per contest. Huard completed eight of 19 passes for 150 yards and two touchdowns. He connected with Mike Reed for a 10-yard score to provide the final margin of victory.

Jerry Jensen led the Washington defensive charge with 13 tackles and two sacks.

Jerry Jensen had two of Washington's nine quarterback sacks vs. the Sun Devils.

Washington 30, California 3 October 11 Memorial Stadium

Washington overcame a sluggish first half to defeat the Bears, 30-3. It was the Huskies 15th straight victory against Cal.

The Bears had two early chances to take the lead but missed a field goal and had another blocked. The Huskies capitalized on the second miscue as Brock Huard connected with senior tight end Cam Cleeland, who rumbled 43 yards for a touchdown. It was the longest reception of his career. Cal converted a field goal to make the halftime score 7-3.

UW grabbed the second-half momentum as the Bears fumbled the kickoff to open the half. Rashaan Shehee scored from 19 yards out to put the score to 14-3. Five minutes later, Shehee scored on a seven-yard run to put the Huskies up 20-3. He finished the game with 124 yards. Freshman kicker Nick Lentz added a 32-yard field goal. Tony Parrish's 39 yard interception return setup the final Washington score, as Huard connected with Fred Coleman on an eight-yard touchdown pass with 1:24 to play to provide the final margin.

Huard finished the day completing 14 of 26 passes for 189 yards. Shehee posted two more touchdowns to go along with 124 rushing yards on the day.

The Husky defense held Cal's leading receiver, Bobby Shaw, to a season-low six catches for 60 yards.

The Bears actually outgained the Huskies in total offense (344-336) and allowed only six third down conversions in the game. The Huskies, however, were three-for-three on fourth down conversions.

Parrish led all Washington tacklers with 10, including one for a loss. Lester Towns and Mac Tuiaea each added a pair of sacks of California quarterback Justin Vedder. The Bears did not have a 100-yard rusher, but did manage 142 yards on the ground.

Washington 58, Arizona 28 October 18 Arizona Stadium

Washington wasted little time getting on the scoreboard as freshman Ja'Warren Hooker took the opening kickoff 89 yards for a touchdown to get the Dawgs rolling. After stopping Arizona, the Huskies drove 83 yards in seven plays to open up a 14-0 lead on a 1-yard run by Rashaan Shehee. Brock Huard hooked up with Fred Coleman on a 48-yard pass play to key the drive. It was the first of six offensive plays of more than 25 yards for the Huskies.

Following a Wildcat touchdown, Huard hooked up with Coleman again, this time for a 39-yard touchdown pass near the end of the third quarter. Coleman had five catches for 132 yards, the second best day in his Husky career. Jerome Pathon returned a punt 23 yards to the UA 19-yard line to set up Huard's next TD pass, a six-yarder to Pathon, to up the score to 28-7.

The defense got in on the scoring when sophomore cornerback Jermaine Smith made it 34-7 with an interception of Keith Smith's option pass, returning it 91 yards for a score. It was the second longest interception in UW history.

Following UA's second touchdown, Huard hooked up with Jeremy Brigham to give the Arizona native his first career touchdown reception and give the Huskies a 41-14 halftime lead.

Shehee, who rushed for 136 yards on 15 carries, ran 62 yards for a TD on Washington's second play in the third quarter to increase the lead to 48-14. Maurice Shaw added a touchdown to make it 55-14 at the end of three quarters.

UW's point production was the most ever by a Pac-10 team against Arizona. Washington's 58 points tied for the fifth best scoring day by a Husky team since 1945.

Washington 45, Oregon State 17 October 25 Parker Stadium

Washington shook off a sluggish start, scoring 35 unanswered points in the second half to hand Oregon State a 45-17 loss in Corvallis. It was Washington's third consecutive Pac-10 road game.

Parker Stadium was rumbling when the underdog Beavers took an early 3-0 lead on the Huskies, and held on for a 10-10 tie at halftime.

The Huskies flexed their offensive muscle in the third quarter. Shehee rushed for 73 yards and Brock Huard passed for 83 yards as the Huskies scored on three consecutive possessions to put the game away. First, it was Shehee with his second TD, a two-yarder. Jason Harris registered his first points of the season with a 7-yard dash, and Jerome Pathon got in on the action with an 18-yard TD catch. For the second straight week, Ja'Warren Hooker put his national championship speed on display, running under a Huard bomb for a 44-yard score. UW's defense posted some points as well, as Jabari Issa scored off an OSU fumble from 18 yards.

The Beavers were limited to one first down in the third quarter. UW finished the game with 510 total yards and 28 first downs. The Husky defense held the Beavers to 210 total yards, with 99 of those yards coming in the fourth quarter.

Shehee carried the ball nine times for 169 yards and a pair of scores. Pathon finished the game with 109 yards receiving and a touchdown. Huard finished his day's work, going 17-for-25 for 219 yards.

The Husky defense held the Beavers to 48 yards rushing and was led by the 10 tackles of Lester Towns.

Washington 27, USC 0 November 1 Husky Stadium

Washington's defense limited USC to 157 yards of total offense to hand the Trojans their first shutout in seven years, 27-0. The last time an opponent held USC scoreless was the 1990 Husky team (31-0).

UW used a 45-yard field goal by Nick Lentz with 6:27 to play in the first quarter to take the lead. Jabari Issa blocked a punt in second quarter to spark the Husky offense. Brock Huard connected with Fred Coleman for a 35-yard TD pass and Jerome Pathon for a 21-yard scoring play to up UW's lead to 17-0 at the half. Maurice Shaw's seven-yard touchdown run in the third quarter along with another Lentz field goal closed out the scoring for Washington.

The game was costly for the Huskies. Senior tailback Rashaan Shehee suffered a sprained knee in the first quarter that would keep him sidelined for the remainder of the season. Brock Huard also went down with a sprained ankle in the third quarter and missed his next start.

USC's defense limited the Husky running game to 31 yards, but the Huskies completed 19 of 25 passes for 271 yards. Pathon led Washington's offense with 120 yards on eight receptions. It was Pathon's fifth 100-yard receiving day of the season, setting a UW single-season record.

The Husky defense recorded five sacks and 11 tackles for loss. Butkus Award candidate Jason Chorak had three tackles for loss and assisted on one sack. It was the first shutout by a Husky defense since 1993 when UW defeated East Carolina 35-0.

The win gave the Huskies 12 consecutive wins over Pac-10 opponents, the longest such streak in the league.

Oregon 31, Washington 28 November 8 Husky Stadium

With Rashaan Shehee, the Pac-10's leading rusher, and Brock Huard, the nation's leader in passing efficiency, on the sidelines with injuries, the Huskies were not able to overcome several offensive miscues, falling to the Ducks 31-28.

Oregon took full advantage of a fumble, blocked punt and seven UW penalties to jump out to a 24-6 halftime lead. The Ducks were led in the first half by Saladin McCullough's 97 rushing yards and Akili Smith's passing. Smith completed 11 of 15 tosses for 108 yards and repeatedly scrambled away from Husky defenders.

Washington scored on its first two possessions in the third quarter, including a fumble recovery for a touchdown by center Olin Kreutz, to close the gap to 24-21. The Huskies took the lead with eight minutes to play when freshman quarterback Marques Tuiasosopo tossed a 41-yard TD pass to freshman Ja'Warren Hooker. It was the speedster's third touchdown of the season, on only his fifth touch of the ball. Oregon took the ensuing kickoff and drove 73 yards in 10 plays for the winning score on a 29-yard pass from Smith to Pat Johnson with 2:33 to play.

Washington receiver Jerome Pathon was superb, catching seven passes for 164 yards on the day to become UW's single-season leader for reception yards, amassing 1,092 yards through the first nine games of the season. Tuiasosopo became the first true freshman to start at quarterback for the Huskies. He completed 15 of 30 passes for 261 yards and scored on a 42-yard touchdown run early in the third quarter.

UCLA 52, Washington 28 November 15 The Rose Bowl

In a highly anticipated battle between two of the Pac-10's top teams, the Bruins prevailed, holding Washington's high-powered offense to just 83 yards in the second half.

The Huskies struck first as Maurice Shaw established the running game early with a 47-yard TD run to put the Dawgs up 7-0 in the first quarter. However, the Bruins answered with 28 second-quarter points including two touchdown passes from Cade McNown to Jim McElroy (47 yards) and Skip Hicks (67 yards). In addition, Hicks added a pair of two-yard TD runs, on his way to finishing with 147 yards and three touchdowns. The Bruins were up 28-20 at the half.

UCLA continued to score in the second half, reeling off 24 unanswered points, including a pair of TD trots by Hicks. Washington failed to score until Brock Huard dove in from two yards out with 6:31 remaining in the fourth quarter. The Huskies converted a two-point conversion as Huard threw to Jason Harris for the final score of the game.

The 52 points Washington allowed was the most by an opponent all season. With Rashaan Shehee out with a knee injury for the second straight week, Washington's rushing attack was limited. Jason Harris led the Huskies with 76 yards on 10 carries. Huard finished the day 25 for 37 for 271 yards with one touchdown and two interceptions.

It marked the first time that a Jim Lambright team had lost back-to-back games, and gave the Huskies a 7-3 record for the season. The Huskies surrendered 565 yards of offense to a Bruin offense that did everything right. Cade McNown finished with 320 yards passing and three touchdown passes, hitting on 16 of 23 attempts.

Jerry Jensen led the Huskies defensively with 10 tackles, while Tony Parrish added nine more in the secondary.

Washington State 41, Washington 35 November 22 Husky Stadium

Washington State used a strong passing attack led by Ryan Leaf and timely defensive presence to capture the Apple Cup for the first time since 1994.

Washington used its longest drive of the season, a 14-play, 71-yard drive in 7:53, to jump on the scoreboard in the first quarter and take a 7-0 lead. After a Washington State punt, UW quarterback Brock Huard threw an interception that led to WSU's Michael Black's eight-yard TD run. Huard went on to throw four more interceptions that led to 17 Cougar points. The Huskies came out in the second half ready for a battle after the 17-7 halftime deficit. Down 24-7, the Dawgs scored twice as senior Fred Coleman caught a 38-yard TD pass from Huard and Tony Parrish picked off a Leaf pass, returning it 32 yards to bring the Huskies within three, 24-21. The Cougars struck back quickly as they marched 80 yards in 2:06, culminating in a 50-yard TD pass from Leaf to Chris Jackson. The Huskies did not give up, scoring 3:43 later on a 17-yard TD pass from Huard to Mike Reed to bring UW within three once again, 31-28.

However, the Cougars controlled the fourth quarter, scoring twice to up the score to 41-28. The Cougars held the ball for 10:04 of the 15-minute quarter. Washington got on the board with nine seconds remaining when senior Jerome Pathon caught a 32-yard TD from Huard to bring the score to 41-35. The Huskies' ensuing onside kick was recovered by the Cougars, thus clinching the game for Washington State and its first Rose Bowl berth in 67 years.

Huard finished the game completing 18 of 36 passes for 283 yards, including four touchdown passes to set the UW single-season and career records for scoring tosses.

It was the first time since 1989 that the Huskies have lost three straight.

Ryan Leaf led the Cougars' offense by throwing for 358 yards, connecting on 22 of 38, setting Pac-10 season records for passing yards and touchdowns.

The Bowl Story: The Jeep Aloha Bowl marked Washington's 25th postseason bowl appearance and the third straight in as many seasons. It was Washington's 16th bowl appearance in the past 19 seasons. Since the 1975 season, Washington and USC top all Pac-10 teams with 17 bowl appearances.

Rashaan Shehee was one of seven Washington players to be named First-Team All-Pac-10 Conference in 1997.

The Seniors: A total of 19 seniors played their final game for Washington in the Jeep Aloha Bowl. Here's the list of that class: Steve Bennett (Spokane, WA), Jeremy Brigham (Scottsdale, AZ), Chris Campbell (Lynnwood, WA), Jason Chorak (Vashon, WA), Cameron Cleeland (Sedro Woolley, WA), Fred Coleman (Tyler, TX), Matt Condon (Federal Way, WA), Michael Coyle (Ponaganset, RI), Jerry Jensen (Everett, WA), Petrocelli Kesi (Honolulu, HI), Justin Nnanabu (Federal Way, WA), Tony Parrish (Huntington Beach, CA), Jerome Pathon (Vancouver, BC), Mike Reed (Washington, D.C.), Kyle Roberts (Seattle, WA), Gary Shavey (Mercer Island, WA), Rashaan Shehee (Bakersfield, CA), Matt Summers (Issaquah, WA), Sekou Wiggs (Seattle, WA).

Ranking Up There: Since the 1990 season, the Huskies have been nationally ranked in the Associated Press poll in 88 of 94 games. The Huskies have been ranked in the top 10 of the AP poll in 38 of those 94 games.

The Injury Factor: Injuries played a key part in the Huskies' storyline during the 1997 season. Washington had 10 starters or key reserves miss 32 games during the season due to injury. That list did not include OT Mostafa Sobhi, WR Gerald Harris and SS Alex Hollowell, who were all in the UW two-deep at the start of the fall camp, but did not play in 1997 due to injuries. Here's that list:

Player	Injury	Games Missed
QB Brock Huard	Sprained Ankle	1
T Rashaan Shehee	Sprained Knee	3
OL Ben Kadletz	Stress Fracture	4
OT Elliot Silvers	Dislocated Knee Cap	7
DE Josh Smith	Dislocated Shoulder	4
FB Pat Conniff	Ankle/Concussion	2
TE Cameron Cleeland	Sprained Knee	1
ILB Marques Hairston	Sprained Knee	2
ROV Kyle Roberts	Knee	3
DE Chris Campbell	Broken Fibula	5

The All-Americans: Four Huskies earned All-American honors in 1997, headed by junior center Olin Kreutz. Two players, junior guard Benji Olson and senior linebacker Jason Chorak, were repeat All-Americans from the 1996 season. Olson and Kreutz were named to the Walter Camp Football Foundation team and Kreutz was a first-team selection by The Sporting News and The Football News. Chorak was a second-team pick by The Football News. Senior receiver Jerome Pathon was selected by the American Football Coaches Association and a second-team pick by The Sporting News.

Pac-10 Honors: Washington led the selection of the 1997 All-Pac-10 team with seven first-team selections. The Pac-10 All-Conference team is voted on by the league's coaches. Washington's first-team selections were: RB Rashaan Shehee, WR Jerome Pathon, TE Cameron Cleeland, OL Olin Kreutz, OL Benji Olson, DE Jason Chorak and OLB Jerry Jensen. Three Husky players received second-team honors including: OL Tony Coats, DB Tony Parrish and special teams player Reggie Davis.

More on the Pac-10 Honors: Senior tailback Rashaan Shehee's selection to the All-Pac-10 team (despite appearing in only five conference games), marked the fifth time in the last six seasons that a Husky running back has been a first-team all-league pick. Center Olin Kreutz, guard Benji Olson and linebacker Jason Chorak were repeat selections from the 1996 season. Washington has placed an offensive lineman on the All-Pac-10 team in 11 of the last 12 seasons.

Academic Honors: Several of Washington's players have been recognized for their performances off of the gridiron in 1997. Washington placed a trio of players on the GTE/CoSIDA Region VIII Academic All-America team. Heading that group was junior roverback Nigel Burton (3.47 GPA in business administration), a repeat performer who was also a regional academic All-American in 1996. In addition to Burton, sophomore quarterback Brock Huard (3.48 GPA in pre-health sciences) and junior tackle Aaron Dalan (3.63 GPA in biology) were also named to the all-academic team. All three players were also named to the Pac-10 Conference's All-Academic Football Team.

The Opponents: There is no doubt that Washington faced one of the toughest schedules in the nation in 1997. The Huskies' 11 opponents rolled up a 73-49 (.598) overall record in 1997 and a 69-42 (.621) mark that did not include Washington. Seven of Washington's opponents (including Michigan State) received an invitation to a postseason bowl and three were ranked in the top eight of the final regular-season Associated Press poll.

The Ranked Opponents: Michigan State was the sixth ranked team the Huskies faced in 1997. Washington posted a 3-3 record against teams ranked in the Associated Press poll during the 1997 season. Since 1990 the Huskies have faced 37 ranked teams and posted a 20-16-1 record in those games.

No. 4 Washington defeated No. 19 BYU 42-20
No. 7 Nebraska defeated No. 2 Washington 27-14
No. 10 Washington defeated No. 25 Arizona State 26-14
No. 9 UCLA defeated No. 13 Washington 52-28
No. 11 Washington State defeated No. 17 Washington 41-35

Offensive Numbers: Washington established a single-season passing record with 2790 yards in 1997, breaking the old mark of 2,721 set in 1970 ... the Huskies also set a single-season record by averaging 9.06 yards per pass attempt ... Washington's 415 rushing attempts was the fourth lowest total by a Husky team over the last 49 years ... Washington's 4,564 yards of total offense and average of 414.9 yards per game were the second highest marks in Husky history ... the Huskies tied their single-season record with 26 TD passes.

Ball Control: Washington fumbled the ball just 13 times in 1997 and lost only seven of those miscues. The Huskies' total number of fumbles was the lowest in the history of the program (since records available in 1937). Only the 1990 Husky team lost fewer fumbles (six) than in 1997's team.

Jim Lambright: Husky coach Jim Lambright was in his fifth year as the head coach at Washington in 1997. It was Lambright's 29th season on the Husky coaching staff. Lambright owns a 38-19-1 (.664) record at Washington. His Pac-10 record stands at 27-12-1 (.688) and 10-5 against UW's northwest rivals. He won more games (30) in his first four years as head coach at Washington than any of his predecessors. A native of nearby Everett, Wash., Lambright graduated from the UW in 1965 after playing under Jim Owens. He is the fourth alumnus to coach the Husky football program. He joined Owens' staff as an assistant coach in 1969. As a player, assistant coach, and head coach, Lambright has been a part of 375 of the 968 games played in UW history - roughly 38 percent of the school's football games. Prior to taking over for Don James in August of 1993, Lambright served on the UW staff as an assistant for 24 years. Lambright's win total (38) ranks him sixth on the list of 22 coaches who have guided the Washington program. With the trip to the Sun Bowl in 1995, Lambright became the sixth UW coach to lead his team to a bowl berth. He is also the sixth UW coach to capture a conference championship.

Lambo Moves Up: Jim Lambright enters 1998 in sixth place on the Husky coaches' win list. Here's a look:

1. Don James (1975-92)	153-57-2
2. Jim Owens (1957-74)	99-82-6
3. James Phelan (1930-41)	65-37-8
4. Enoch Bagshaw (1921-29)	63-22-6
5. Gil Dobie (1908-16)	58-0-3
6. Jim Lambright (1992-96)	38-19-1
7. Ralph Welch (1942-47)	27-20-3

Since Lambo: Since Jim Lambright took over as Washington's head coach in 1993, the Huskies have turned in the best record in both league play and overall among Pac-10 teams. In fact, Washington is the only Pac-10 team since 1993 to post a winning record each season. Here's a look (based on overall record):

Team	Overall Record	Pac-10 Record
Washington	38-19-1 .664	27-12-1 .688
USC	37-21-2 .633	25-14-1 .638
Arizona	36-22 .621	23-17 .575
Arizona State	35-22 .614	24-16 .600
Oregon	36-23 .610	21-19 .525
UCLA	35-23 .603	24-16 .600
Washington State	31-26 .544	20-20 .500
Stanford	26-29-1 .473	17-23 .425
California	25-33 .431	13-27 .325
Oregon State	14-41 .255	5-35 .125

Getting His Kicks: During Jim Lambright's five years as head coach at Washington, the Huskies have attempted 14 onside kickoffs and managed to recover 11 of them. Only three of those attempts came in the closing moments of a game when the Huskies were attempting a comeback.

Outside linebacker Jerry Jensen helped the Huskies to rack up 40 quarterback sacks during the 1997 season.

The TD Passes: Washington passed for at least two touchdowns in nine of 11 games in 1997 (plus Michigan State in the Jeep Aloha Bowl). The Oregon and UCLA games are the only contests in which the Huskies passed for just one touchdown. Washington has passed for a touchdown in its last 16 regular season games. Washington's season total of 26 TD passes equals the best mark by a Husky team. Here's a look:

Most Touchdown Passes in a Season

Huard's TD Tosses: Washington quarterback Brock Huard threw for four touchdown passes in the Washington State game to raise his career total to 36, establishing a new Husky record. Sonny Sixkiller owned the old mark with 35 TD passes. Brock's older brother, Damon, is third on the list with 34 scoring tosses. Huard's TDs per game average of 1.7 (36 in 21 games) is well ahead of the next best average of 1.25 held by Sonny Sixkiller (35 in 28 games).

Huard on the Pac-10 List: Sophomore quarterback Brock Huard's 23 touchdown passes in 1997 ranks as the 8th most in Pac-10 history.

Huard Checks In: Sophomore quarterback Brock Huard jumped several spots on Washington's prestigious list of top-10 career passers following the 1997 season. Huard has passed for 3,818 yards during his 21-game career, placing him seventh on the all-time list. Huard needs to pass for 1,875 yards during his junior season to surpass his older brother Damon as UW's career passing leader.

The Passing Game: Washington's quarterbacking combination of sophomore Brock Huard and freshman Marques Tuiasosopo combined to lead Washington to its most productive passing season in the program's history. Huard (2,140 yards) and Tuiasosopo (650 yards) combined to pass for 2,790 yards in 1997, the best mark in UW history. Huard had six 200+ yard passing games, tying him for the third most in a single season in UW history.

Huard's Fast Start: Joining Washington's top-10 all-time passing list after just 21 games is quite an accomplishment. Here's a look at the comparison between Brock Huard and Washington's other career passing leaders after their first two seasons of play:

Huard Heroics: Sophomore quarterback Brock Huard had the best passing day of his career against San Diego State on Sept. 13. Huard completed 16 of 26 passes for 313 yards and four touchdowns. His previous best outing was in 1996 against Arizona, when he passed for 311 yards and three touchdowns. Huard also had four TD passes vs. Washington State in 1997's regular-season finale.

Huard on the Passing Lists: Here's where Brock Huard's season stacks up in several categories against other Husky passing leaders:

Passing Yards Per Game

Pathon The Record Setter: Husky senior split end Jerome Pathon established himself as the most productive single-season receiver in UW history during the 1997 campaign. Pathon finished the year with 1,245 receiving yards in 1997, the highest single-season total in UW history. Pathon broke Andre Riley's old mark of 1,039 yards by the ninth game of the season. Pathon's per game average (113.2) was well above the single-season record of 94.5 set by Andre Riley in 1989.

Pathon on the Pac-10 List: Jerome Pathon's receiving yardage total (1,245 yards) turned out to be the second most productive season in the history of the Pac-10 conference. His reception total (69) tied as the ninth most catches in a season by a Pac-10 player. Here's a look at how Pathon stacked up against the Pac-10's best:

Name	Rec.	Yards
1. Johnnie Morton, USC (1993)	78	1373
2. Jerome Pathon, Washington (1997)	69	1245

Pathon's Streak: Since transferring to Washington after playing his freshman year at Acadia College in Nova Scotia, Husky split end Jerome Pathon appeared in 36 games. Pathon managed to catch a pass in 33 of those games. Pathon ended his career with a streak of 31 consecutive games where he registered at least one reception. The last time Pathon played in a game and did not catch a pass was in 1995 vs. Notre Dame, when he was a backup receiver.

Pathon on the National Scene: Senior receiver Jerome Pathon figured fourth in the final NCAA statistics for reception yards per game at 113.2. Pathon was 13th nationally in receptions per game at 6.27 per contest and figured eighth in all-purpose yards at 167.3.

Pathon's Marks: Here's a list of some of Jerome Pathon's achievements in 1997:

- Pathon totaled 100 yards in receptions in each of the first three games of the year to tie the UW mark for consecutive 100-yard games set by Dave Williams in 1965. He tied the mark again later in the season. Pathon picked up his sixth 100-yard receiving game vs. Oregon to set a UW single-season record with six 100-yard games.
- Pathon had seven 100-yard receiving games in his career to tie Brian Slater on the all-time list with seven career 100-yard receiving games.
- Pathon had 11 receptions of at least 35 yards.
- Pathon's 195 reception yards against Nebraska tied him with Jim Cope for the fourth best performance in UW history. Cope had 195 yards in 1966 against USC.
- Pathon finished his career with 3,111 all-purpose yards to rank seventh on that UW career list. He accumulated more all-purpose yards than any other non-running back in UW history.

100-Yard Days: Washington's starting receivers, Jerome Pathon and Fred Coleman, combined for nine 100-yard receiving games in 1997. That was the most 100-yard receiving games in a season by a Husky team. Washington's 1991 national championship team piled up six 100-yard games while the 1989 and 1987 teams managed to put together five.

Dynamic Duo: Washington's starting receivers combination of Jerome Pathon and Fred Coleman proved to be the most productive tandem in the Pac-10 in 1997. Pathon and Coleman combined to catch 111 passes for a league best 1,968 yards. Here's a look at the top combos:

Washington	Jerome Pathon/Fred Coleman	1968 yards
Stanford	Troy Walters/Damon Dunn	1784 yards
Washington State	Kevin McKenzie/Chris Jackson	1749 yards
California	Bobby Shaw/Dameane Douglas	1703 yards
UCLA	Jim McElroy/Danny Farmer	1513 yards

Jerome Pathon (left) and Fred Coleman led the Pac-10 in 1997 for combined receiving yards. The senior duo accounted for 1,968 receiving yards during the season.

The Shehee Factor: How devastating was the loss of senior tailback Rashaan Shehee to the Husky offense? Washington was averaging 199 rushing yards per game entering their Nov. 1 game with USC, with Shehee leading the Pac-10 in rushing at 120.9 yards per game. Shehee suffered a partial tear of his ACL early in the first quarter after gaining 16 yards on his first three carries. The Huskies finished that game with just 31 rushing yards on 37 carries. In the final four games of the season, without Shehee, the Huskies averaged only 96 rushing yards per game.

The Texas Twister: Senior receiver Fred Coleman likes to call himself the Texas Twister. In 1997, he did more than his share of damage to opposing defenses. Coleman finished the season strong with 264 receiving yards in the last two games of the year. That included a 10-reception, 140-yard effort at UCLA, the best day in his career. His 10 receptions was one reception shy of the UW single-game record. Coleman's reception yardage total in 1997 (723) ranks as the ninth best single-season total in UW history. Coleman finished his career with 97 catches to rank eighth among all UW players. His career reception yardage total of 1,588 yards ranks as the sixth most by a Husky.

The Freshman QB: UW quarterback Marques Tuiasosopo proved to be a reliable backup for Washington in 1997. In the process, Tuiasosopo established himself as the most productive true freshman quarterback in UW history. Against Oregon, Tuiasosopo became the first true freshman to start at QB for Washington. Here's a look at Tuiasosopo and the other five true freshman QBs who have played at UW since freshman eligibility was restored in 1972:

Player	Year	Games	Att.	Comp.	Int.	Yds.	TD
Marques Tuiasosopo	1997	8	64	37	1	650	3
Jon Minter	1996	2	6	1	0	8	0

The Awards: Several of Washington's players were nominated for postseason individual awards in 1997. Here's a breakdown:

Jerome Pathon: Selected as one of 10 semifinalists for the Fred Biletnikoff Award presented to the nation's top receiver.

Jason Chorak: Named as one of the Football News' 15 semifinalists for Defensive Player of the Year.

Semifinalist for Lombardi Award presented to nation's outstanding lineman.

Brock Huard: Named one of 14 finalists by the selection committee for the Davey O'Brien National Quarterback Award.

Benji Olson: Semifinalist for Lombardi Award, presented to nation's outstanding lineman.

Rashaan Shehee: Nominee for the Doak Walker Award, given to the nation's top running back.

The MASH Unit: As the 1997 season progressed, the look of Washington's offensive line became very different than the two-deep depth chart prior to the start of preseason drills due to a series of injuries. Strongside offensive guard Benji Olson was moved to the weakside. True freshman Chad Ward was moved from strongside tackle to the starting spot as the strongside guard. Petrocelli Kesi was listed as a backup at strongside tackle after starting the year at center. Defensive tackle Kurth Connell was moved to the offensive line as a tackle following the Arizona State game.

Mostafa Sobhi -- Out for the season with disc problems in his back. Started the first five games in 1996 and projected as a starter at strongside tackle in 1997.

Dominic Daste -- Out for the season while rehabing a broken ankle from the 1996 season. Played as a reserve as a true freshman in 1996.

Ben Kadletz -- Missed four-game stretch during the middle of the schedule with a stress fracture in lower leg. Starter at weakside guard for first two games of the year. Returned to action vs. Oregon State. Missed Jeep Aloha Bowl with knee injury.

Elliot Silvers -- Reserve weakside tackle who suffered a dislocated knee cap vs. Arizona State.

At Home: Washington has won 42 of its last 50 (.850) games at Husky Stadium with one tie (42-7-1). Since 1980, the Huskies stand 90-19-2 (.820) at home and are 60-12-2 (.824) since 1986. Washington is 23-6-1 (.783) in Husky Stadium under Jim Lambright. Washington piled up a perfect 6-0 record at home during the 1996 season. That marked the Huskies' 11th perfect season in Husky Stadium. It was also the fourth perfect home slate in the 1990s, having won every game in 1991, 1992 and 1994. With its victory over San Diego State, UW is 55-18-4 in home openers.

Slow Starts: Washington's offense was not very productive in the first quarter of its games in 1997. The Huskies totaled 58 first-quarter points with 21 of those coming against Arizona. In six of 11 games the Huskies failed to register at least seven points in the first quarter. Washington's opponents were not exactly capitalizing on the Huskies' slow starts. UW's opponents registered only 45 first-quarter points and held the lead over Washington just three times (Oregon, Oregon State and Nebraska) in 1997 after one quarter of play. Washington outscored its opponents 114 to 89 in the second quarter and 135 to 38 in the third quarter.

Big Plays: Washington's offense demonstrated the ability to consistently come up with the big play in 1997. The Huskies had 47 offensive plays of 25-or-more yards. That included 35 passing plays and 12 rushing plays. Sixteen of those long plays directly resulted in a touchdown, while 40 led to either a touchdown (34) or a field goal (six). Jerome Pathon topped the team with 16 "big plays," while Rashaan Shehee had nine and Fred Coleman had eight.

The Drives: Washington displayed a quick strike offense in 1997. The Huskies' average scoring drive was 58.1 yards and six plays in 2:54. Washington had 22 scoring drives that took less than two minutes. The Huskies had 14 scoring drives consisting of four or fewer plays.

Those Trying Third: In 1996, Washington led the Pac-10 Conference in third down conversions at 49.7 percent (92 of 185). In 1997, the Huskies were near the bottom of the league in that statistic, converting just 35 percent (50 of 143) of its third down conversions.

T.O.P.: Washington was 7-1 in 1997 when it controlled the clock longer than the opponent. The only loss was at UCLA. If you go back to the 1995 season, the Huskies are 20-2-1 when they hold the advantage in time of possession. The only games the Huskies did not win besides the UCLA contest were the 1996 Holiday Bowl vs. Colorado and a tie with USC in 1995. The Huskies are 4-9 during that same period when the opponents control the clock longer than Washington.

Rushin' Rashaan: Husky senior tailback Rashaan Shehee finished his career in eighth place on UW's all-time career rushing list. Shehee finished his career with 2,150 rushing yards and became only the eighth UW running back to run for 2,000 yards in a career. Shehee's 28 career touchdowns put him in fifth position for career touchdowns by a running back. Here's a look at Shehee on the rushing list:

Player	Yards
5. Hugh McElhenny (1949-51)	2499
6. Robin Earl (1973-76)	2351
7. Jacque Robinson (1981-84)	2300
8. Rashaan Shehee (1994-97)	2150
9. Toussaint Tyler (1977-80)	1898
10. Beno Bryant (1989-93)	1741

Scorin' Rashaan: Husky senior tailback Rashaan Shehee led Washington in scoring in 1997 with nine touchdowns, despite missing the final three games of the season. That raised his career total to 28 touchdowns -- good for fifth on the UW touchdowns list by a running back.

UW Career Touchdowns by Running Backs

1. Joe Steele (1976-79)	37
2. Hugh McElhenny (1949-51)	35
3. Napoleon Kaufman (1991-94)	33
4. Chuck Carroll (1926-28)	32
5. Rashaan Shehee (1994-97)	28
6. Jacque Robinson (1982-84)	25

Shehee and 100: Rashaan Shehee picked up his fifth 100-yard rushing game in 1997 in the Huskies' 45-17 win at Oregon State Oct. 25. Shehee had 169 yards on 29 carries and a pair of scores. That was the third most carries and the fourth most rushing yards in a game in his career. Earlier in 1997, Shehee rushed for 171 yards vs. Brigham Young, 146 yards vs. Arizona State, 124 yards vs. California and 136 at Arizona. Coming into in 1997, Shehee had a total of four 100-yard rushing games in his career.

Cleeland Joins Top-10: Senior tight end Cameron Cleeland finished his career in sixth place on the UW's career reception list for tight ends. Cleeland had 19 catches in 1997 to raise his career total to 50. Mark Bruener tops the list of tight ends with 90 career catches. Cleeland's seven career touchdown receptions is second only to John Brady (1970-72) and Dave Williams (1964-66) for tight ends.

UW Tight End Career Reception List

5. David Bayle (1979-80)	52
6. Cameron Cleeland (1994-97)	50
7. Bill Ames (1987-89)	49
8. Ernie Conwell (1992-95)	47
8. Aaron Pierce (1988-91)	47

The Sack Attack: The Husky defense again proved to be a menace to opposing quarterbacks in 1997. Washington racked up 40 sacks during the year to finish third in that statistic in the Pac-10. In 1996, the Huskies led the Pac-10, recording 46 sacks. Washington's best effort came against Arizona State when the Huskies sacked Sun Devil quarterback Ryan Kealy nine times, the most by a UW defensive unit since the Huskies recorded 10 sacks vs. BYU in 1986.

Mr. Defense: Senior outside linebacker Jerry Jensen had a monster season for the Huskies in 1997. Jensen finished second on the team with 86 tackles and was second in tackles for loss with 18. Jensen also mustered six QB sacks and intercepted two passes. Jensen finished his career with 38.5 tackles for loss to rank eighth on UW's all-time list. His 18 career sacks ranks seventh on that UW career list. Jensen earned Pac-10 player of the week honors for his play against Arizona State. A senior captain, Jensen expanded his role on the team by taking over the snapping duties for PATs and field goals.

Campbell Comeback: When senior defensive end Chris Campbell returned to the Husky lineup for the Jeep Aloha Bowl after suffering a broken fibula in the first half of the Huskies' game at Arizona, it marked his second comeback of the year. While undergoing a routine knee scope in April, Campbell's heart raced from 44 beats per minute to 187 beats. Doctors diagnosed him with Wolfe-Parkinson-White Syndrome, a condition where electrical impulses caused his heart to race to dangerously high levels. In July, Campbell had a catheter inserted in his leg to his heart chamber where the condition was corrected. Campbell was having the best year of his career before going down with the injury. Campbell had 12 tackles for loss in 1997 to go along with five sacks.

More on the D: Washington's defense totaled 115 tackles for loss in 1997 for 464 yards. That was above the 1996 total, when the Huskies managed 93 tackles for loss totaling 404 yards. All-American linebacker Jason Chorak led the Huskies in that area with 20 tackles for loss while outside linebacker Jerry Jensen accounted for 18 TFL and inside linebacker Lester Towns totaled 16 TFL.

The Croatian Sensation: Thanks to 20 tackles for loss in 1997, senior linebacker Jason Chorak became Washington's all-time leader in tackles for loss. Chorak's TFL total was the tops on the Husky defense. He also led the squad in sacks with seven. Chorak's 25.5 career sacks places him third on UW's all-time chart. In 1996, Chorak earned Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Year honors when he finished the season with a school record 22 tackles for loss totaling 105 yards. He also set the single-season sacks record with 14.5 sacks for 90.5 yards. Here's where Chorak figures on several UW defensive lists:

Career Tackles For Loss (Since 1967)

Player (Years)	No.
1. Jason Chorak (1994-97)	59.5
2. Ron Holmes (1982-84)	48
3. Mark Stewart (1979-82)	47
4. Dave Hoffmann (1988-92)	45
5. Dennis Brown (1986-89)	41

Career Sacks (Since 1982)

Player (Years)	Sacks
1. Donald Jones (1989-91)	30.5
2. Ron Holmes (1981-84)	27.0
3. Jason Chorak (1994-97)	25.5
4. Andy Mason (1990-93)	24.0

The Red Zone: During the 1997 regular season Washington penetrated the opponent's Red Zone (20-yard line) 45 times and came away with 37 scores, including 29 touchdowns. Here's a breakdown:

	UW	Opp.
Inside the Red Zone	45	37
Scores	37 (.822)	27 (.730)
Touchdown	29 (.784)	19 (.704)
Field Goal	8	8
Missed FG	4	4
Blocked FG	1	0
Lost Fumble	1	1
Interception	0	1
Loss of Downs	1	4
Time Expired	1	0

Parrish the Thought: Washington free safety Tony Parrish showed a real knack for making plays during his Husky career. Parrish finished the 1997 season third on the team with 81 tackles and led the squad with four interceptions. Since taking over as a starter in 1996, Parrish caused three fumbles, recovered five fumbles, and intercepted six passes.

Playing the Freshmen: Defensive end Ryan Julian's appearance in the Arizona game made him the 10th true freshman to play for the Huskies in 1997. The others to see playing time were OG Chad Ward, TE John Westra, QB Marques Tuiasosopo, HB Patrick Reddick, FB Pat Conniff, WLB Derrell Daniels, TB Albert Tuipulotu, SE Ja'Warren Hooker and PK Nick Lentz. In 1996 the Huskies played seven true freshmen. The Huskies' 60-man Pac-10 travel squad in 1997 included 10 true freshmen.

Freshman Contributors: Washington's freshman class did not act like a litter of young pups in 1997. Offensive guard Chad Ward assumed a starting position on the offensive line. Fullback Pat Conniff took over as the starter at fullback and was an effective short-yardage back. Walkon kicker Nick Lentz took over the kickoff and place kicking duties. Linebacker Derrell Daniels came up with a key fumble recovery at the start of the third quarter to spark the Huskies to a 30-3 win at California. Ja'Warren Hooker returned the opening kickoff at Arizona 89 yards for a TD. Marques Tuiasosopo won the backup quarterback spot and came off the bench to pass for 270 yards and two TDs in three quarters of action against Nebraska. His start vs. Oregon marked the first time in modern UW football history that a true freshman has started at quarterback.

Ward the Second: When freshman Chad Ward lined up at strongside guard for Washington's first offensive play against Arizona State, he became the first true freshman to start on the UW offensive line since Jeff Pahukoa. Pahukoa started at left guard for the Huskies on Sept. 26, 1987 as a true freshman. Those two players are the only Huskies to start on the offensive line as true freshmen since freshman eligibility was re-instituted in 1972.

Jarzynka On Scholarship: Sophomore h-back Joe Jarzynka was awarded a scholarship for the 1997-98 academic year by the Husky coaching staff the first week of October. A native of Gig Harbor, Wash., Jarzynka led the Huskies in 1997 in kickoff and punt returns. Walkon players are annually awarded any remaining scholarships once the first week of school starts at the University. In 1997, Washington had one open scholarship to give.

Mr. Rinky Dinka: Husky h-back Joe Jarzynka is a fan favorite at Husky Stadium. He even has his own fan club. Jarzynka recorded his first career reception against SDSU, a four-yarder. He has earned his fan following with his special teams play. Jarzynka led the Huskies in both kickoff and punt returns in 1997. Against the Aztecs, he recorded a career best with a 50-yard punt return. The Joe Jarzynka fan club has even published its own set of cheers for Washington's 5-7, 165-pound return specialist. One goes "Joe Jarzynka ... He's No Rinky Dinka."

A Husky-Tiger: When the University of Pacific dropped its football program following the 1995 season, Washington was an unexpected benefactor. Nigel Burton transferred to UW after leading the Tigers in tackles (85) as a true freshman. A roverback, Burton started the last 10 games in 1996 for the Huskies and finished fourth on the defense with 55 tackles. Burton recorded the first interception of his UW career against Arizona State. Burton is pursuing a business degree at Washington and was named a District VIII Academic All-American in 1996.

The Winning Streak: Washington's 8-4 record in 1997 was the Huskies' 21st consecutive winning season. The Huskies' last sub-.500 record was a 5-6 finish in 1976. The Huskies' current 21-year mark, without a losing or .500 season, is the second best current streak and ranks 10th on the NCAA's all-time list. Only Nebraska (35) has a longer active streak of winning seasons. Florida State, like Washington, has not had a losing campaign since 1976. Aside from Washington, the longest streak of consecutive winning seasons among the other Pac-10 schools is four, by USC. Here's a look at the NCAA list:

No.	School	Years
42	Notre Dame	1889-1932
38	Alabama	1911-1950
35	Nebraska	1962-1997
29	Oklahoma	1966-1994
28	Virginia	1888-1915
27	Michigan	1892-1918
26	Penn State	1939-1964
21	USC	1962-1982
21	Vanderbilt	1915-1935
21	Washington	1977-1997
21	Florida State	1977-1997
19	Ohio State	1899-1917
19	Wisconsin	1891-1909

Note: Miami is the next closest team with 16 consecutive winning seasons.

Washington guard Benji Olson (right) earned first-team All-American honors from the Associated Press for the second consecutive season in 1997. Husky center Olin Kreutz (below) was also a first-team AP All-American last season. Kreutz and Olson both declared for the NFL draft following their junior seasons.

Winning in the '90s: Washington's 69-24-1 record in the 1990s is the best among Pac-10 schools and figures as the best for Pac-10 play. Here's a look, broken down by overall games and Pac-10 games:

Overall

Team	W	L	T	Pct.
1. Washington	69	24	1	.739
2. UCLA	55	37	0	.598
3. USC	54	38	3	.584
4. Arizona State	51	39	0	.567
5. Arizona	52	40	1	.565
6. Oregon	53	41	0	.564
7. Stanford	49	42	2	.538
8. Washington State	46	45	0	.506
9. California	46	46	1	.500
10. Oregon State	17	69	1	.201

Pac-10 Only

9. California	25	38	1	.398
10. Oregon State	7	54	1	.121

The 100-Yard Factor: Since the 1947 season, Washington is 140-31-3 (.813) when a Husky player rushes for 100 yards in a game. Rashaan Shehee turned in the first 100-yard rushing performance of 1997 with 171 yards vs. BYU in the opener. He added 146 vs. Arizona State, 124 at California, 136 at Arizona, 169 at Oregon State and 193 vs. Michigan State. The Huskies were 6-0 in 1997 in those games.

Top-20 Wins: Washington has registered at least one win against an opponent ranked in the top 20 of the Associated Press poll in each of the past nine seasons. The Huskies accomplished the feat quickly in 1997 by defeating 19th-ranked BYU 42-20 in the season opener. UW has defeated a top-20 team in 20 of the past 21 seasons. In 1988, UW played only two games against nationally ranked foes — UCLA (No. 2) and USC (No. 3), losing both of those games. UW figures in a tie for fourth among the list of current teams with top-20 wins in consecutive seasons entering the 1998 season. Here's a look:

1.	Miami	13 years
2.	Clemson	10 years
	Florida State *	10 years
4.	Michigan *	9 years
5.	Colorado *	8 years
	Washington *	8 years
	Tennessee *	8 years
8.	Alabama	7 years
9.	Texas A&M*	6 years

* Defeated a top-20 team in 1997.

Dethroning the Champs: Washington's win vs. Arizona State in 1997 marked the fourth time (in five chances) in the 1990s Washington's has defeated the defending Pac-10 champions. UW defeated ASU in 1997, USC in 1996, UCLA in 1994 and USC in 1990. The only defending Pac-10 champion to defeat Washington was Oregon in 1995.

Public Service: Senior linebacker Jason Chorak was one of several Division I football players who recorded a public service announcement for the NCAA this summer. Chorak's spot, filmed in the Husky weight room, is an anti-drug message against the use of steroids.

Notes, Notes, Notes: Washington center Olin Kreutz was named the Huskies' player of the game by ABC Sports in Washington's 58-28 win at Arizona ... Washington's 58 points vs. Arizona marked the most points ever scored by a Pac-10 opponent against the Wildcats ... Washington and Arizona's combined 86 points was the ninth highest total in UW history ... Washington's 58 points at Arizona ties as the fifth most points by a UW team since 1945 ... When freshman Ja'Warren Hooker returned the opening kickoff against Arizona 89 yards for a TD, it was the first time he touched the ball in his UW career, and was the first time he returned a kickoff since his freshman year in high school ... Hooker finished the year with eight touches and four TDs ... Jermaine Smith's 91-yard interception return for a TD vs. Arizona was the second longest interception return in UW history ... Senior tight end Jeremy Bringham, a native of Scottsdale, fittingly picked up his first career TD reception at Arizona ... Rashaan Shehee has rushed for two or more touchdowns in a game nine times during his career ... Washington went 205 games without a kickoff return for a TD until Jerome Pathon accomplished the feat in last year's Holiday Bowl. Ja'Warren Hooker's KO return for a TD at Arizona gave the Huskies two in the span of just seven games ... Washington passed for at least two touchdowns in nine of 11 games in 1997 ... The Huskies averaged 15.2 yards per reception ... Sean O'Laughlin's 46.3 yard punting average vs. Arizona was the fourth best game by a UW punter since 1990 ... freshman fullback Pat Conniff carried the ball just 12 times in 1997 but accounted for five first downs ... Washington outscored its opponents 135-38 in the third quarter in 1997 ... the last two times USC has been shut out have come against UW in Husky Stadium (27-0 in 1997 and 31-0 in 1990) ... Nigel Burton, nicknamed Mighty Mouse, has a tattoo of the cartoon character on his arm ... backup roverback Kyle Roberts' father, Al, is the special teams coach of the Cincinnati Bengals ... Maurice Shaw (47 yards) and Jason Harris (55 yards) both recorded the longest runs of their career vs. UCLA.

The Shutout Streak: Washington's 51-23 win vs. Michigan State marked the 192nd consecutive game in which Washington has not been shutout. That's the best streak among Pac-10 schools. BYU has the nation's longest streak at 285 games (NCAA record), while Texas is second with 199 games. The last opponent to hold the Huskies scoreless was UCLA (31-0) on Nov. 7, 1981. Washington has played 128 Pac-10 games since then without a shutout — the second best current streak among Pac-10 schools.

Team	All Games	Pac-10 Games
Washington	192	128
Washington State	154	172
Oregon	146	110
Arizona	77	53
UCLA	42	31
California	38	28
Arizona State	29	21

1983	Arizona State (6-4-1), California (5-5-1)	1994	Arizona (8-4)
1984	Arizona State (5-6), UCLA (9-3)	1995	California (3-8)
1985	Arizona (8-3-1)	1996	California (6-6)
1986	Arizona (9-3)	1997	Stanford (5-6)
1987	California (3-6-2)	1998	Stanford
1988	Oregon State (4-6-1)

The Team They Don't Play

The Pacific-10 Conference adopted a uniform eight-game conference schedule in 1991. Under the new format, teams will miss one opponent two years in succession. Here are the misses for the 1998 season.

Arizona — USC	Southern California — Arizona
Arizona State — UCLA	Stanford — Washington
California — Oregon	UCLA — Arizona State
Oregon — California	Washington — Stanford
Oregon State — Washington State	Washington State — Oregon State

The Pacific-10 Conference

The Pacific-10 Conference continues to live up to its billing as the "Conference of Champions". The league led the nation in NCAA Team Championships for the second consecutive year with 11 in 1997-98 and also laid claim to 45 individual titles. Six different Pac-10 members won at least one NCAA Championship, with STANFORD leading the nation with five. The Pac-10 team total is the second-highest total all-time, behind only the 14 NCAA Championships the Pac-10 won in 1996-97.

Pac-10 members have now claimed an incredible 25 NCAA team crowns the past two seasons and 41 over the past four for an average of just over 10 per academic year. No other conference has ever won 10 NCAA titles in one year.

Even more impressive is the breadth of the Pac-10's success, as the 41 team titles over the past four seasons have come in 18 different sports. The Pac-10 has led the nation in NCAA Team Championships 34 of the last 38 years and finished second in the other four seasons. The 11 championships in 1997-98 increased the Pac-10's all-time total to 293, far outdistancing the national runner-up Big Ten's 162 titles.

NCAA Champions from the Pac-10 in 1997-98 came from ARIZONA STATE (women's golf), CALIFORNIA (men's gymnastics), STANFORD (men's cross country, women's volleyball, men's swimming and diving, women's swimming and diving, men's tennis), UCLA (men's soccer, men's volleyball), USC (baseball) and WASHINGTON (women's rowing).

The Pac-10 had national runners-up in eight different sports - ARIZONA in softball and women's swimming & diving, ARIZONA STATE in baseball, STANFORD in women's cross country, men's indoor track and field, and men's outdoor track and field, UCLA in women's outdoor track and field and USC in men's water polo.

In addition to the 11 NCAA team titles in 1997-98, the Pac-10 also won three non-NCAA national championships in the sports of men's rugby (CALIFORNIA), women's synchronized swimming (STANFORD) and women's water polo (UCLA).

The Pac-10 experienced continued success in football as the league set a Conference record with five bowl game victories in the 1997. STANFORD made its first appearance in the men's basketball Final Four in 56 years and became the fourth Pac-10 team in five years to reach basketball's showcase event. In addition, the Pac-10 duplicated the then-unprecedented feat it set in 1996-97 when four teams (ARIZONA, STANFORD, UCLA, WASHINGTON) reached the Sweet Sixteen this past year.

USC captured the Conference's first baseball national title in 10 years with a 21-14 victory over league rival ARIZONA STATE in the championship game. STANFORD women's volleyball won its second straight NCAA title and became the only institution to win the national crown four times. The Cardinal men's tennis team capped off an incredible 28-0 season with a 4-0 victory over Georgia in the national championship match on the Bulldogs' home court.

Pac-10 members have now won 232 NCAA Men's Team Championships (far ahead of the 151 claimed by the runner-up Big Ten) and 61 women's crowns (far ahead of the Southeastern Conference, which is second with 41).

Men's NCAA team crowns have come at a phenomenal rate - 15 basketball titles by five schools (more than any other conference), 35 of the last 38 in tennis, 22 of the last 29 in volleyball, 24 of the last 39 in water polo, 17 of the last 32 in baseball, 19 of the last 34 in swimming & diving, and 18 of the last 38 titles in track and field (and an incredible 44 titles overall). The Conference also has claimed an unmatched 991 NCAA individual crowns.

On the women's side, the story is the same. Since the NCAA began conducting women's championships 17 years ago, Pac-10 members have claimed at least four titles in a single season on 11 occasions, including 11 of 17 tennis crowns, 12 of the 17 softball championships, six of the last eight volleyball titles and eight of the last ten trophies in both golf and swimming & diving. Additionally, the 298 NCAA individual titles lead all leagues.

The roots of the Pacific-10 Conference go back more than 80 years to December 15, 1915, when the Pacific Coast Conference (PCC) was founded at a meeting at the Oregon Hotel in Portland, Ore. Original membership consisted of four schools - the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Washington, the University of Oregon, and Oregon State College (now Oregon State University). All still are charter members of the Conference.

Pacific Coast Conference play began in 1916. One year later, Washington State College (now Washington State University), was accepted into the Conference, and Stanford University joined in 1918.

In 1922, the PCC expanded to eight teams with the admission of the University of Southern California and the University of Idaho. Montana joined the Conference in 1924, and in 1928, the PCC grew to 10 members with the addition of UCLA.

The Pacific Coast Conference competed as a 10-team league until 1950, with the exception of 1943-45, when World War II curtailed intercollegiate athletic competition to a minimum. In 1950, Montana resigned from the Conference and joined the Mountain States Conference. The PCC continued as a nine-team Conference through 1958.

In 1959, the PCC was dissolved and a new Conference was formed - the Athletic Association of Western Universities. Original AAWU membership consisted of California, Stanford, Southern California, UCLA, and Washington. Washington State became a member in 1962, while Oregon and Oregon State joined in 1964. In 1968, the name Pacific-8 Conference was adopted.

Ten years later, on July 1, 1978, the University of Arizona and Arizona State University were admitted and the Pacific-10 Conference became a reality. In 1986-87, the league took on a new look, expanding to include ten women's sports.

Currently, the Pac-10 sponsors 10 men's sports and 11 women's sports. Additionally, the Conference is a member of the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation (MPSF) in five other men's sports and two other women's sports.

Edwin N. Altherton was named the Conference's first Commissioner in 1940. He has been succeeded by Victor O. Schmidt (1944), Thomas J. Hamilton (1959), Wiles Hallock (1971), and current Commissioner Thomas C. Hansen in 1983.

The Pacific-10 Conference offices are located 25 miles east of San Francisco in Walnut Creek, California.

Pac-10 Leads With 11 NCAA Team Championships

The Pacific-10 Conference once again lived up to its billing as the Conference of Championships as it finished the 1997-98 academic year with 11 NCAA Team Championships, the second-best mark of all-time and five more than any other Division I conference this year.

Pac-10 members which won an unprecedented 14 championships a year ago, nearly matched that total this season, with seven men's and four women's teams winning NCA crowns. The men's total ties the all-time Pac-10 best for men's team titles last accomplished in 1987-88.

Six different Conference members claimed at least one NCAA team title. Stanford, which has won at least one NCAA crown every year since 1977, led all Division I institutions with five titles.

The Pac-10 now has led the nation in NCAA team titles, two consecutive and 34 of the last 38 years, finishing second in the other four years. The 11 championships increased the Pac-10's all-time total to 293, for outdistancing runner-up Big Ten's 162 titles.

In addition to the 11 NCAA team titles, the Pac-10 also won three non-NCAA national championships in the sports of men's rugby (California), women's synchronized swimming (Stanford) and women's water polo (UCLA).

"The Pac-10 again demonstrated that depth and breadth of its strength is superior to that of any other conference in college athletics with 11 NCAA titles," stated Commissioner Tom Hansen. "Even more dramatic is its record over the past four years. During that time the Pac-10 has won 41 NCAA Championships, an average of just over 10 per academic year. No other conference has ever won 10 NCA titles in any year. Also, those 41 championships have come in 18 different sports, further evidence that the Pac-10 sponsors the best broad-based college athletics programs."

Washington's women's crew team was one of 11 programs to win a national championship last year among Pac-10 institutions.

Husky Quarterback History

Since 1975, all of Washington's first-string quarterbacks have advanced to play professional football after their collegiate careers. A total of 11 different Husky quarterbacks made the transition during this span with nine playing in the NFL, one in the USFL, and one in the CFL.

Washington's rich quarterback tradition has produced a total of 11 NFL quarterbacks. This select group has won 10 bowl game MVP awards, including five Rose Bowl MVP's. In addition, two (Cary Conklin and Don Heinrich) have been on NFL championship teams and another (Warren Moon) led his team to a record five straight Grey Cup titles in the CFL.

Retired Husky Jerseys

2 Chuck Carroll

Chuck Carroll was a consensus All-American in 1928, capping an outstanding career in which he was a three-time letterwinner while helping lead the Huskies to a 24-8 overall record. He also received the Guy Flaherty award that season, as he set a Husky record with 17 touchdowns in one season, a record that stood until the 1996 season when it was broken by Corey Dillon. Carroll, a two-time All-Coast selection (1927-28), also owns the Husky record for most points scored in a game — 36 against Puget Sound in 1928. Carroll was inducted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1964 and the Husky Hall of Fame in 1979.

44 Roland Kirkby

Roland Kirkby was one of the most underrated members of the Washington's Fearsome Foursome backfield in 1950. As a senior he was named first-team All-Coast by a vote of the coaches and second-team by several different organizations. Kirkby set a school record that season when he caught three touchdown passes in a game against Kansas State, a record that has since been tied but not broken. Kirkby was honorable mention All-America as a sophomore in 1948 and honorable mention All-Coast as a junior.

33 George Wilson

George Wilson was described as one of the most fearless all-around players in the country during his Husky career, twice outplaying such well-known legends as Red Grange of Illinois and Ernie Nevers of Stanford. In 1925 he joined those two greats on the All-America team as Washington's first consensus pick. He also was a three-time All-Coast selection (1923-25). Wilson scored a school record 37 touchdowns during his career and led Washington to two Rose Bowl appearances in 1924 and 1926. Wilson was inducted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1951 and the Husky Hall of Fame in 1980.

Washington's Head Coaches

Gil Dobie, 1908-16

Dobie attended Minnesota and played quarterback for the Golden Gophers from 1899 to 1901. He graduated from Minnesota in 1903 and was an assistant for the Gophers through 1905. He then took his first head coaching job at North Dakota State in 1906 where he went undefeated in two seasons (7-0). In 1908 he became head coach at Washington where he coached the Sun Dodgers in 61 of the 63 games that serves as the longest unbeaten streak in NCAA history. Dobie's Washington squads outscored opponents by a tally of 1,930 to 118 during his nine seasons. He left Washington following the 1916 season and moved to Navy until 1919 where he was 17-3-0. From there he coached at Cornell (1920-35, 82-36-7) and Boston College (1936-38, 16-6-5). Dobie's Washington record of 58-0-3 contributed to his overall record of 180-45-15 which earned him induction into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1951. Dobie died at the age of 69 and was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame as part of the inaugural induction class in 1979.

Enoch Bagshaw

Bagshaw graduated from Washington in 1907 after becoming the first of two five-year lettermen in Washington history. Between 1903 and 1907 Bagshaw played end, halfback and quarterback for Washington under three different coaches. After graduation Bagshaw went to Everett High School where he was head coach from 1909 to 1920. His last Everett squads won consecutive national championships in 1919 and 1920. He was then hired as Washington's head coach in 1921. In his nine seasons at Washington, Bagshaw compiled a 63-22-6 record and took the Huskies to their first ever Rose Bowl in 1924 where they tied Navy 14-14. Bagshaw returned to the Rose Bowl in 1926 where the Huskies lost to Alabama 20-19. Bagshaw retired after the 1929 season and died of a heart attack October 3, 1930 at the age of 46. He was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1980.

James M. Phelan

Phelan graduated from Notre Dame in 1919 and started at quarterback for the Irish from 1915-1917 when he guided them to a 21-3-1 record in Jesse Harper's last three years as head coach. Following graduation Phelan served in the US Navy where he was assigned to the Missouri as First Lieutenant. In 1920 he was hired at Missouri as head coach where he was 13-3-0 in two seasons before he moved to Purdue in 1922. In eight seasons as the Boilermakers head coach Phelan was 35-22-5 including an 8-0 squad in 1929. In 12 years as head coach at Washington, Phelan guided the Huskies to a 65-37-8 record. The Huskies went to the Rose Bowl in 1937 where they lost to Pittsburgh 21-0. Phelan guided the Huskies to their first bowl victory in the Pineapple Bowl in 1938 when they beat Hawaii 53-13. Phelan left Washington in 1941 for St. Mary's (Calif.). He later became the first Husky head coach to coach in the professional football league when he skippered the New York Titans, New York Yankees, Baltimore Colts, and Texas Rangers. He later got involved in politics and served three terms as County Commissioner for Sacramento County in California where he became a personal friend of then governor Ronald Reagan. He died November 14, 1979 at the age of 81. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1973 and into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1986.

Claude J. Hunt, 1917, 1919

Hunt graduated from DePauw University in 1911. Washington hired Hunt in 1917 after Hunt had guided Carleton College in Minnesota to consecutive undefeated seasons. Hunt did not coach the 1918 squad because he was off fighting World War I. Lincoln High School football coach Tony Savage led the 1918 squad which played only two games (1-1). Hunt's overall record at Washington was 6-3-1.

Leonard B. "Stub" Allison 1920

Allison attended and graduated from Carleton College in Minnesota. He was promoted to head coach after serving as an assistant at Washington in 1919. Allison coached the last Washington football game at Denny Field on November 5, 1920 which ended in a 3-0 loss to Stanford. He also coached the first game at Husky Stadium on November 27, 1920 when Washington lost to Dartmouth 28-7 before 24,000 fans to finish the season a disappointing 1-5-0. Allison's squad was the last at Washington to be nicknamed the Sun Dodgers. Allison later resurfaced as the head coach at California in 1935 after serving as an assistant in Berkeley from 1931-34. In 10 seasons as the Bears' head coach, Allison compiled a 58-42-2 record including a 10-0-1 squad in 1937 that finished second in the AP poll and beat Alabama in the 1938 Rose Bowl 13-0 which is Cal's last Rose Bowl win.

Ralph "Pest" Welch

1942-47

Welch graduated from Purdue in 1930 where he was an All-American halfback under Jim Phelan. Welch followed Phelan to Washington where he served as an assistant coach in all but one (1938) of Phelan's 12 years at Washington. Welch finished with a 27-20-3 record at Washington and took the '43 squad to the 1944 Rose Bowl where they lost to USC 29-0. Welch's six seasons were marked by the turmoil caused by World War II as players came and left as their war duties allowed them to. Welch resigned in 1948.

Howard Odell 1948-52

Odell graduated from Pittsburgh in 1934 after playing at running back and punter on the 1932-33 Panther squads. He remained at Pittsburgh for two seasons as backfield coach. In 1936 he moved to Harvard for two seasons and then to Pennsylvania from 1938-40. In 1941 he served as the backfield coach at Wisconsin under Harry Stuhldreher, one of Notre Dame's Four Horsemen. He got his first head coaching job at Yale in 1942 and stayed through 1947 compiling a record of 35-15-2 which included Yale's 500th victory in 1945. He was hired at Washington in 1948 and stayed until 1952. Odell's overall record at the UW was 23-25-12. He coached two of Washington's greatest players in Hugh McElhenny and Don Heinrich. He opened a used car lot after he left the coaching ranks. In 1957 he was elected King County Commissioner and served until 1962 when he retired and moved to Southern California.

John Cherberg, 1953-55

Cherberg was a Seattle native who graduated from Washington in 1933. He played for Jim Phelan's 1930-32 squads and played every backfield position. After graduation Cherberg coached Cleveland High School from 1933-37 where he won the '37 State Championship. The same year he was named the Seattle Post-Intelligencer Sports Man of the Year. In 1938, he moved to his high school alma mater, Queen Anne High School, where he stayed until 1945 while winning two state titles. In 1946 he was hired at Washington as a backfield assistant under Ralph Welch. In 1948 he moved to the Huskies' freshman head coach position where he lost his first game but won the next 22. In 1953 he was promoted to head coach where he guided the Huskies to a 10-18-2 mark spanning three seasons. Cherberg then ran for Washington's Lieutenant Governor in 1957 and won, the first of eight consecutive victories. Cherberg served as Lt. Governor for 32 years which spanned five governors. He retired in January 1989. He died on April 8, 1992 at the age of 80. He was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1981.

Darrell Royal, 1956

Before attending college, Royal enlisted in the Air Force after graduating from high school in 1943. In the Air Force, he attained the rank of staff sergeant. Royal graduated from Oklahoma in 1950 where he lettered on four conference championship squads from 1946-49. Royal was an all-conference quarterback in 1949 when the Sooners finished 11-0. After graduation, Royal served one-year stints as an assistant at North Carolina State, Tulsa, and Mississippi State. In 1953 Royal moved to the Canadian pro league as head coach at Edmonton where he went 16-5 and won the Western Division Championship. In 1954 he returned to Mississippi State as head coach and went 12-8 over two seasons. In his one season at Washington the Huskies went 5-5-0. Royal then decided to settle down at Texas where he was head coach from 1957-76 and compiled a 167-47-5 record that included 11 Top 10 finishes, three national championships, 11 Southwest Conference crowns and 16 bowl games. He also served as Texas Athletic Director from 1962-80. In 1980 he was named a special assistant on athletics to UT President Peter Flawn, a role he still serves in on a part-time basis today. Royal was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1983.

Jim Owens, 1957-74

Owens served two-and-a-half years with the Naval Air Corps during World War II. Following his service, Owens enrolled at Oklahoma where he played from 1946-49. Owens was the Sooners' captain and leading receiver, earning him All-American honors on Oklahoma's 11-0 squad in 1949. After graduating in 1950, Owens played one season for the Baltimore Colts while also serving as a part-time assistant at John Hopkins University. Owens was then an assistant under Paul "Bear" Bryant at Kentucky from 1951-53 and followed Bryant to Texas A&M in 1954 and stayed until 1956. At Washington, Owens was 99-82-6 during his 18 seasons as head coach. Owens' Husky teams won three AAWU titles and went to three Rose Bowls including the Huskies' first ever Rose Bowl win in 1960, a 44-8 romp over Wisconsin. Owens split his other two trips to Pasadena when the Huskies beat Minnesota 17-7 in 1961 and lost to Illinois in 1964, 17-7. Owens retired following the 1974 campaign and resides in the Montana area. He was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame as part of the inaugural class in 1979.

Don James, 1975-92

Don James was born December 31, 1932 in the football hotbed of Massillon, Ohio. There he played quarterback and defensive back for two state championship teams at Washington High School. He then accepted a scholarship to Miami of Florida where he set five school passing records. James was then commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the US Army where he served two years before resuming his studies at the University of Kansas and doubling as the Jayhawks' freshmen football coach. He graduated in 1957 with a master's degree in education. He moved back to Miami where he was head football coach at Southwest Miami High School for two years. He then turned to the college ranks and served as an assistant coach at Florida State (1956-65), Michigan (1966-67) and Colorado (1968-70). In 1971, James was named head coach at Kent State where he stayed four years compiling a 25-19-1 record and taking Kent State to its first-ever bowl game. Two days before Christmas in 1974, James accepted the head coaching position at Washington. In his 18 years at Washington, James compiled a 153-57-2 record making him the winningest football coach in Washington history. His 99 Pac-10 victories are the most in Pac-10 history. He took his teams to 15 bowl games (10-5) including a Pac-10 record nine straight from 1979-87. He guided the Huskies to six Rose Bowls and is one of only four coaches to win four Rose Bowl games. His 1991 team finished the season 12-0 and won Washington's first ever national championship. When James retired he had the 10th best active winning percentage, the eighth most victories among active coaches, fourth most bowl victories, fourth best bowl winning percentage and the 12th most bowl appearances. James was president of the American Football Coaches Association in 1989 and was named national college coach of the year in 1984 and 1991. James was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1993 and the College Football Hall of Fame in 1997. Don and his wife, Carol, currently reside in Bellevue.

1924 Rose Bowl Washington 14, Navy 14

January 1, 1924

Washington missed a field goal "by a scant three feet" as time expired and the Huskies settled for a 14-14 tie with the heavily favored Midshipmen of the Naval Academy in the 1924 Rose Bowl, played before 40,000 fans.

The Huskies, coached to a 10-1 record coming into the game by third-year coach Enoch Bagshaw, had to fight back twice, falling behind 7-0 early and later trailing 14-7 to the well-drilled Middies of Annapolis. The Naval Academy (5-1-1) used a sophisticated passing attack, a style not seen before on the West Coast, to confuse the Husky defense in the first half. Navy completed all 11 passes it attempted in the first half, and hit 14 in a row before the Huskies managed to stop one. Navy completed 16-of-20 for the day.

Navy opened the scoring at the start of the second period on a 20-yard pass from quarterback Ira McKee to halfback Carl Cullen. Navy dominated the first period with its unorthodox passing offense, completing six tosses, but was unable to score before time expired in the period. The Midshipmen used a short, two-handed, basketball toss for the bulk of their passing attack.

Washington answered on its next drive. Husky guard Jim Bryan trapped the Navy kick at midfield. The Huskies tried the line for no gain, and then Husky quarterback Fred Abel threw a 30-yard pass out of punt formation to Kinsley Dubois on the right wing. Left halfback George Wilson took the next play off-tackle 14 yards for the Huskies' first touchdown. The extra point by Lester Sherman made it 7-7.

After an exchange of punts, Navy completed a 45-yard pass over center to the Washington 7-yard line. Three line plunges netted no gain, but on fourth down the Middies used the basketball toss from McKee to Cullen around right end for the touchdown. The extra point made it 14-7 at the half.

The game settled into a defensive struggle in the third quarter. Washington was unable to advance the ball against Navy and the Middies marched the field but could not score, thwarted by Husky center Chalmers Walter's interception of an errant McKee pass inside the Husky 20-yard line early in the quarter. Navy also missed a field goal as time expired in the period.

Midway through the fourth period the Huskies got a break. Trapped deep in its own end, Navy mis-snapped the ball in punt formation, with the Huskies recovering the loose ball on the Navy 10-yard line.

Two line plays netted the Huskies a loss of two yards and a third-down pass attempt also failed, leaving the Dawgs with a fourth-and-12 situation. Washington lined up, then had fullback Elmer Tesreau jump up to the line, and the end dropped back, leaving the left guard Jimmy Bryan eligible to catch a pass. Bryan delayed, then released and gathered in Abel's pass, stumbling across the goal line for the touchdown. The Sherman-booted extra point made it 14-14.

Washington had one last chance to win, as the Huskies drove to the 25-yard line with less than five minutes to play on a long pass from Abel to Wilson. Washington's field goal attempt by Leonard Zell from 24 yards out had the distance but curved left. Navy took over on downs at the 20, and advanced as far as midfield when the game ended.

1926 Rose Bowl Alabama 20, Washington 19

January 1, 1926

Coach Enoch Bagshaw's Huskies, 10-0-1 entering the Rose Bowl game, built a 12-0 lead, dominating the first half, only to lose the lead and the game in 12 frantic minutes of the third quarter as Alabama, 9-0, scored 20 unanswered points. Husky All-American halfback George Wilson, named the bowl's Most Valuable Player, was out of the game with an injury during the scoring binge as 'Bama took a lead Washington could not overcome in front of 45,000 fans at the Rose Bowl.

The game is remembered as Wilson's greatest, and is one that is rated a classic in Rose Bowl history.

Damon Runyon covered the contest for the Universal Service and put it succinctly: "As George Wilson went, so went Washington. If there ever was a one-man football team, George was it. When Wilson was on the field it was a ball game."

Wilson played 38 minutes and was out with injury for 22. During the 38 he played, Washington scored three touchdowns and gained 300 yards. Alabama threatened, but failed to score. During the 22 minutes Wilson was on the sideline, Washington gained a total of 14 yards and failed to score. Alabama, under coach Wallace Wade, notched the three touchdowns and two conversions which won the game during Wilson's defensive absence.

Wilson took a lateral to the 'Bama 1-yard line in the first quarter, and provided the blocking for right halfback Harold Paton's 1-yard plunge that gave the Huskies a 6-0 lead.

In the second quarter, a 36-yard Wilson run paved the way for Washington's second touchdown, a pass from Wilson to left end John Cole. The Huskies missed both PAT kicks in the first half-something that would have its greatest impact at game's end.

Trailing by 12 points after the half, "Pooley" Hubert took it upon himself to bring Alabama back. From the Washington 42-yard line, he called his own number five consecutive times, carrying the ball a total of 58 yards for the Crimson Tide score. On its next possession, Alabama returned the kickoff to its own 21-yard line. Five line plunges carried the ball to the 39. Alabama then struck on a 61-yard bomb from Hubert to Johnny Mack Brown to give Alabama its first lead in the game, 14-12.

Alabama continued its attack after recovering a Washington fumble at midfield. Another long pass to Brown, this one from Grant Gillis for 40 yards, placed the Tide on the Washington 5-yard line. Brown carried the ball the final 5 yards for a 20-12 Crimson Tide lead.

Wilson returned to lead the frantic Husky comeback attempt in the final period. Alabama was on the Husky 15-yard line, threatening to seal its victory, but the Tide could not convert a fourth-and-one situation. Washington took over on its own 12-yard line.

Wilson gained 17 yards on first down and three plays later Paton advanced to the 'Bama 43 around left end. After a short Wilson pass for a first down, the Husky left halfback threw to quarterback George Guttormsen for a 27-yard touchdown.

The extra point by Gene Cook put Washington within one, 20-19. Washington's final threat ended with an interception at midfield just before time expired.

January 1, 1937

The University of Pittsburgh, 7-1-1 under coach John "Jock" Sutherland, dominated both sides of the ball, handing coach James Phelan's 7-1-1 Huskies a 21-0 defeat in front of 87,196 fans at the Rose Bowl-then the largest crowd at a Rose Bowl game. Pitt notched three touchdowns, one on a 71-yard interception return, and held the Huskies to only 153 yards of total offense while racking up 300 yards themselves.

After an exchange of punts in the first period, Pitt took over on its own 45. On second down, left halfback Marshall Goldberg took a reverse to the Husky 35 and then halfback Bob LaRue took the same play to the Washington 10. Fullback Frank Patrick scored on a 1-yard plunge three plays later for an early 7-0 Golden Panther lead.

Pitt held the Huskies to end the first quarter leading 7-0, and Washington put together one of its only sustained drives of the day to begin the second period of play, against 10 Pitt second-teamers. All-America left end Bill Daddio was the only starter playing for the Panthers at the time.

The Huskies drove as far as the Pitt 40 but the passing offense bogged down, forcing a punt on fourth-and-four. Pitt promptly drove to the Husky 35, almost strictly on blasts through the middle of the line. On first down the Panthers tried to cross up the Dawgs with a pass, but reserve halfback Frank Waskowitz intercepted the pass. On first down, Waskowitz passed to Byron Haines who carried to the Pitt 36, followed by another Waskowitz to Haines pass to the 20. The Pitt pass defense stiffened with the return of the Golden Panther starters and the Huskies ended up turning the ball over on downs after a fourth-down pass fell incomplete.

The half ended with Pittsburgh still holding a 7-0 lead.

The Huskies kicked off to open the second half, and the Panthers took over on their own 27. Washington got the break it had been looking for when Pitt fumbled on second down, with right end Frank Peters recovering for the Dawgs. The Huskies squandered the opportunity, however, as Haines threw a first-down interception.

On the ensuing drive, Pitt drove 75 yards for a touchdown. LaRue raced to the Husky 30 on a man-in-motion play through the middle of the line. From there the Panthers simply stuck it to Washington, using five plays into the center of the line, with the fullback, Patrick, plunging over from the 5 for his second touchdown.

Washington's final comeback attempt was snuffed when Daddio intercepted a left-handed lateral attempt on the Husky 35 and returned it 71 yards for the clinching touchdown. Pitt eventually ran out the clock on the Husky 4-yard line.

Pittsburgh claimed the Rose Bowl title with a display of power football. The Panthers attempted only four passes and used their speediest back, Goldberg, largely in a decoy role with Patrick and LaRue running play after play through the middle of the line.

January 1, 1938

Washington, 5-2-2 in coach James Phelan's eighth season, crushed the host University of Hawaii, rolling to a 53-0 lead before the Husky reserves allowed the Islanders two meaningless touchdowns late in the final period, in front of 13,500 spectators at the Pineapple Bowl.

Washington scored four times in the opening quarter, ignited by the open-field running of left halfback Jimmy Johnston. The Huskies' first score featured Johnston running 15 yards before lateralling to center Bud Erickson, who carried 32 yards for a touchdown. Tackle Vic Markov kicked the extra point. After stopping Hawaii, Johnston threw a 35-yard pass to end Merle Miller for the second Husky score in as many possessions.

Minutes later, Johnston returned a Hawaii punt 70 yards to the Islander two, and Miller went through the center of the line for the third Dawg touchdown. Johnston rambled for another 30-yard gain, stopped this time on the 1-yard line. Reserve fullback Don Jones notched the score on a plunge through the line. Dick Johnson's kick gave Washington a 26-0 lead at the end of the first quarter while Hawaii had yet to manage a first down.

The second quarter saw a continuation of the Husky onslaught. Despite having pulled most of its starting players, Washington continued to man-handle the smaller Hawaiian line. Everett Austin, a Husky halfback, rambled 41 yards for a touchdown. Washington kicked off, and held the Islanders, forcing a punt. Washington halfback Joe Dubsky took the punt on the fly and returned it 39 yards before lateralling it to tackle Rich Worthington, who carried it the final 11 yards for a touchdown. Dubsky's conversion gave the Huskies a 39-0 lead which they took into the half.

The Huskies scored single touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters. In the third, Lloyd Phelps broke loose for a 53-yard touchdown run. The final Husky points were tallied by Jones on a 20-yard run in the fourth quarter.

The Islanders scored on two short plunges by fullback Vernon Akee Choy and added one Joe Kaulukukui PAT kick to avoid the shutout. For the day, Washington outgained Hawaii 370 yards to 95. The Huskies were 3-of-7 passing for 60 yards. Hawaii was 10-of-28 for 160 yards.

1944 Rose Bowl Southern California 29, Washington 0

January 1, 1944

A regular Pacific Coast Conference season was not played in 1943 because of wartime travel restrictions, so the Northern Division champion, Washington, faced the Southern Division champion, Southern California, in the Rose Bowl. The Rose Bowl winner would reign as champion of the Pacific Coast Conference.

The Trojans (7-2) ended Washington's perfect season (4-0) by upsetting the heavily favored Huskies, 29-0, with four touchdown passes to uncovered receivers in front of 68,000 at the Rose Bowl. Earlier in the season the Southern California team lost to the 4th Air Force Flyers, 35-0, while Washington defeated this same club handily, 27-7. Because of a lack of opponents during wartime, the Rose Bowl game was the first activity in two months for coach Pest Welch's Washington Huskies.

Washington controlled the first period, twice driving deep into Trojan territory, but was unable to convert the drives into points. Washington could not run against the USC line inside the 40 and was unable to mount a passing attack the entire day, completing only five tosses for 51 yards with three interceptions. The second period was similar, as the Trojans continued to attempt to run against Washington's larger defensive line with little success.

Late in the period the Trojans turned to the air, negating Washington's size advantage with quick passes to their fleet ends. USC had a fourth down on the Washington 11 with only 40 seconds remaining in the half when Trojan quarterback Jim Hardy tossed to halfback George Callahan, who made a final move at the goal line for the touchdown. Dick Jamison added the point-after kick and the Trojans had a 7-0 lead at the half.

Southern California converted on a similar play midway through the third period when Callahan pulled in another pass from Hardy this time in a crowd of Husky defenders for a score, and with the second Jamison PAT, USC had a 14-0 lead.

Trojan left end Gordon Gray also caught two touchdown passes, one late in the third period from Hardy and the final one in the fourth quarter from left-handed quarterback Ainslie Bell. Bell had started the game but gave way to Hardy in a scheme planned to settle down Hardy, the Trojans' usual starter. USC coach Jeff Cravath felt Hardy had played better in a reserve role the year before.

Southern California added points on a blocked punt early in the fourth quarter when Husky quarterback Everett Austin, handling the punting duties, could not get a punt away out of his own end zone. The blocked punt, compliments of Trojan tackle Harry Plank, was covered by Washington fullback Wally Kramer in the end zone for the automatic safety.

Washington led in net rushing yardage, 134-117, but was dominated in passing yards, 113-51. The Huskies also fumbled twice, and although they recovered both times, the drops helped stop drives. USC, which entered the game with a reputation as fumbling champions of the country (the Trojans lost 29-of-50 fumbles on the year) did not lose either of its two fumbles.

1960 Rose Bowl Washington 44, Wisconsin 8

January 1, 1960

A capacity crowd watched the underdog Washington Huskies score more Rose Bowl points than any other West Coast team in history, rolling to six touchdowns and a field goal over the slower Badgers of Wisconsin. Wisconsin, 8-1 coming into the game under fourth-year coach Milt Bruhn, was favored by 6-1/2 points over a Husky squad that featured no seniors among its starters.

Washington, coached by Jim Owens to a 9-1 record before the bowl game, gambled early and late, attempting fourth-down plays in the first as well as the fourth quarter. On the Huskies' second drive of the game, with the score still tied at zero, Washington quarterback Bob Schloredt audibled twice on fourth down, leading to halfback Don McKeta's 6-yard touchdown run. Soon after, Washington recovered the first of four Wisconsin fumbles and Husky halfback George Fleming booted a 36-yard field goal for a 10-0 lead.

Fleming provided a dramatic example of the Huskies' superior speed, returning a punt 53 yards for a touchdown and adding his own extra point for a 17-0 lead. Wisconsin put together its only scoring drive of the game on the strength of three completed passes. Tom Wiesner gained the final 4 yards to score. The Badgers converted a two-point conversion, a pass from quarterback Dale Hackbart to left end Allan Schoonover, to slice the lead to nine points, 17-8.

Washington responded quickly to quell any idea of a Badger comeback. Fleming had another long punt return, this one for 55 yards, and Schloredt followed the return with a 23-yard pass to end Lee Folkins. Folkins made an outstanding leaping snag in the end zone to extend the Dawgs' lead to 24-8.

Washington continued to keep Wisconsin off balance in the third quarter. Fullback Ray Jackson pounded away on five plays for 46 yards of the 66-yard touchdown drive. He scored on a two-yard dive.

The Huskies hammered the final nail into the Badger coffin by stopping the Big Ten representatives on four consecutive plays inside the 10-yard line. Taking over on its own 7, Washington marched 93 yards in 10 plays to score again. The drive included another Schloredt fourth-down conversion, this one from his own 16-yard line. Schloredt scored on a 3-yard keeper to up the lead to an insurmountable 38-8. Schloredt and Fleming were named Co-Most Valuable Players by the Rose Bowl committee.

The Husky reserves notched Washington's final score as backup quarterback Bob Hivner lobbed a 3-yard pass to halfback Don Millich.

1961 Rose Bowl Washington 17, Minnesota 7

January 2, 1961

Washington, 9-1 under fourth-year coach Jim Owens, entered the 1961 Rose Bowl as defending champions but decided underdogs. The Minnesota Gophers, 8-1 and coached by Murray Warmath, entered the game atop the national polls. They left with a 17-7 setback courtesy of an explosive Husky start and the determined second-half defense of Owens' players.

Washington used its superior quickness to offset Minnesota's size advantage in the early going. The Huskies scored their first points in a fourth-down-and-three situation on Minnesota's 27-yard line. Halfback George Fleming kicked a 44-yard field goal, putting Washington on the scoreboard first and Fleming into the Rose Bowl record book with the longest field goal kick in its history.

Quarterback Bob Schloredt, who missed the second half of the season with an injury, entered the game in the first quarter replacing starter Bob Hivner. Schloredt promptly fired a 12-yard pass to fullback Ray Jackson. Jackson followed the reception with a 30-yard run to the Gopher 30. Three line plunges later, the ball rested on the Gopher 18 as the first quarter ended. The Huskies were using mostly outside tosses to advance the ball, a pattern the Gophers did not adjust to defensively until the second half.

Charlie Mitchell, a Husky halfback, took a toss around the right side for another 10 yards to the Gopher 8 to open the second quarter. Schloredt advanced to the 3-yard line, losing the opportunity to score when he slipped. After an incomplete pass, Schloredt hit halfback Brent Wooten with a 3-yard toss for the first touchdown in the 47th annual Rose Bowl game. Fleming's extra point put the Dawgs up 10-0.

Still unable to move against the fast-reacting Washington line, Minnesota punted. A clipping penalty on the return left the Huskies on their own 13, and they lost six yards on their first play. Schloredt punted from the 7-yard line to the Husky 47. Minnesota took over with its first good scoring chance but the Gophers could not convert. The Gophers drove to the 32 and then turned the ball over on downs.

Washington quickly marched down the field. Jackson carried for 10 yards and then Fleming took a pitch to the 48. Faced with a second-and-two, Schloredt called his own number on the quarterback sneak. Minnesota was expecting an outside play. Schloredt slid through the middle, broke loose to the right, picked up an important block from end Folkins, and didn't get caught until he was dragged down on the 18, a 31-yard gain. Jackson gained 3 up the middle, then Schloredt rolled out and carried the ball to the 7-yard line. Jackson carried it to the 1-foot line and Schloredt scored the touchdown on a sneak. With Fleming's PAT, Washington had 17 points—all that the Huskies would score—and a 17-0 lead at the half.

Minnesota scored its only points of the game in the third quarter, taking advantage of one of Washington's three fumbles to set to work on the Husky 32. The Gophers drove 32 yards, scoring on an 18-yard option play. Right halfback Bill Munsey took the pitch from Gopher quarterback Sandy Stephens, scoring on his third carry of the day. James Rogers added the PAT. Schloredt was named Most Valuable Player, the second time in as many years he was accorded the honor.

1964 Rose Bowl Illinois 17, Washington 7

January 1, 1964

The Huskies entered their third Rose Bowl in five years in a familiar position—as an underdog. Coach Pete Elliott's Illinois team had a 7-1-1 regular-season record and was ranked third in the country, while the Huskies had overcome an 0-3 start to finish the year 6-4 under seven-year head coach Jim Owens, with only a loss to UCLA in Los Angeles blemishing their seven-game run to the roses.

Washington featured a hard-driving ground game anchored by quarterback Bill Douglas, fullback Junior Coffey, and future pro halfbacks Ron Medved and Dave Kopay. The defense earned its reputation as a hard-hitting group which was almost impossible to run against, anchored by a future Husky assistant coach, end Jim Lambright. The Illini featured perhaps the most famous alumnus of the 1964 Rose Bowl, linebacker Dick Butkus.

The Huskies started play as though they were anything but underdogs. Steve Bramwell, now the Husky team doctor, took the opening kickoff out to Washington's 22-yard line. Kopay took the first play around right end for nine yards and the Huskies were off and running.

The opening drive marched down field, slowed only by three penalties (two offsidess and a backfield-in-motion call). On a first-and-10 play from the Illinois 26, quarterback Bill Douglas used a quarterback keeper through the middle of the line for a gain of 12. It proved to be a costly first down. Douglas was injured on the play and left the field on a stretcher, out for the day.

Backup quarterback Bill Siler entered the game and completed the first pass he attempted, but left end Al Libke fumbled on the Illini 6-yard line.

After an exchange of punts to open the second quarter, Illinois fumbled on its own 27-yard line on a first-down play. Washington took over and quickly scored. Siler carried for three yards on first down, and on second down he threw 18 yards to right end Joe Mancuso, who was downed on the 6. Washington scored on an option play, with Siler pitching to right halfback Kopay for the 6-yard touchdown. Medved added the PAT kick.

Washington kicked off and Illinois drove down the field, keeping the ball for almost eight minutes. Faced with a fourth-and-four on the Washington eight, Illini quarterback Fred Custardo dropped back to pass and was sacked for a 4-yard loss by Mancuso. Washington took over on its own 12, but Siler fumbled on second down with center Bruce Capel recovering for Illinois on the 15, allowing UI's Jim Plankenhorn to kick a 32-yard field goal as time expired in the first half.

Illinois converted another Washington turnover into points early in the second half. Siler was intercepted at midfield. The ball was returned to the Washington 32 where Illinois started its second scoring drive. The Illini scored in six plays for a 10-7 lead, helped by a Washington piling-on penalty.

Washington had a chance to go ahead at the end of the third quarter, but on a third-and-seven, Siler's pass was picked off on the Illinois 4-yard line. Illinois responded with the only full drive of the day, moving from the Husky 15-yard line, 85 yards for the touchdown. Almost as important as the points was the fact that Illinois ate up eight minutes of the final quarter on the drive.

1978 Rose Bowl Washington 27, Michigan 20

January 2, 1978

Washington, 9-2 in the regular season after two forfeit wins were awarded by the NCAA, capped its 1977 Cinderella season in the 64th annual Rose Bowl with a thrilling 27-20 upset victory over heavily favored Michigan before 105,312 fans. Don James directed his team from a 1-3 early-season record to a 7-4 mark, winning seven of its last eight games en route to Washington's first bowl victory in 17 years.

The Huskies were led from the outset by Pac-8 Co-Player of the Year and eventual Rose Bowl MVP, quarterback Warren Moon. On Washington's first possession, Moon led the Huskies 49 yards in 10 plays and scored the touchdown himself on a 2-yard jaunt to open the scoring, 7-0.

James' squad parlayed a 62-yard Moon to Spider Gaines pass into a 30-yard field goal to extend the lead to 10-0 early in the second quarter. Washington came right back on its next possession to finish the first-half scoring with a 60-yard drive and another Moon touchdown run this time from 1-yard out.

Washington outgained the Wolverines by a wide margin of 246 total yards to 111 as the first-half gun went off. The Huskies conveyed thoughts of a rout when Moon threw a 28-yard touchdown strike early in the third quarter to his favorite target, Gaines. The 24-0 bulge seemed insurmountable with just 5:21 remaining in the third quarter.

That lead was short-lived, however, as the Wolverines struck back in just two plays. Left-handed Michigan quarterback Rick Leach gunned a 76-yard bomb to Curt Stephenson to put the Wolverines on the board, just 50 seconds after Washington constructed its largest lead.

Washington lit up the scoreboard for the final time when Steve Robbins hit a 28-yard three-pointer. The field goal widened the Pac-8 champions' lead to 27-7 with just 0:50 remaining in the third period.

Michigan wasn't about to be embarrassed as the Wolverines marched 78 yards on 11 plays to open the fourth quarter, culminating the drive with a 2-yard Russell Davis dive for six points. Gregg Willner added the PAT and Michigan was back in business, closing the gap to 27-14. As Washington's game turned conservative, Michigan again scored on a Leach pass to Stanley Edwards. However, the momentum swung back Washington's way on the next play as Willner missed the conversion on a bad snap and the Washington lead remained seven points at 27-20.

The game turned into a defensive battle in the final minutes as Washington intercepted two Leach passes, including a Michael Jackson pickoff at Washington's own 3-yard line with just over a minute remaining. Cornerback Nesby Glasgow ended the Pasadena Classic with another interception as time ran out on Michigan.

1979 Sun Bowl Washington 14, Texas 7

December 22, 1979

Sixth-ranked Texas and 13th-ranked Washington, 9-2 going into the bowl, squared off in the 45th annual Sun Bowl with the Longhorns tabbed as seven-point favorites, but the Huskies picked up their second bowl victory in three years thanks to an opportunistic offense and a hard-hitting defense that continually made the big play.

The turning point of the game may have come as early as the first quarter when Texas drove the length of the field on its first possession to set up a first-and-goal at the Husky 9. Three running plays made it fourth-and-goal at the 1-yard line, and then Texas quarterback Donnie Little ran an option right only to have Husky strong safety Greg Grimes drop him for a 1-yard loss.

The Husky defense made another big play eight downs later when Jim Pence forced a Texas fumble and Stafford Mays recovered on the Longhorn 42. Moments later, on third-and-11 from the Texas 18, Tom Flick found Paul Skansi in the right corner of the end zone for a 7-0 lead.

Washington was back in business two plays later when Mark Lee disrupted an option pitch and Grimes recovered the loose ball on the Texas 23. Husky freshman tailback Willis Ray Mackey, making a homecoming to the state where he played his prep football, carried four times and got the game-winner with a 4-yard slash up the middle.

Texas, too, capitalized on a big defensive play to score its only points. Flick was hit while trying to pass and the Longhorns recovered on the Husky 44. Eleven plays later, Little found running back Brad Beck in the end zone for the score.

The second half was a bitter defensive struggle and the game finally came down to Texas' final possession at the Husky 44 with 3:01 left. The Longhorns managed one first down to the UW 32 before feeling the fury of the Washington pass rush on four straight downs. When the final blitz was over, Texas had been shoved all the way back to its own 48 and the Huskies celebrated their Sun Bowl title.

January 1, 1981

Washington, finishing the regular season with a 9-2 record and ranked 16th nationally in both polls, met Big Ten champion Michigan, the fifth-ranked team in the country, in the Rose Bowl under circumstances reminiscent of their 1978 meeting at the same venue. The Huskies again entered the Pasadena Classic as decided underdogs, but this time could not pull off the upset. Rather than the drama of the 27-20 victory over Michigan just three years earlier, Washington suffered a disappointing 23-6 defeat despite outplaying the winners for the first half.

The Huskies came out impressive, but there was a sense that nothing would go their way. On the third play of the game, Tom Flick found Aaron Williams over the middle, but only after the ball was tipped into his hands. The play went for 52 yards, but was called back due to offensive pass interference.

On Washington's second possession, Flick marched the club 63 yards to just inside the Wolverine 1-yard line. But on fourth-and-one from point-blank range, Toussaint Tyler was stopped for no gain. Although one official prematurely signalled a touchdown, he was overruled by the linesman.

The Huskies again appeared to have scored a touchdown when center Mike Reilly snared Kyle Stevens' mid-air fumble midway through the second period, and ran it into the end zone, but the play was ruled dead.

While Washington was outplaying its rival the Huskies led in total offense 269-133-Michigan led 7-6 going into the locker room at half. The second half was a different story, i.e., all Michigan. The Huskies were held to just 10 third-quarter plays while Michigan scored 16 second-half points.

1982 Rose Bowl Washington 28, Iowa 0

January 1, 1982

Washington, 9-2 in regular-season play, entered the 1982 Rose Bowl in a familiar position-as underdogs. For the fourth time in four postseason appearances, the Huskies' bowl opponent was rated the favorite and for the third time, Don James' club ignored the odds. Washington recorded the first Rose Bowl shutout in 28 years, a 28-0 whitewash of Big Ten champion Iowa.

The two clubs battled to a scoreless tie after one quarter, although Washington did get inside the Hawkeye 30-yard line twice thanks to the Husky kicking game. First cornerback Ray Horton returned an Iowa punt 48 yards to the Iowa 29, then punter Jeff Partridge was roughed in the act to keep another drive going until it stalled at the Hawkeye 28.

Eventual Rose Bowl MVP Jacques Robinson broke the scoring ice early in the second period, bulging over from 1-yard out to cap a 65-yard drive. Robinson romped for 34 yards on seven carries during the drive. Washington upped its lead to 13-0 just 0:19 before the half when fullback Vince Coby smashed over from a yard out to climax a 60-yard march.

Iowa made its deepest penetration in the third period-to the Husky 29-but was stymied by a Ken Driscoll interception. Robinson took over again in the final stanza, gaining 66 yards on three carries, including the final 34 yards on a nifty run up the right side, to cap a 69-yard drive that put the Huskies ahead 21-0. The UW onslaught ended with quarterback Tim Cowan's 3-yard reverse with 7:13 to go.

Washington took advantage of two Iowa fumbles and picked off three Hawkeye passes to turn the tide in its favor. Robinson gained 142 net yards on just 20 carries to pace the ground game, and quarterback Steve Pelluer completed 15-of-29 passes for another 142 yards.

Inside linebackers Mark Jerue (13) and Ken Driscoll (11) led the stop troops. Driscoll and defensive backs Vince Newsome and Derek Harvey each grabbed an enemy pass.

1982 Aloha Bowl Washington 21, Maryland 20

December 25, 1982

Tim Cowan's brilliant passing performance (33-53-0-350) brought Washington back from a 20-14 deficit for a 21-20 victory over Maryland in the inaugural Aloha Bowl on Christmas Day in Honolulu. The victory enabled Washington to finish 10-2 and be ranked No. 7 in both wire service polls.

Washington went 80 yards in 12 plays after the opening kickoff and took a 7-0 lead on Cowan's 27-yard pass to Anthony Allen. Cowan accounted for 66 of those yards on six completions in seven attempts. Maryland came right back to narrow the margin to 7-6 going just 19 yards after recovering a Sterling Hinds' fumble. The conversion failed. The Huskies struck with a bang just 6:00 before halftime when Cowan hit Allen all alone on the left sideline and Allen sprinted 71 yards for the score.

Maryland came back to score after the second-half kickoff as it moved 77 yards on six plays with the score coming on a 36-yard pass from Boomer Esiason to tight end John Tice. The conversion run failed and Washington held on to a 14-12 lead. Maryland put together a time-consuming (8:46) drive that spanned the third and fourth quarters to go ahead on a short run coming on the 16th play of the drive. Esiason found Tice for the two-point conversion and the Terrapins a 20-14 lead with nearly 11 minutes left.

The Terps had a great chance to put the game away after a Husky pass on fourth down went awry and Maryland took over on the Husky 19. A Terp field goal of 32 yards didn't find the mark, however, and Washington took over at the 20 with 3:49 left. The final drive was all Cowan as the senior quarterback either ran or passed the ball on 15-of-16 plays in marching the Huskies down the field.

Twice Cowan ran for first downs on fourth-down situations and found Allen for a first down on yet another fourth-down call. With third down on the Maryland 11 with 0:12 left, Cowan looked into the left corner of the end zone and found Allen free for the tying touchdown. Nelson's extra point gave Washington the 21-20 victory. Cowan's 33 completions and 363 yards in total offense were both UW historical bests (bowl games not officially included in Husky records) and his 350-yard passing performance had been bettered only three times. Allen also had an exceptional game with eight catches for 152 yards.

Cowan was voted offensive MVP while Husky linebacker Tony Caldwell was named defensive MVP.

1983 Aloha Bowl Penn State 13, Washington 10

December 26, 1983

Washington, 8-3 going into the postseason bowl, failed to make a 10-3 lead hold up as the Huskies gave up 10 points in the fourth quarter to lose 13-10 to Penn State in the second annual Aloha Bowl.

Penn State hit the scoreboard first when it moved 49 yards to the Husky seven on its first possession. The Huskies held PSU without a yard on three straight plays and the Nittany Lions settled for a 23-yard field goal and a 3-0 lead.

Washington took the lead early in the second quarter when the Husky defense had Penn State backed up with a fourth-and-11 on their own 19. The Lions punted to Danny Greene who took the ball on the Husky 43 and went 57 yards for a touchdown. The Huskies increased their lead to 10-3 late in the second panel when a 10-play, 65-yard drive culminated in a 39-yard Jeff Jaeger field goal.

The Lions began their comeback late in the third quarter when they took advantage of a 19-yard Husky punt to begin operations on the Husky 48. A key sack by Fred Small forced Penn State to try a field goal, which it converted from 49 yards, and the Lions cut the margin to 10-6. Penn State made another big play in the kicking game to set up its game-winning score. After pushing Washington back to its own 6-yard line with a punt of its own, Penn State forced the Huskies to punt. The Lions ran a reverse on the return to set up shop at their own 49-yard line. The Lions went 51 yards in nine plays, including two big third-down plays by quarterback Doug Strang, to score on a 2-yard run with three minutes left.

1985 Orange Bowl Washington 28, Oklahoma 17

January 1, 1985

Fourth-ranked Washington, 10-1 before the bowl, staked a claim to the national championship with a 28-17 come-from-behind victory over No. 2 Oklahoma. The Huskies made their sixth straight bowl appearance a monumental one, becoming the first Pac-10 team to compete in, and win, the Orange Bowl on a record-setting day in which three Pac-10 teams captured bowl victories (UCLA, Fiesta; USC, Rose).

A Miami throng of 56,294 witnessed Husky quarterback Hugh Millen come off the bench in relief of Paul Sicuro to lead Washington to a pair of touchdowns in a 1:04 span late in the ball game to secure the win.

The Huskies jumped to a quick 7-0 advantage in the first quarter when Sicuro found Danny Greene wide open in the end zone for a 29-yard score.

Senior tailback Jacques Robinson, named the game's Most Valuable Player (the only player in history named MVP of both the Orange and Rose Bowls), produced Washington's second score. Robinson rushed six times for 26 of his game-high 135 yards (28 carries) in the drive, which culminated with his 1-yard scoring run.

The Sooners rallied in the second stanza following a Husky turnover. Oklahoma tied the contest on the final play of the half with a lightning-quick scoring strike from quarterback Danny Bradley to split end Derrick Shepard covering 61 yards.

The Sooners took their first lead of the contest on a 35-yard Tim Lasher field goal with 8:45 left at 17-14.

On the next possession, Millen lobbed a critical third-and-nine completion to Green from his own 27, which covered 29 yards. Four downs later, Millen lofted a touch pass to senior split end Mark Pattison on the extreme left edge of the end zone, making the tally 21-17 in favor of the Huskies with 5:42 left.

A Joe Kelly interception led to a Rick Fenney 6-yard touchdown, sealing the win for Don James and his Huskies. The New Year's Day victory improved Washington's all-time bowl record to 8-6-1.

1985 Freedom Bowl Washington 20, Colorado 17

December 30, 1985

Sophomore quarterback Chris Chandler passed for 141 yards and ran for 72 more in leading Washington to a 20-17 victory over Colorado in the second annual Freedom Bowl in Anaheim. The win boosted Washington's overall bowl record to 9-6-1, and a 6-2 record in bowls under Don James. The Freedom Bowl was Washington's seventh straight postseason bowl appearance, and eighth in nine years.

The Huskies, 6-5 heading into the game, jumped off to a 3-0 lead late in the first quarter when placekicker Jeff Jaeger capped a 57-yard drive with a 30-yard field goal. Vince Weathersby had runs of 10 and 18 yards in the drive, and also took a shovel pass from Chandler for 17 more. Chandler ran 22 yards on an option play to get the ball in scoring territory.

Colorado used a 28-yard punt return midway through the second quarter to set up its first score. It took the Buffs nine plays to travel 26 yards. Anthony Weatherspoon got the touchdown on a 1-yard blast and Colorado took a 7-3 lead. Washington came back to move 80 yards and regain the lead. Chandler passed for 50 of the 80 yards and David Toy finally got the score on a 3-yard run with only 0:30 left before intermission. Jaeger's PAT made it 10-7 Huskies.

A Colorado field goal early in the third quarter tied the game at 10-10, but again Washington responded to regain the lead. A 36-yard kickoff return by David Trimble gave the Huskies excellent field position on their own 47. Chandler's 15-yard option keeper followed by a 14-yard pitch to Rod Jones were key plays in the drive. Weathersby got 12 yards on a draw play to the Colorado 5, and then Tony Covington ran twice and got the score on a 1-yard dive. Washington led 17-10.

Washington increased its lead to 20-10 on its next possession as the Huskies moved 67 yards on 11 plays. Chandler passes to Lonzell Hill, Covington and Toy accounted for 36 yards and Chandler added 19 more on another option run. With fourth-and-one at the Colorado 1-yard line, Washington opted for a sure three points on Jaeger's second field goal.

Colorado made things interesting midway through the fourth quarter when holder Barry Helton passed 31 yards to Jon Embree for a touchdown on a fake field goal as the Buffs cut Washington's lead to 20-17. Colorado got the ball right back and marched to the Husky 7 but Joe Kelly forced a fumble and David Rill recovered to preserve the win.

Chandler, starting only his third game at quarterback, was voted the game's MVP.

HISTORY

1986 Sun Bowl Alabama 28, Washington 6

December 25, 1986

A close game at the intermission (7-6) turned into a nightmare for the Huskies, 8-2-1 entering the bowl, in the second half as the Alabama Crimson Tide rolled up 21 unanswered points to record a 28-6 victory over Washington in the 53rd John Hancock Sun Bowl in El Paso, Texas.

Alabama got on the board first when sophomore running back Bobby Humphrey broke loose on a sweep to the right side of the line and scampered 64 yards for a touchdown with 14:10 remaining in the second quarter.

Washington got to within one point with a pair of Jeff Jaeger field goals. That would be the closest the Huskies would get the rest of the day. It was also the lowest post season scoring output for the UW since the 1981 Rose Bowl (a 23-6 loss to Michigan).

Bama quarterback Mike Shula got the Tide's air game into gear with a pair of touchdown passes, 32 yards to Al Richardson and 18 yards to Humphrey. On the day, Shula was 15-of-26 for 176 yards and no interceptions. The talented Humphrey rambled for 159 yards on 28 carries (5.7 yards per carry).

The potent Husky attack was limited to just 102 yards rushing while quarterback Chris Chandler exploited the Alabama secondary for 199 yards on 20-of-43 pass attempts. One of the big reasons the Husky backfield saw Crimson all day was due to the presence of All-America linebacker Cornelius Bennett, voted the game's Most Valuable Player, who led Alabama with 11 tackles and harassed Chandler the entire day.

Washington's two-game bowl win streak was ended. However, the Huskies did tie USC's Pac-10 mark for consecutive bowl appearances (eight). The Huskies ended the season ranked 17th by the UPI, 18th by AP and 19th by USA Today/CCN.

1987 Independence Bowl Washington 24, Tulane 12

December 19, 1987

Washington extended its post season record under head coach Don James to 7-3 with its 24-12 victory over Tulane in the Independence Bowl, played before 41,683 fans in Shreveport's Independence Stadium. It was Washington's third win in its last four bowl appearances.

Taking a 6-4-1 record into the game, the Husky defense kept the Tulane Green Wave from scoring a touchdown while Washington quarterback Chris Chandler was named the Independence Bowl's Offensive Player of the Game, passing for 234 yards and two touchdowns.

Led by 12 tackles from linebacker David Rill, the Washington defense held college football's 11th-best scoring team 20 points below its season average. Green Wave quarterback Terrence Jones completed 17-of-40 passes for 248 yards, and was intercepted once and sacked three times.

Rover Darryl Hall picked off an errant Jones pass on the Wave's first series to set up Washington's first touchdown -- a 3-yard run by tailback Tony Covington culminating a 61-yard, 10-play drive completed with 7:43 to play in the first period.

Tulane scored 10 second-quarter points on a 44-yard punt return by Mitchell Price and a 21-yard field goal by placekicker Todd Wiggins. The Green Wave's only other points came on a safety with seven seconds left in the game.

Washington did its share of second-quarter scoring, adding 14 points to its 7-0 first-quarter lead. Both of Chandler's second-quarter touchdowns were 5-yard pass completions, with the first going to tight end Bill Ames and the second to split end Darryl Franklin, sandwiching Wiggins' field goal. Washington placekicker Brandy Brownlee was responsible for the three point-after successes, but missed the one field goal he attempted from the 40-yard line early in the third quarter.

1989 Freedom Bowl Washington 34, Florida 7

December 30, 1989

The Huskies claimed their fourth win in their last five bowl appearances with a dominating 34-7 shellacking of the University of Florida Gators in front of 33,858 fans in Anaheim. The victory improved coach Don James' bowl record at Washington to 8-3.

Washington, 7-4 coming into the bowl, finished the 1989 season by winning six of its final seven games, including the Freedom Bowl.

Quarterback Cary Conklin, voted the game's Most Valuable Player, capped his record-setting Husky career in fine style, completing 21-of-39 passes for 217 yards. The Huskies' defense held Florida All-American running back Emmitt Smith to just 17 yards, negating any chance of a Florida victory. Husky running back Greg Lewis gained 97 yards on 27 carries.

Washington returned the opening kickoff 31 yards to the 36-yard line and had 15 more tacked on by a Florida clipping penalty, allowing the Dawgs to start their initial drive from the Gator 49. Conklin hit split end Mario Bailey with a 21-yard touchdown pass and, following John McCallum's PAT, the Huskies had an immediate 7-0 lead.

Florida answered quickly, as quarterback Donald Douglas went around left end for a 67-yard touchdown on Florida's second offensive play of the game. From then on it was all Washington. Florida gained just 16 more yards on the ground the remainder of the day, finishing with a total of 83.

Washington scored on its next three offensive possessions and added a blocked punt for a touchdown to take a 27-7 lead into the intermission.

McCallum started the scoring explosion when he kicked a 21-yard field goal for a 10-7 lead. The defense stopped Florida, and Washington drove for another score, with Conklin passing 10 yards to Andre Riley for the touchdown.

Channing Wyles punted to the Gator 1-yard line to set up the next Husky score. Florida ran Smith into the line twice for a gain of 1, and then threw an incomplete pass. Faced with a fourth-and-nine on their own 2, the Gators' Hank Rone attempted a punt. Chico Fraley stormed into block the kick and Jaime Fields recovered it in the end zone for the score. McCallum's extra point made it 24-7 and forced Florida away from its running game for good.

McCallum kicked one more field goal with just 18 seconds left in the half to bring Washington's point total to 27. For the half, Washington notched 18 first downs to only three for Florida, and controlled the ball for almost 24 minutes (23:47).

Playing mostly reserves, Washington cruised through the second half, tacking on a final touchdown late in the fourth quarter. Reserve quarterback Mark Brunell, a red-shirt freshman, scampered 20 yards for the game's final points.

January 1, 1991

Husky sophomore Mark Brunell passed for a pair of touchdowns and ran for two more to lead the Pac-10 Champion Washington to a convincing 46-34 win over Iowa. Washington and Iowa combined for 80 points, making the 77th Rose Bowl the highest scoring in history. The opportunistic Huskies built a 33-7 halftime lead, with two first-half touchdowns coming courtesy of the UW defense.

The Pasadena victory left Washington 10-2 for the season, while Iowa dropped to 8-4. The game marked Washington's 12th bowl appearance in the 16-year coaching reign of Don James, who improved his bowl record to 9-3, including 3-1 in the Rose Bowl.

Left-handed Brunell's running and passing skills earned him Rose Bowl MVP honors as he completed 14 of 22 passes for 163 yards. Washington faithful also rejoiced in the return of senior All-America running back Greg Lewis, who spent the month prior to the Rose Bowl rehabilitating an injured knee. Lewis hadn't lost a step, however, as he rushed for a game-high 128 yards on 19 carries.

Washington's defense, ranked first in the nation in stopping the run, allowed Iowa just 139 net yards on the ground, recorded five sacks and forced five turnovers (four interceptions) in the game. Iowa also became the sixth team in 1990-91 to surrender more than 40 points to the high-scoring Huskies. The strong tradition of Don James' special teams surfaced early in this game when red-shirt freshman Andy Mason blocked an Iowa punt that was scooped up by junior cornerback Dana Hall, who sprinted for a touchdown. With less than five minutes elapsed, Washington led 10-0. After Iowa closed to 10-7 with 12:39 left in the half, Washington erupted for 23 consecutive points.

A 38-yard Travis Hanson field goal, and a 37-yard interception return by senior cornerback Charles Mincy gave Washington momentum. Two touchdowns generated by Brunell, on a 5-yard run and a 22-yard pass to Mario Bailey, gave the Huskies their nearly insurmountable 33-7 lead at intermission.

Iowa threw a scare into the Huskies as Hawkeye quarterback Matt Rodgers rallied his team for 27 second-half points. Iowa fullback Nick Bell's 20-yard touchdown run with 5:07 to play pulled the Hawkeyes within 13 at 39-26. But Brunell put out the fire on the next possession with a 31-yard scoring completion to Bailey. A late Iowa score made the score 46-34 as Washington held on to claim the Pac-10's second consecutive Rose Bowl win and eighth in the past 10 years.

January 1, 1992

The Huskies' dominating defense overwhelmed Michigan's high-powered attack and Heisman Trophy winner Desmond Howard while Washington quarterback Billy Joe Hobert sparked the UW offense by scoring on a two-yard run for the first of Washington's 34 points and throwing for two other touchdowns.

Husky placekicker Travis Hanson scored two second-quarter field goals, from 23 and 24 yards, providing Washington a 13-7 lead at the half.

Hobert, who would share Rose Bowl Most Valuable Player honors with defensive tackle Steve Emtman, completed 18 of 34 passes for 192 yards. His touchdown passes went to freshman tight end Mark Bruener in the third quarter to give Washington a 14-point cushion, 21-7, and to senior tight end Aaron Pierce in the fourth quarter for a 27-7 Husky advantage. The five-yard completion from Hobert to Bruener was the freshman's first career touchdown.

The game marked Washington's 13th bowl appearance in the 17-year coaching reign of Don James, who improved his record in bowl games to 10-3, including 4-1 in the Rose Bowl. The 12-0 record was the Huskies' first perfect season since 1915 when Gil Dobie led the UW to a 7-0 mark.

Backup quarterback Mark Brunell, who was the 1991 Rose Bowl MVP, came off the bench and completed seven of eight passes for 89 yards and a touchdown. His 38-yard scoring pass went to senior Mario Bailey.

Emtman, who would be the No. 1 player drafted by the National Football League following his junior season, joined with his defensive companions to fluster the Wolverines' offensive efforts at every turn. The Huskies had six sacks on the Michigan quarterbacks. Linebacker Donald Jones flashed around the outside for three sacks and defensive end Andy Mason secured two of his six tackles in the Wolverine backfield. In fact, Wolverine starting quarterback Elvis Grbac finished the game with six carries for minus-42 yards. Cornerbacks Dana Hall and Walter Bailey held Howard to one catch, a 35-yard grab in Michigan's first possession of the second quarter.

The win in Pasadena catapulted Washington to its first-ever collegiate football National Championship, as the USA Today/CNN coaches poll awarded its No. 1 ranking to the Huskies. Miami was ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press poll following the Hurricanes' 22-0 shutout of Nebraska in the Orange Bowl, so the two 12-0 teams shared the national title.

1993 Rose Bowl Michigan 38, Washington 31

January 1, 1993

Attendance: 94,236

The ninth-ranked Huskies attempted to make history by winning their third straight Rose Bowl, but instead suffered a 38-31 defeat at the hands of seventh-ranked Michigan.

Washington led 24-21 at halftime but could not control Michigan tailback Tyrone Wheatley, who ran for 235 yards on just 15 carries, including touchdown runs of 88, 56 and 24 yards.

Michigan grabbed an early 3-0 lead on its first drive with a 41-yard Peter Elezovic field goal. Washington answered with a one-yard touchdown run by Darius Turner, capping a nine-play, 80-yard drive to go ahead 7-3. The key play of the drive was a 35-yard pass from senior quarterback Mark Brunell to tight end Mark Bruener across the middle, setting the Huskies up at the Michigan one-yard line.

The see-saw first half continued with Michigan taking a 17-7 lead before the Huskies pulled to within three on a 64-yard touchdown pass from Brunell to freshman Jason Shelley. Shelley, who would finish the game with three receptions for 100 yards, made the over-the-shoulder grab at the Michigan three-yard line and just cleared the plane of the goal line before having the ball knocked loose on a hit by Corwin Brown. Brunell's hot passing continued on Washington's next possession when he again connected with Bruener, this time in the corner of the end zone to put the Huskies ahead 21-17 at halftime.

Wheatley broke free again on the first play of the second half, bursting through the middle of the Husky line and racing 88 yards for a touchdown, putting the Wolverines back on top 24-21.

Husky sophomore Napoleon Kaufman, who was held to 39 yards rushing on 20 carries, gave the Huskies a boost on special teams when he answered the Wheatley touchdown run by returning the ensuing kickoff 47 yards to the Michigan 46-yard line. Fittingly he would cap the drive seven plays later with a dive over the top for a touchdown and a 28-24 lead.

Washington added to the lead on its next possession when Travis Hanson converted a 44-yard field goal for a 31-24 Husky lead. With the field goal, Hanson extended his career Rose Bowl record to five.

Despite the high-scoring offense, the Husky defense could not contain the Wolverine's rushing attack and surrendered the lead once again. Two possessions later Michigan took advantage of a Kaufman fumble at the Washington 24-yard line as Wheatley scored on the first play, tying the game at 31.

Michigan then scored the only points of the fourth quarter when Wolverine quarterback Elvis Grbac threw 15 yards to tight end Tony McGee for the eventual game-winning touchdown with 5:29 remaining.

Washington had two more possessions and drove as far as the Michigan 26-yard line but failed to convert and turned the ball over on downs each time.

The loss spoiled what was perhaps Brunell's finest performance in a Husky uniform. The senior quarterback completed 18-of-30 passes for 308 yards and two touchdowns.

1995 Sun Bowl Iowa 38, Washington 18

December 29, 1995 Attendance: 49,116

The 20th-ranked Huskies return to postseason was spoiled by the Iowa Hawkeyes as they rolled up 21 unanswered first half points to put away Washington early. The Hawkeyes 421 yards of total offense, and ability to manufacture points, proved to be too much for the Huskies to handle.

The first of many Husky miscues came quickly. After stopping Iowa's offense on three straight plays, Washington fumbled the ball back on the punt return and the Hawkeyes took over on their own 42-yard line. Iowa running back Sedrick Shaw ran 58 yards for a touchdown on the drive's first play. Shaw would go on to finish the day 135 rushing yards, just a fraction of the 286 that the Hawkeyes would amass throughout the game.

It did not get any better for Washington as flanker Fred Coleman fumbled the ball back to Iowa after taking a Damon Huard pass 19 yards into Hawkeye territory on the Huskies second possession. Hawkeye kicker Brion Hurley hit a 49-yard field goal into the wind to build Iowa's lead to 10-0. It was the first of three 45-yard plus field goals for Hurley in the game.

Trailing 10-0 at the end of the first quarter, Washington failed to generate any offense when Ernie Conwell snapped the ball over punter Geoff Prince's head and out of the end zone for a safety to give Iowa a 12-0 advantage. The Hawkeyes converted two field goals in the second quarter to built their lead.

The Hawkeyes picked up in the third quarter right where they left off, holding the Huskies and getting into position for another field goal. A 50-yard effort by Hurley, gave him a Sun Bowl record and the Hawkeyes a commanding 24-0 lead early in the third quarter.

Washington finally pulled things together in the third when back-up quarterback Shane Fortney led the Huskies down the field and Jerome Pathon out leaped two defenders to get the Pac-10 co-champions on the board.

Iowa tailback Tavian Banks picked up 74 yards of his 128-yard in one carry to set up fullback Michael Burger's eight-yard TD run. The Hawkeyes finished up their scoring with another Burger touchdown run to make it 38-6.

In his final game as a Husky, all-time leading passer Damon Huard led the Huskies down the field with completions to Pathon, Leon Neal, and finally Fred Coleman for a touchdown.

A pair of Husky seniors made the most of the last possession in their collegiate careers. With just minutes left, Huard found tight end Ernie Conwell for a 20-yard touchdown to make the final score 38-18.

After sitting out most of the season because of an injured toe, Neal's final appearance before being drafted by the Buffalo Bills included 65 yards rushing and another 45 yards on the receiving end. The Washington defense was led by the 14 tackles of inside linebacker Ink Aleaga. The Huskies played the game without All-American free safety Lawyer Milloy, who broke a bone in his foot in the regular-season finale against Washington State. Starting defensive tackle David Richie also missed the game after suffering a neck injury in the Apple Cup.

1996 Holiday Bowl Colorado 33, Washington 21

December 30, 1996 Attendance: 54,749

In a Holiday Bowl packed with big plays, the 13th-ranked Huskies came up on the short end against a highly-talented Colorado squad by a 33-21 margin. The loss also ended Washington's six-game winning streak.

It was business as usual for the Huskies and standout tailback Corey Dillon in the first quarter. Dillon carried the ball six times in Washington's first possession, scoring from two yards out to give the Huskies a 7-0 lead. Washington kept control, making it 14-0 when Dillon capped a 63-yard drive with a 12-yard touchdown run in a drive that was sparked by 23-yard pass from Brock Huard to Jerome Pathon.

Colorado answered with the first of its many big plays when quarterback Koy Detmer found Rae Carruth behind the Washington secondary on the left sideline for a 76-yard touchdown.

Early in Washington's next possession the Buffaloes tied the game after a Huard pass was batted into the air and then intercepted by defensive end Nick Ziegler who returned it 31 yards for a touchdown.

The tie would not last long as Pathon took the ensuing kickoff from the 14 and did not stop until he found the endzone. The 86-yard runback was the first kickoff return for a score by a Husky since 1979 and the first in Holiday Bowl history.

Colorado again used the big play to get back in the endzone. Completions of 22 and 39 yards set up a seven-yard scoring pass from Detmer to Darrin Chiaverini to tie the game at 21.

With just under six minutes to go in the first half, Colorado took the ball at its own 18 and drove into Husky territory where kicker Jeremy Alrich gave the Buffaloes the lead for good by drilling a 42-yard field goal.

The second half became a defensive struggle. Colorado added a 36-yard field goal in the third quarter and a four-yard touchdown pass in the fourth quarter. Detmer's third TD pass of the game. Detmer, the game's MVP was 25 for 45 with 371 yards and no interceptions.

Washington was held scoreless in the second half gaining only 129 yards in the second half.

Dillon rushed for 140 yards and two touchdowns in his final appearance as a Husky. His 30 rushing attempts proved to be a Husky bowl game record. Huard, despite the interception, was impressive in his first bowl appearance. He passed for 203 yards by completing 21 of 37 attempts. Pathon finished the game with 96 receiving yards.

Senior John Fiala led Washington defensively with nine tackles as the Huskies held the Buffaloes running game to only 48 yards.

1997 Jeep Aloha Bowl Washington 51, Michigan State 23

December 25, 1997

Attendance: 34,419

A healthy Washington team used a strong running game, an opportunistic defense and outstanding performances by numerous seniors playing their final game for the Huskies to deal Michigan State a 51-23 defeat at the Jeep Aloha Bowl on Christmas day. The victory snapped a three-game losing streak and gave head coach Jim Lambright his first bowl victory in three tries.

The first play from scrimmage proved to be an omen for the Spartans. xxxx Renaud fumbled a handoff from Michigan State quarterback xxxx Schultz and Husky senior defensive end Chris Campbell recovered on the MSU 32-yard line. It was Campbell's first defensive appearance since breaking his leg vs. Arizona in the sixth game of the year. Two plays later senior tailback Rashaan Shehee raced to the corner of the endzone on a 33-yard run to open the Huskies scoring parade. It was Shehee's first appearance since suffering a knee injury against USC on Nov. 1.

After stopping the Spartans' second drive after three plays, sophomore quarterback Brock Huard tossed a 15-yard TD pass to Fred Coleman to cap a 70-yard, nine play drive. Michigan State's third drive produced the Spartans first touchdown with 4:19 to play in the first quarter, but that would be as close as the Big Ten representative would come to the Huskies.

At the start of the second quarter Huard and Coleman teamed up for a 22-yard scoring strike. After both teams traded field goals, Washington free safety Tony Parrish picked off Schultz's errant pass and raced 56-yards for a score with 18 seconds left in the half to boost the Huskies' lead to 31-10. It was Parrish's second interception of the quarter and the Spartan's fourth turnover of the half.

Shehee, who rolled up 108 rushing yards on 13 carries in the first half, carried the ball seven times in an 11-play drive to start the second half for Washington. His 15-yard scoring run to end the drive upped Washington's lead to 38-10. Senior h-back Mike Reed was the next Husky to get in on Washington's big-play parade. Reed took the short snap on a fake punt and raced 66 yards for a score to put the Huskies ahead 44-17 with 2:24 to play in the third quarter.

Sophomore linebacker Lester Towns provided Washington its final points when he intercepted Schultz and raced 66-yards for a score. The Spartans scored with two seconds left in the game to provide the final 51-23 score.

Shehee was named the game's Most Valuable Player for his rushing efforts. His rushing total was the most yards ever by a Husky running back in a bowl game. The Husky defense was also instrumental in the win by holding the Spartans rushing game to only 47 yards on 29 carries.

Washington's point total was the most scored by a Husky team in a bowl game since the 1938 squad posted a 53-13 victory against Hawaii in the Pineapple Bowl.

The Rose Bowl

At the end of the 1901 season, Michigan was prevailed upon to play Stanford in an "East-West" game at Pasadena's Tournament Park. The contest took place on January 1, 1902, with Michigan winning by a score of 49-0. Following this, the game was discontinued until the first day of 1916 when Washington State defeated Brown University, 14-0.

The contest continued to be known as the "East-West" game until the 1923 game was played at the newly-constructed Rose Bowl. The University of Southern California defeated Penn State in that game, 14-3.

The original Tournament Park (in 1902) held about 10,000 fans, although only 8,500 attended the Stanford-Michigan contest. Prior to the 1917 game, the seating capacity was increased to 30,000.

The new Rose Bowl originally was a horse-shoe affair running north and south with the opening at the south end. It seated 56,000. The capacity was then progressively increased in 1929 to 66,000; in 1932 to 83,677; and in 1938 to 90,000. Another increase in capacity took place during the year 1949, with the funds being raised by public subscription. The 1950 Rose Bowl game set a record of 100,983 fans.

The present Rose Bowl was actually dedicated on October 28, 1922, with a football game between the University of California and the University of Southern California before a crowd of 35,000. California won the game, 12-0.

Prior to 1935 the Western team in the game was invited by the Tournament of Roses Association.

The Tournament also selected the Eastern team until 1923. From 1923 through 1946 the Western team selected its Eastern opponent. From 1946 until 1959 the old Pacific Coast Conference and the Big Ten selected representatives.

Under a new agreement, starting with the 1960 game, the Pacific-10 selected a representative from among its conference members. The conference also selected its opponent for the 1961 and 1962 games. Following 1962 a new contract was signed with the Big Ten for it to provide the Pac-10's opponent.

The Pacific-10 and the Big Ten have each won 26 games since the series began in 1947. The Pac-10 has won 16 of the last 25 and 21 of the last 29 meetings.

Rose Bowl Selection Formula

The Pacific-10 Rose Bowl representative shall be that member's team with the best record in the loss and tie columns (a tie being counted as one-half loss) in all conference games. If, however, the lowest loss-tie totals of two or more members are identical, determination of the Rose Bowl representative shall be as follows:

A. Two-Team Tie — If the tied teams played one another, the winner of their game shall be the representative. If they tied or did not play one another if either team is ranked first or second in the nation in the Associated Press, the USA Today/CNN American Football Coaches Association, or the UPI/Football Foundation Poll (must be first or second in two of the three polls) which immediately follow the final regular-season game played by the Conference's member, then it shall be the Rose Bowl representative. If they tied or did not play and are not so ranked the following formula shall be used:

1. Count 4 points for a conference win.
2. Count 3 points for a non-conference win against a Division IA team.
3. Count 2 points for a non-conference win against a non-Division IA team.
4. Count 2 points for a conference tie.
5. Count 1-1/2 points for a non-conference tie against a Division IA team.
6. Count 1 point for a non-conference tie against a non-Division IA team.

The team with highest point total for all games shall be the Rose Bowl representative.

If a tie remains, the last team appearing in the Rose Bowl shall be eliminated. If neither team has appeared in the Rose Bowl, the determination shall be made by vote of the conference's Men's Administration Committee.

B. Multiple Ties — When three or more teams are tied in the loss-tie column in conference play, if one team has defeated all the others, it shall be the Rose Bowl representative. If that is not the case, and one of the teams is ranked first or second in the nation in the Associated Press, the USA Today/CNN American Football Coaches Association, or the UPI/Football Foundation Poll (must be first or second in two of the three polls) which immediately follow the final regular-season game played by the Conference's member, then it shall be the Rose Bowl representative. If that is not the case, a team defeated by all other tied teams shall be eliminated. If one team has not defeated the others, the point formula above shall be computed. Only the top two teams on the point system shall thereafter be considered. If a tie for the second position occurs upon application of the point formula, the second team shall be the winner of the game between the tied teams, or, if the teams did not play each other or played a tie game, the team which has not played in the Rose Bowl for the longest period of time shall be the second team.

If the remaining two teams played one another, the winner shall be the representative. If they tied or did not play one another, the team with the highest point total for all games shall be the Rose Bowl representative as in paragraph "A" above. If a tie remains, the team most recently appearing in the Rose Bowl shall be eliminated. If neither team has appeared in the Rose Bowl, determination shall be made by a vote of the conference's Men's Administration Committee.

C. Ineligible teams — Teams ineligible to participate in the Rose Bowl shall not be included in the tie-breaking formula.

D. Games in Hawaii and Alaska — Games in Hawaii or Alaska shall not be included in the point system if they are "12th games" permitted under NCAA legislation.

E. Kickoff Classic — Participation in the Kickoff Classic shall not be counted in the point system.

Pac-10 Bowl Game Arrangements

College football enters a new era as the Pac-10, Big Ten and Rose Bowl become associated with the Bowl Championship Series (formerly known as the Bowl Alliance).

For the 1998-99 season, the Pac-10 champion will take its accustomed place in the Rose Bowl, unless it is ranked as one of the top two teams in the nation at the conclusion of the regular season. In that case, the Pac-10 Champion would play in the National Championship Game, which is to be played in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl this season. Should the Pac-10 Champion be ranked one or two and go out to play in the National Championship Game at the Fiesta Bowl, the Rose Bowl will fill that berth with another team from the Bowl Championship Series pool. That could be a second Pac-10 team, but would not necessarily be so.

Regardless of the disposition of the Pac-10 Champion, a second Pac-10 team may be selected for an at-large berth in the Bowl Championship Series in any given year. Pac-10 agreements with its other bowl partners provide for that occurrence. Such an at-large selection of a second Pac-10 team would be dependent upon its attractiveness and the status of teams which have certain assurances of BCS participation, including Notre Dame and teams from non-BCS conferences.

Agreements are in place with the Southwestern Bell Cotton, Culligan Holiday, Norwest Sun and Jeep Aloha bowls to place three Pac-10 teams in bowl games after the Pac-10 champion goes to the Rose Bowl or the National Championship Game.

Following is a summary of Pac-10 bowl agreements and selection procedures for the 1998-99 season.

Pac-10 Bowl Arrangements - 1998-99

Bowl (TV)	Pac-10 Team	Opponent	Estimated Payout	Ticket Obliga-
Rose (ABC)	Champion	Big Ten Champion	$12.5 million	33,397
Cotton (CBS)	Pac-10 #2 (selection)	Big 12 #2	$2.0 million	12,500 or
Holiday (ESPN)	Pac-10 #2 (selection)	Big 12 #3	$1.4 million	12,000
Sun (CBS)	Pac-10 #3 (place)	Big Ten #5	$1.0 million	8,000
Aloha (ABC)	Pac-10 #4 (selection)	Big 12 #5	$750,000	7,500

1. Rose Bowl

The Pac-10 Champion goes to the Rose Bowl, unless such Champion is ranked number one or two in the nation at the conclusion of the regular season. In that case, it would play in the National Championship Game in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl.

2. Southwestern Bell Cotton/Culligan Holiday Bowl Parlay

A second Pac-10 team (not necessarily the second-place team) will go to either the Southwestern Bell Cotton or Culligan Holiday Bowl. The four teams involved in this two-bowl parlay are Pac-10 #2, WAC #1 and Big 12 #2 and #3. Big 12 #2 will anchor the Southwestern Bell Cotton Bowl, Big 12 #3 will anchor the Culligan Holiday Bowl. The Southwestern Bell Cotton Bowl will have first choice between Pac-10 #2 and WAC #1. Whichever of those two is not selected by the Southwestern Bell Cotton Bowl will participate in the Culligan Holiday Bowl. Should a team involved in this parlay be selected to participate in the Bowl Championship Series, another team from that conference would fill the empty berth in the Southwestern Bell Cotton/Culligan Holiday Bowl.

3. Norwest Sun Bowl

After the Pac-10 champion to the Rose Bowl (or BCS Championship Game) and a second Pac-10 team to the Southwestern Bell Cotton/Culligan Holiday Bowl Parlay, the Norwest Sun Bowl receives the highest remaining team in the Pac-10 standings. If there is a tie for that position, the Norwest Sun Bowl has the right to select from between or among the tied teams.

4. Jeep Aloha Bowl

After the berths in the Rose, Southwestern Bell Cotton/Culligan Holiday Parlay and Norwest Sun Bowls are filled, a fourth Pac-10 team (not necessarily the fourth-place team) will be selected by the Jeep Aloha Bowl.

Bowl Championship Series Selection Formula

A statistical rating system has been established to determine the teams that will participate in the championship game of the Bowl Championship Series.

The ranking system will consist of four major components: subjective polls of the writers and coaches, computer rankings, schedule strength and team record. The two teams which have the lowest point total in the four categories will play in the national championship game.

Polls

The poll component will be calculated based on the average of the ranking of each team in the Associated Press media poll and the USA Today/ESPN coaches poll. The rankings of each team will be added and divided by two. For example, a team ranked number one in one poll and number two in the other poll would receive 1.5 points in the component. $(1+2 = 3/2 = 1.5)$

Computer Rankings

The second component will consist of three computer rankings which are published in major media outlets. These computer rankings will include Jeff Sagarin, published in USA Today, the Seattle Times and the New York Times. An average of these three rankings will be utilized to calculate the points in this component. In order to prevent unusual differences which might occur as the result of individual computer formulas, a maximum adjusted deviation of no greater than 50% of the average of the two lowest computer rankings will be utilized in this calculation. For example, if a team is ranked 3rd and 5th in two computer systems and 12th in the third computer system the highest ranking of 12 would be adjusted to six before calculating the average points for the computer component $(3+5 = 8/2 = 4 \times 50\% = 2+4 = 6)$. The average of these three ranking will be calculated for the points of this component. $(3+5+6 = 14/3 = 4.67)$.

Strength of Schedule

The third component will be the team's strength of schedule. This component is calculated by determining the cumulative won/loss records of the team's opponents and the cumulative won/loss records of the teams' opponents' opponents. The formulas shall be weighted two-thirds $(66\frac{2}{3}\%)$ for the opponent's record and one-third $(33\frac{1}{3}\%)$ for the opponents' opponents record. The team's schedule strength shall be calculated to determine in which quartile (divided by 25). For example, if a team's schedule strength rating is 28th in the nation, that team would receive 1.12 points $(28/25 = 1.12)$.

Team Records

The final component shall evaluate the team's won/loss record. Each loss during the season will represent one point in this component.

All four components shall be added together for a total rating. The team with the lowest point total shall rank first in the Bowl Championship Series Standings. The BCS Standings will not be published until the second week of November each season. This system will be utilized only to select the teams that will participate in the championship game of the Bowl Championship Series and to determine any independent team or team from a conference without an automatic selection which shall qualify for a guaranteed selection in one of the games of the Bowl Championship Series as the result of being ranked in the top six in the BCS Standings.

Washington's First-Team All-Americans

Olin Kreutz 1997

Associated Press, Walter Camp Football Foundation, Football News, The Sporting News (Consensus All-American)

A fiery team leader who proved to be a dominating force on the Huskies offensive line. In addition to his All-American honors, he was voted the Pac-10's Morris Trophy winner as the league's top offensive lineman. A two-time first-team All-Pac-10 pick, Kreutz helped the Huskies to lead the league in sacks allowed in 1997. He declared for the NFL draft after his junior season and was selected by the Chicago Bears in the third round.

Benji Olson, 1996 & 1997

Associated Press (1996, '97), The Sporting News (1996), Football News (1996) and Walter Camp Football Foundation (1997)

The first two-time All-American offensive lineman in UW history. Even more impressive was the fact Olson was named a All-American as both a sophomore and junior before declaring for the NFL draft prior to his senior season. As a junior he paved the way for running back Corey Dillon, who rushed for a school record 1,555 yards and 22 touchdowns, and provided protection for the quarterbacks as the team allowed only 18 sacks, the second fewest in the Pac-10. As a junior he rallied from off-season back surgery to help the team led the Pac-10 in sacks allowed and figure third in total offense. He was a first-team All-Pac-10 selection in both 1996 and 1997, was named the team's John P. Angel Offensive Lineman of the Year (1996) and was a preseason Playboy All-American in both '96 and '97. He was drafted by the Tennessee Oilers in the fifth round of the 1998 NFL draft.

Jerome Pathon 1997

Football Coaches

Jerome Pathon had the most productive season ever by a Husky wide receiver in 1997. He set UW single-season records for receptions (69) and receiving yards (1245) to become the first Husky receiver since Mario Bailey in 1991 to earn first-team All-America honors. Pathon's yardage total was the second most-receiving yards in a Pac-10 season, trailing only USC's Johnnie Morton's 1,373 yards from the 1993 campaign. Pathon finished his career second on UW's career receiving yardage list (2,063) and was fourth in career receptions (125). Drafted by the Indianapolis Colts in the second round of the 1998 NFL draft.

Jason Chorak, 1996

The Sporting News, Football News

Jason Chorak, a defensive end with Croatian heritage, had one of the most stellar defensive seasons in Husky history in 1996. He was named the Pac-10 Conference's defensive player of the year after recording a team record and conference leading 14.5 sacks and a team record 22 tackles for loss. Chorak was a third-team All-America selection by the Associated Press. He was named to Playboy's preseason All-America team in 1997 and went on to be named a second-team All-American by the Football News in 1997. He finished his career as a two-time first-team All-Pac-10 performer. He had 59.5 tackles for loss during his career to rank No. 1 on Washington's all-time list. His 25.5 career sacks ranks as the third best mark in UW history.

Lawyer Milloy, 1995

Football Writers Association of America, Football News, Walter Camp Association, Associated Press, United Press International, Newspaper Enterprise Association, Kodak Coaches, and The Sporting News

Lawyer Milloy was a multi-talented athlete who became the first Husky defensive back to lead Washington in tackles in back-to-back seasons, recording 115 in his last year as a junior. He was named the nation's defensive back of the year by the Touchdown Club of Columbus and was one of three finalist for the Jim Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back. A two-time first-team All-Pac-10 free safety, Milloy was awarded the Chuck Niemi Big Hit Award in 1995. Milloy declared for the NFL draft after his highly decorated junior season and was selected by the New England Patriots in the second round as the 36th pick overall.

Mark Bruener, 1993

Newspaper Enterprise Association

As a junior in 1993, Mark Bruener led the Husky receivers in receptions (30), yards (414), touchdowns (three), and long catch (66). He was the first tight end to lead the Huskies in receptions since John Brady did it in 1972 with 30. Bruener recorded his only career 100-yard and multiple touchdown game in the 1993 season opener versus Stanford, gaining 101 yards and scoring two touchdowns. He was also named a first-team All-Pac-10 selection. Bruener eventually went on to become the school's career receptions leader by a tight end with 90.

Dave Hoffmann, 1991 & 1992

Football News, Football Writer's Association, and Kodak Coaches

A linebacker known for his intensity and ferocious hitting, Dave Hoffmann became the first Husky since Rick Redman in 1963 and 1964 to be named a first-team All-American in consecutive seasons. He collected numerous other honors his senior season including the Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Year award, the Husky Tyee Club Football Athlete of the Year award, the KIRO Pete Gross player of the year award, and the Guy Flaherty Most Inspirational Award. He led the Huskies in tackles his final three seasons, the first Husky to accomplish that since David Rill from 1985 to 1987. Hoffman finished his collegiate career number three on the Husky all-time list for tackles-for-loss with 45.

Lincoln Kennedy, 1992

Associated Press, United Press International, Kodak Coaches, Football News, Walter Camp Football Foundation, Sporting News

Lincoln Kennedy was the only unanimous first-team All-America pick among Pac-10 players and the top offensive tackle in the nation his senior season. The Husky offense averaged 387.6 yards-per-game largely due to his blocking. He was also a two-time first-team All-Pac-10 pick and Pac-10 Morris Trophy winner (top offensive lineman). Kennedy was one of four finalists for the Lombardi Award and a semifinalist for the Outland Trophy. He allowed only two sacks in his four years at Washington and was the ninth player selected in the 1993 NFL draft as a first-round pick of the Atlanta Falcons.

Steve Emtman, 1991

Associated Press, United Press International, Football News, Walter Camp Football Foundation, Football Writers Association, Kodak Coaches, and Sporting News

Steve Emtman was the most decorated defensive lineman in Husky history and perhaps the most decorated football player ever at Washington. Besides his All-American accolades, Emtman garnered numerous other recognition's in leading Washington to the 1991 National Championship. He was the anchor of a defense that allowed only 67.1 yards per game rushing and only 9.2 points per game to opponents. He is the only Husky to be named the Lombardi Award and Outland Trophy winner and is the highest Husky finisher in the Heisman Trophy race, placing fourth among all finalists. Emtman led the Husky defensive linemen with 60 tackles, including a team-best 19.5 tackles for losses, 6.5 of which were recorded as quarterback sacks. Emtman skipped his senior season to enter the NFL draft and was the first overall pick by the Indianapolis Colts, the highest Husky draft pick ever.

Mario Bailey, 1991

Associated Press, United Press International and Football Writers Association

Mario Bailey was a speedy receiver on the 1991 Championship team who holds most of the Husky receiving records. He set the Pac-10 and Washington standard for touchdown receptions with 17 and also boasts Husky records for career receiving yards (2,093), career touchdown receptions (17), receptions in a season (62) and touchdown receptions in a game (three). Bailey finished his collegiate career with the second most receptions (131) in Washington history and is second in single-season receiving yards with 1,037. In the 1992 Rose Bowl, Bailey caught six passes for 126 yards, while Heisman Trophy winner Desmond Howard of Michigan was held to one catch for 35 yards.

Greg Lewis, 1990

Walter Camp Football Foundation and Sporting News

Greg Lewis is the Huskies highest offensive finisher in the Heisman Trophy race, achieving a seventh-place finish after a stellar senior season. Honored as the Pac-10 offensive player of the year, Lewis also was named the inaugural Doak Walker Award winner given to the top junior or senior running back in the nation. Lewis' 1,279 yards and 127.9 yards per game were the Huskies best single-season performances at the time. He rushed for 100-plus yards in all but one game, a standard still yet to be equaled. Lewis was named the Guy Flaherty Award winner by his teammates as the team's most inspirational player.

Bern Brostek, 1989

Sporting News

Bern Brostek was a hard-nosed center who anchored the offensive line which helped produce 364.5 yards of total offense per game. He won the Morris Trophy award as the Pac-10's offensive lineman of the year and earned first-team All-Pac-10 accolades. Brostek was named the John P. Angel winner as the Huskies' top offensive lineman by teammates and coaches.

Reggie Rogers, 1986

United Press International, Walter Camp Foundation, Scripps Howard News, and The Sporting News

Reggie Rogers was also a basketball standout, who anchored a defense which allowed only 88.9 yards rushing and 182.2 yards passing per game. He was named the Morris Trophy winner as the top defensive lineman in the Pac-10 and was a first-team All-Pac-10 pick. Rogers recorded a team high 13 tackles for losses of 81 yards. He amassed team awards as the KIRO Player of the Year, the L. Wait Rising Lineman of the Year and the John P. Angel Defensive Lineman of the Year.

Jeff Jaeger, 1986

Associated Press, United Press International, Walter Camp Foundation, Football News, and Scripps Howard News Service

Jeff Jaeger is the all-time Husky scoring leader with 358 points and holds the NCAA record with 80 career field goals. He connected on 17-of-21 field goal attempts and 42-of-43 extra point attempts in his senior season. Jaeger was six-of-seven on field goal attempts from 40+ yards out, his only miss coming from 51 yards.

Tim Peoples, 1986

The Sporting News

Tim Peoples collected 101 tackles in his senior season from the safety position on his way to numerous accolades. He was a finalist for the Jim Thorpe award as the National Defensive Back of the Year, a first-team All-Pac-10 selection and an honorable mention Associated Press All-American. Peoples was part of a defensive backfield that allowed only nine touchdown passes all season. He recorded two interceptions and was the recipient of the team's Big Hit Award for the third consecutive season.

Ron Holmes, 1984

United Press International, Football Writers Association, Football News, Walter Camp Foundation

Ron Holmes was an unanimous All-American selection who was named the Most Valuable Lineman in the Huskies' 28-17 victory over Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl. Holmes recorded 117 tackles from his defensive tackle position including 12 tackles-for-loss. Holmes received first-team All-Pac-10 recognition and was voted the Morris Trophy winner as the most outstanding defensive lineman by Pac-10 foes. Teammates honored him as the L. Wait Rising Lineman of the Year and the John P. Angel Defensive Lineman of the Year. He went on to be a first-round selection in the NFL draft by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

Chuck Nelson, 1982

Associated Press, United Press International, Walter Camp Foundation, Sporting News, Football News, Newspaper Enterprise Association, Football Writers Association, and Kodak Coaches

Chuck Nelson holds the Husky record for points by kicking in a season, scoring 109 points in his record-breaking senior season. Nelson converted 25-of-26 field goals for a .962 percentage, establishing an NCAA record. Nelson converted all 34 extra points he attempted during the season. He still holds the NCAA record for 30 consecutive field goals from 1981-82. His career field goal percentage of .819 is the best all-time in the UW and Pac-10 history and stands second in the NCAA record books. Nelson capped his stellar 1982 season by winning the KIRO Player of the Year, the Seattle Post Intelligencer Star of the Year, and making the first-team CoSIDA Academic All-America team.

Mark Stewart, 1982

Associated Press, Walter Camp Foundation, Sporting News, Football News

Mark Stewart amassed 104 tackles, including 17 tackles for loss and 10 sacks on his way to numerous honors. His sack total is the third highest in a season by a Husky and his 47 career tackles for loss is the second most in Washington history. Stewart was also named an honorable mention All-American by United Press International and a first-team All-Pac-10 selection. Stewart was named Sports Illustrated and the Associated Press defensive player of the week for his play against UCLA when he totaled 17 tackles, including five sacks, and two other tackles for loss. Stewart was also an academic standout. He was named to the Pac-10 All-Academic team and was a second-team selection to the CoSIDA Academic All-America team.

Tony Caldwell, 1982

Newspaper Enterprise Association

Tony Caldwell was an unheralded linebacker who recorded 75 tackles in his senior season. Caldwell was named the defensive MVP of the Aloha Bowl against Maryland. He had eight tackles, including three for loss in that game.

Ray Horton, 1981

Newspaper Enterprise Association

Ray Horton was one of the best one-on-one coverage men in Husky history. He recorded two of his 10 career interceptions and was responsible for 14 pass break ups in his All-American season. Horton was a first-team All-Pac-10 selection and an honorable mention Associated Press All-American. He also returned punts for the Huskies, amassing 113 yards on a team high 23 punt returns. Horton was drafted by the Cincinnati Bengals in the second round of the NFL draft.

Jeff Toews, 1978

Sporting News

Jeff Toews led the way on the offensive line for 1,111-yard rusher Joe Steele. Besides earning first-team honors with The Sporting News and the Pac-10, he was named a second-team All-American by the Associated Press, United Press International, and Football News. Toews was named the L. Wait Rising Award as the Huskies' most outstanding lineman in 1977 and 1978. He was drafted in the second round of the NFL draft by the Miami Dolphins.

Skip Boyd, 1974

The Sporting News

Skip Boyd was a two-time All-Pac-8 performer who averaged 42.2 yards per punt in his All-America season. That stands as the second-best single-season average in Husky history, surpassed only by his 43.0 average from the 1973 season. His 1974 totals included two punts that went 70 yards. His career punting average of 41.2 yards per punt is tied with Jeff Partridge as the all-time best in Washington history.

Calvin Jones, 1972

Associated Press

Calvin Jones was a speedy cornerback for Washington who amassed two interceptions and was infamous for his open field prowess. He returned eight kickoffs for 193 yards and 15 punts for 200 yards and one touchdown. Jones was the winner of the Guy Flaherty Award for the team's most inspirational player. He was also named a UPI All-Coast first-team member (an unprecedented three times), a first-team All-American Competitor member, a Gridiron second-team All-American, and the inaugural winner of the KIRO-TV Player of the Year.

Jim Krieg, 1971

Pop Warner All-American

Jim Krieg teamed with Sonny Sixkiller to form one of the best passing combinations in college football in 1970 and 1971. Krieg caught 22 passes for 482 yards in his All-American season and returned 12 kickoffs for 284 yards and one touchdown. His 99-yard touchdown return against TCU is tied for the longest in Husky history. He also had a 95-yard kickoff return for a touchdown in 1970 against Stanford. Krieg's 27.7 yard average for career kickoff returns is the 11th best average in NCAA history.

Al Worley, 1968

Associated Press, United Press International, American Football Coaches Association, Football News

Al Worley, nicknamed "The Thief", set an NCAA record with 14 interceptions in 1968. He finished his Husky career with 18 interceptions to be the program's all-time leader in that category. Besides his numerous All-American accolades, Worley was decorated as a second-team Sporting News All-American, a first-team All-Pac-8 pick, a first-team UPI All-Coast selection and the KING-TV Most Improved Player. He ended his collegiate career by participating in the Hula Bowl where he made an interception.

Tom Greelee, 1966

Associated Press, United Press International, American Football Coaches Association, Football Digest

Tom Greelee was a gifted athlete who flew around the end on defense to make big plays. He was voted the L. Wait Rising Award as the team's top lineman. At only 6-0 and 195 pounds, he was able to return kicks and also had one interception. Besides his All-American honors, Greelee was a first-team All-Pac-8 selection, a first-team All-Coast pick and participated in the Shrine Game and Hula Bowl.

Rick Redman, 1963 & 1964

United Press International (2 times), Look Magazine (2 times), American Football Coaches Association (2 times), Newspaper Enterprises Association, NBC Sports, CBS Sports, Helms Foundation, and Football Digest

Rick Redman is one of Washington's most decorated athletes in history, claiming All-American recognition in three seasons. He averaged 12-15 tackles a game and was also the team's punter, averaging 37.6 yards in his 134 career punts. Redman was the team's L. Wait Rising Award winner as the top lineman in 1964 and was the Detroit Sports Extra Lineman of the Year in 1963. Redman played nine years in the AFL with San Diego and has been inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame.

United Press International

Junior Coffey had a fine junior year for the Huskies, rushing for 385 yards and scoring a team high six touchdowns. Coffey also garnered numerous other first-team honors on the All-Big Six Team, All-Coast Team, and was an honorable mention Associated Press All-American. He received honorable mention status on the UPI All-American team in 1962 and 1964.

Roy McKasson, 1960

Associated Press, Look Magazine, American Football Coaches, Newspaper Enterprise Association, ABC Sports

Roy McKasson was undersized and not widely recruited but became one of Washington's greatest players. He was a consensus All-American as a center in 1960 as well as an All-Conference and unanimous All-Coast selection. McKasson won the 1960 L. Wait Rising Award as the school's Lineman of the Year. He was UPI and Sports Illustrated's Lineman of the Week versus Stanford. McKasson was selected as the Big Five lineman of the week three times during the season.

Kurt Gegner, 1960

ABC Sports

Kurt Gegner played tackle with equal fervor on the offensive and defensive side of the ball. He paved the way on offense for the likes of Bob Schloredt, Don McKeta and George Fleming. Gegner earned All-Big Five recognition, UPI All-Coast and was named to the AP's second-team All-Coast squad. Gegner was presented the L. Wait Rising Award by the coaches as the lineman of the year in 1959.

Bob Schloredt, 1959

Associated Press

Bob Schloredt began the 1959 season as a reserve, but ended it as an All-American. A jack-of-all-trades who led the team in passing, touchdowns, interceptions and had a 40-yard average as the team's punter. Schloredt's honors included a second-team Hearst Newspaper All-American award. He was named the outstanding player in the Rose Bowl, the first of two times he earned that distinction. Schloredt was named the West Coast Player of the Year by the AP and UPI and won the W.J. Voit Trophy for the Player of the Year on the West Coast.

Milt Bohart, 1953

Look Magazine

Milt Bohart was a second-team All-America pick by the Associated Press and United Press International. He was recognized as a first-team All-Coast pick by the AP and UPI. Bohart began his career as a linebacker and defensive guard before switching to offensive guard. He was the AP National Lineman of the Week versus USC, the first UW lineman to win the honor. Bohart was awarded the Flaherty Award by his teammates as the squad's most inspirational player.

Don Heinrich, 1950 and 1952

Associated Press (two times) and Collier's Magazine (two times)

Despite missing the 1951 season due to a separated shoulder, Don Heinrich finished his career as one of the greatest quarterbacks in collegiate history. He was a first-team All-Coast selection both seasons he played. Heinrich led the nation with 1,846 passing yards and completed an NCAA record 134 passes (60.6 completion percentage) in 1950. Heinrich led the nation with 137 completions in 1952. He passed for 296 yards against Kansas State in 1950 and threw 70 passes without an interception. Heinrich's 80-yard TD connection to George Black versus Stanford in 1952 ranks as one of the longest in Husky history. He still ranks fifth all-time among Husky quarterbacks in passing yards and is sixth in total offense.

Hugh McElhenny, 1951

Associated Press and Newspaper Enterprise Association

Hugh McElhenny was a big-play specialist and scoring machine during his UW career. Known as "The King," he set the Washington scoring record with 233 points, the most by a non-kicker in Husky history. His 125 points in 1951 stood for 45 yards as the most productive season ever by a Husky. He finished eighth in the Heisman balloting after rushing for 936 yards, catching 24 passes for 339 yards and scoring 17 touchdowns in 1951. He returned a punt 100 yards for a touchdown against USC, still the longest in Husky history. McElhenny's 77-yard touchdown reception against Illinois still ranks as one of the longest in Husky history. He is the only Husky to have a punt return, a kickoff return and a rush from scrimmage that exceeds 90 yards. He still holds the Husky single-game rushing record with 296 yards, accomplished against Washington State in 1950. McElhenny is a member of the NFL Hall of Fame and College Football Hall of Fame.

Dick Sprague, 1950

Football Writers' Association

Dick Sprague was a three-sport athlete at Washington, lettering in football, basketball, and track. He was the first sophomore All-American in the school's history. Sprague made seven interceptions in 1950, the seventh most in Husky history and had 13 during his career. Sprague also played halfback on the offensive side of the ball. He was an All-Coast selection by the coaches in the Pacific Coast Conference.

Ray Frankowski, 1940 and 1941

Consensus All-American

Ray Frankowski was said to be the best guard in the nation during his college career. He was a consensus All-American in both 1940 and 1941. Frankowski was picked on every All-Opponent team in 1940-41 and was unanimous on most. He was also a member of the Husky fencing team and was the Northern Division Heavy Weight wrestling champion in 1941.

Jay MacDowell, 1940

All-American

Jay MacDowell caught 12 passes for 170 yards (14.2 average) in his All-American season. He was only 19 years old during his senior season. MacDowell also performed well in 1938, catching eight passes for 139 yards and earning All-Coast recognition.

Rudy Mucha, 1940

Consensus All-American

Rudy Mucha played center on the line next to Ray Frankowski, forming one of the games most feared lines. Mucha helped the Huskies post five shutouts during the season.

Vic Markov, 1937

Walter Camp Football Foundation, Liberty Magazine, International News Service

Vic Markov was considered the premier lineman on the West Coast during his three-year career. He was a member of the All-Coast Team in 1936 and 1937 and made the All-Opponent's Team. He played in the 1937 Rose Bowl and 1938 Pineapple Bowl. Markov was the second highest vote-getter and captain for the 1938 College All-Stars that defeated the Washington Redskins. Markov was an accomplished wrestler who qualified for the Olympic trials.

Max Starceovich, 1936

Consensus All-American

Max Starceovich was an All-Coast member in 1935 and 1936, despite only playing one year of high school football. Starceovich worked in a steel mill for a year and a half after high school until the depression forced him back to school. He played in the 1937 Rose Bowl and was a part of a College All-Star team that was the first to defeat a pro team when they downed the Green Bay Packers.

Jim Cain, 1936

All-American

Jim Cain was an aggressive running back who garnered All-Coast recognition besides his All-American accolades. Cain led the Huskies in scoring in 1936 with 37 points. He played in the 1937 Rose Bowl and was a part of a College All-Star team that was the first to defeat a pro team when they downed the Green Bay Packers.

Bill Smith, 1933

All-American

Bill Smith was an All-Coast selection, as well as team captain and MVP in 1933. He scored 39 points, the second most in the Pacific Coast Conference. Smith handed Stanford a 6-0 loss, their only conference defeat in three seasons, with two field goals. He played in the 1934 East-West Game, the first ever college all-star game.

Dave Nisbet, 1932

All-American

Dave Nisbet was an end who made a name for himself as a blocker, defensive player and specialist at blocking punts. He was also a second-team All-American in 1931. Nisbet made National Champion Southern California's All-Opponent Team in 1931 and was an All-Coast member in 1931 and 1932. He played in the 1933 East-West All-Star Game in Chicago and blocked two punts in the game, one of which he returned 35 yards for a touchdown.

Paul Schwegler, 1930 and 1931

Associated Press, United Press and Pop Warner

Paul Schwegler was a first-team All-American in both 1930 and 1931 and also an All-Coast performer from 1929-31. He was captain in 1931 and won the Flaherty Award, given annually to the most inspirational Husky. Schwegler played in the East-West Shrine Game and was picked as the contest's defensive star.

Merle Hufford, 1929

United Press

Merle Hufford earned All-Coast honors and became Washington's fourth football All-American. He also received all-coast honors in 1930 despite being injured for most of the season. He was a two-year track letterman and an accomplished wrestler. Hufford was drafted by the Redskins in 1932, but never played after injuring his knee during the first day of practice.

Chuck Carroll, 1928

Associated Press, United Press, New York Evening Post, International News, American Daily News, Chicago Evening Post, New York Sun, J. Heisman and Knute Rockne, Pop Warner, Howard Jones All-American Team

Chuck Carroll, known as the Iron Man, is one of only three football players to have his number (2) retired. He led the team and Pacific Coast Conference in scoring in 1927 and 1928 and helped lead the Huskies to a 24-8 record during his collegiate career. Carroll was inducted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1964.

Associated Press and Collier's Magazine

George Wilson is the first consensus All-American in Husky history. His number (33) is one of three retired. Wilson was the Guy Flaherty Award winner as the Huskies' most inspirational player and considered the best player of the first 50 years of Husky football. He was a three-time All-American halfback and a member of the 1924 and 1926 Rose Bowl teams. As a senior, Wilson rushed for 134 yards and threw two touchdowns against Alabama in the Rose Bowl, generating virtually all of Washington's offense. He was elected to the College Football (1951) and the Rose Bowl (1991) Hall of Fame's.

Louis Seagraves, 1916

All-American

Louis Seagraves was a guard on a 6-0-Husky squad that scored 189 points and allowed just 16 points. He will forever hold the honor of being Washington's first first-team All-American.

Washington's Consensus All-Americans

Washington has had 18 players recognized as consensus All-Americans (i.e. the players who were accorded a majority of votes at their respective positions by the selectors). Currently, to be named a unanimous All-American a player must be a first-team selection by the following parties: Associated Press, Football Coaches, Football Writers, Football News, The Sporting News and the Walter Camp Football Foundation.

The Morris Trophy (Pac-10 Lineman of the Year)

The Morris Trophy is awarded annually to the top offensive and defensive linemen in the Pac-10 Conference. What makes the award unique is its voting system. The league's offensive players vote on the top defensive lineman and the defensive linemen select the top offensive player. The annual presentation is made during the Rose Bowl Hall of Fame ceremonies in Pasadena.

Washington Awards

Guy Flaherty Award

The Guy Flaherty medal is awarded annually to the player voted "most inspirational" by his teammates, and is considered the top award given to a football player.

The medal was first awarded in 1908 to Guy Flaherty, whose sacrifices as a performer inspired the trophy. The senior class established the award with the help of former Dean of Faculty, Herbert Condon, to use up the $25 remaining in the class treasury. Flaherty was the unanimous choice of the squad and the Flaherty Medal was born.

Flaherty began his football career at Washington and played every minute of every game during the 1906 and 1907 seasons. A severe case of boils on his arm prevented him from playing in all but the first and last game of the 1908 season. But even while too handicapped to play football, Flaherty turned out every day with the squad, and actually performed manager and assistant manager duties while unable to play.

His willing service to Washington football was recognized by every member of the squad, thus the medal is named in his honor. The Flaherty Award is generally regarded as the first inspirational award offered in the country in intercollegiate athletics.

HUSKY HERITAGE

Husky Stadium

Annually voted the most scenic football structure in the nation, Husky Stadium has proven to be a monstrous opponent for visitors hoping to pin a loss on Washington's gridiron heroes.

Nestled high above Union Bay in Lake Washington, Husky Stadium has several characteristics that make it unique among stadia.

- A seating capacity of 72,500 allows Husky Stadium to rank as the nation's 15th largest on-campus facility. It is the largest stadium, college or professional, in the Pacific Northwest.

- With nearly 70 percent of the seats located between the endzones, Husky Stadium can be one of the loudest stadiums in the nation. During the 1992 Nebraska contest — the first night game in Husky Stadium history — ESPN sideline crews measured the crowd noise at 130 decibels.

- Tailgating takes on a whole new meaning at Husky Stadium. Boat moorings are available for fans to travel to Washington games via the water. Members of the Husky crew team shuttle fans back-and-forth between their vessels and the docks adjoining the stadium grounds.

- The north upper deck offers sweeping views of Mt. Rainier, the Olympic Mountain Range and downtown Seattle.

- Washington has won 42 of its last 47 games (one tie) in Husky Stadium, including a school record 17-straight home victories. The Huskies have won 70 percent of their home games in the stadium, posting an overall record of 307-129-21. Against the Pac-10, the Huskies have recorded an even more impressive 84-28-2 (.746) record at Husky Stadium.

Built in 1920 at a cost of $600,000, the stadium's initial capacity was listed at 30,000. The stadium was opened in the dedication game, November 27, 1920, when Dartmouth defeated Washington, 28-7. A student fund drive, in which students and businessmen sold plaques at $50 and $100 levels, provided the capital necessary to get the project off the ground.

Two members of the stadium committee were dispatched east to study an existing report on stadia. Their determination called for a seating capacity of 60,000 and be constructed in two units. One of the key factors in the layout of the stadium was "the establishment of the longitudinal axis." The goal was to "avoid as far as possible the glare of the sun in the stadium for the benefit of the players."

To accomplish this goal, the astronomical department figured the angle of the rays of the sun at 4 p.m., November 24, 1920. Based on those measurements, the axis of the stadium was approximately set at right angles to the rays which established the axis at 71 degrees 50 minutes west of north. The final components in figuring the stadium location were figuring the best views of the lake and mountains from the interior and working with the existing confines of the land.

Puget Sound Bridge and Dredging Company was contracted to build the structure. The original contract to begin construction was signed May 7, 1920 and called for work to be complete by November 27 for the Dartmouth game — a timetable of six months and 20 days. A unique method of excavation known as sluicing — in which earth is displaced by high pressure water — was used to clear the area. In all, 230,000 cubic yards of earth was moved using 687,000,000 gallons of water. The original crown on the playing field reached a height of 18 inches.

Plans for the stadium called for a four-lane track (including a 220-yard straightaway) and the structural drawings called for stands that would allow patrons to "view the entire running track without rising or having his view obstructed by the person sitting adjacent to him." The study resulted in an elliptical form being adopted.

A "sunken passage" was built to separate the fans from the field while also providing drainage for the field and facility. Drainage was a major concern of construction since it was calculated that one inch of rain fall on the structural portion of the stadium would accumulate 36,000 gallons of water.

The aisles and seating patterns were planned so that the original capacity crowd of 30,000 could exit the stadium in seven minutes.

The stadium was completed on time despite 46 days of rain during the construction period. Final work was finished 12 hours before kickoff of the inaugural game.

The stadium experienced further growth in 1936 when 10,000 above-grade seats were added around the rim of the structure, upping capacity to 40,000.

In 1950, Husky Stadium was again expanded when roof-covered stands were added to the south side. Approximately 15,000 additional seats, at a cost of $1.7 million, offered excellent viewing between the goal posts.

A cantilevered steel roof partially covered all seats in the upper deck and approximately 6,000 seats in the lower stands. In the rear of the structure, two silo-shaped ramps provided access to the upper deck concourses.

The two-level press box and camera deck areas were also installed as part of the 1950 project. The view available for approximately 75 members of the press is 165 feet above the stadium floor. The south side elevator was also part of the 1950 construction project.

Stadium capacity jumped from 55,000 to more than 59,000 in 1968 when 3,000 seats were added to the north rim and portable bleachers were installed beyond the east end zone. AstroTurf replaced the old grass field in 1968, the same year an all-weather track was installed around the football playing field. Washington was the first major college to install an AstroTurf field. At the time, the Houston Astrodome was the only other facility to use the playing surface. Because of the lack of similar fields, the Huskies stocked over 200 pairs of shoes for opponents to use during games. The original artificial turf was replaced in 1972, 1977, 1987 and, mostly recently, in the summer of 1995.

In 1987, Husky Stadium expanded once again, adding 13,000 new seats. The $13 million project, performed by Lydig Construction of Spokane, brought the capacity to 72,500. The hallmark facet of the construction was a glass-enclosed reception area with a field view from goal line to goal line. Besides serving as an entertainment center on game days, the Don James Center has the capabilities to host major banquets or social events.

During the summer of 1990, the wooden bleachers in the north upper deck were replaced with new aluminum seating. The same process was repeated for the south upper deck in the summer of 1992.

The north deck seats are accessible by ramp or elevator. Husky Stadium possesses 49,580 sideline seats, or 68 percent of total capacity.

In 1989, all major construction in Husky Stadium was concluded with the replacement of the west stands. The $3.7 million facelift gives Husky fans better seating, more concession stands and restrooms, a new first aid room, police security area and photo deck.

In preparation for the 1990 Goodwill Games, Husky Stadium became the beneficiary of a brand new eight-lane synthetic surface track in the summer of '89. The $1.5 million gift from the Seattle Organizing Committee provides athletes with a world-class facility. Husky Stadium hosted the track and field competition and the opening and closing ceremonies of the 1990 Goodwill Games.

What They're Saying About Husky Stadium

"It's always loud, but this game was really loud, especially at crunch time. When they start stomping and clapping, you can feel the metal rattle in your helmet."

— David Richie, Washington defensive tackle on the 1995 Army game

"70,000 screaming, yelling and stomping — that crowd was probably the biggest difference. The acoustics here are amazing, a huge factor. I've been around C-130 transports a lot, and this almost felt like I was on a runway."

— Army defensive tackle Al Roberts

"Washington's ability to attract fans in an urban area speaks to the overall tradition, size, and influence of the university. Huskies are everywhere. It speaks also to the unique venue and experience that is Husky Stadium, the stroll down from the hill and through the campus, the mountains melting with the horizon, the boats, the lake, the rain, the chill, the thrill of old-fashioned football."

— John Owens, Seattle Post-Intelligencer

"I knew it would be a very, very difficult place to play. But I thought it was really a class atmosphere of Washington and I thought the fans, the administration, it was just a great environment. They were so rabid for their own team, but with real class. They didn't try to tear you down or anything else, but they cheered for their team and showed respect for Notre Dame and I think that is a very healthy environment."

— Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz after the 1995 Irish game at Washington

"The enthusiasm and intensity of the Husky crowd is unreal."

— Brady Brownlee, former Husky kicker.

Husky Hall of Fame

The University of Washington inaugurated a Hall of Fame in 1979 to "...honor and preserve the memory of those athletes, teams, coaches and members of the athletic staff who have contributed in a very outstanding and positive way to the promotion of the University of Washington athletic program."

Some 109 individuals and 12 teams have been inducted to the Washington Hall of Fame in an annual special ceremony. In 1994, the Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony was moved to the spring to coincide with the Purple-White game.

Husky Greats

Don Heinrich

Don Heinrich is considered one of the greatest quarterbacks in the history of the college game. Twice while at Washington, he topped the NCAA passing statistics. Today, over 40 years after his brilliant career as a Husky, he still ranks fourth on Washington's career passing list with over 4,000 yards.

Heinrich directed Washington to an 8-2 record in 1950 and to a 7-3 mark as a senior in 1952. In both 1950 and 1952, Heinrich led the nation in passing yardage and percentage. The 1950 season was perhaps his most memorable, capped by one of the strangest Washington-Washington State games ever.

With the Huskies leading 45-14, Heinrich was on the bench, believing he had established a national pass-completion record of 133 for one season. With time running out, it was learned that Heinrich had only tied the record. A player suggested that WSU be allowed to score so Washington could get the ball back.

After the Cougars scored an uncontested touchdown, Heinrich completed a short pass and the record was broken. Moments later, Hugh McElhenny broke loose on an 84-yard touchdown run, a romp that gave him 296 rushing yards for the game and still is a UW record. The Huskies won 52-21.

Heinrich was named first-team All-Pacific Coast Conference, first-team All-Coast and was a two-time All-American. Named the quarterback on the Husky centennial team in 1990, he was inducted into the college football Hall of Fame in 1987.

After college, he had a successful career in the professional ranks. Heinrich went on to play with the New York Giants and won the World Championship in 1956. He also helped lead the Giants into the NFL title game in 1958 and 1959. Following his playing days, Heinrich began a 15-year coaching career in the NFL with the Dallas Cowboys, New York Giants, Los Angeles Rams, Atlanta Falcons, Pittsburgh Steelers, New Orleans Saints and San Francisco 49ers.

Heinrich's broadcast career began in 1976 when he joined KIRO Newsradio as color analyst on KIRO's Seattle Seahawks broadcasts. After six seasons with the Seahawks, Heinrich assumed similar duties for the San Francisco 49ers on KCBS in San Francisco. He joined Don Klein as color analyst with the 49ers in 1982 and worked there for four years.

Heinrich also served as color analyst on ESPN for the United States Football league.

In January of 1992, after the Huskies won a share of the national championship, head coach Don James called Heinrich. "He said, 'You're part of this,' which, of course, is a nice thing to say," Heinrich said after James' call. Don Heinrich, the golden arm of Husky football, passed away in 1992 at age 62 after battling cancer.

Hugh McElhenny

Hugh McElhenny was an All-America fullback/halfback at Washington in 1951, capping a three-year career that saw him set 16 school records. When he was inducted to the Husky Hall of Fame in 1979, nearly 30 years after his illustrious career in the Purple and Gold, McElhenny still ranked first in four all-time rushing categories.

As a Husky, McElhenny rushed for 2,499 total yards, an outstanding 5.5 average per carry. He also gained 760 yards as a pass receiver, 975 yards as a dangerous kickoff and punt returner, and scored 233 career points during 1949, 1950, and 1951 seasons.

He was nicknamed "Hurryn' Hugh" and "Hurricane Hugh" as a collegiate standout at Washington, then earned the title "The King" as a great professional player from 1952 to 1964.

McElhenny starred with the San Francisco 49ers (1952-60), Minnesota Vikings (1961-62), New York Giants (1963) and Detroit Lions (1964) in 13 NFL seasons. He gained 5,281 yards rushing, gained 3,247 yards pass receiving, ran back punts for 920 yards, and returned kickoffs for 1,921 yards. The King scored 60 touchdowns in the pro ranks and accounted for 11,369 yards during his 13 seasons.

Born Dec. 31, 1928, McElhenny enjoyed an outstanding prep career at Washington High School in his native Los Angeles. He went on to play one year (1948) at Compton (California) Junior College before transferring to Washington in 1949.

McElhenny put up phenomenal numbers at Compton. He averaged nine yards per carry while rushing for 1,184 yards and 17 touchdowns.

He made his impact felt in just his second game as a Husky. Washington was in Minneapolis to meet Big Ten power Minnesota and the Huskies won the coin toss, electing to receive. McElhenny stood on his own goal line waiting the opening kickoff, took the ball on the four yard line and promptly set sail on a 96-yard touchdown return.

Long runs and stunning kick returns were a McElhenny trademark, and one in particular still stands out in Husky fans' minds. Frank Gifford, former USC halfback who went on to start with the New York Giants and then as an ABC-TV sports caster, relates the story:

"I'll never forget that game," said Gifford of the 1951 USC-Washington clash in Seattle. "I wasn't our regular kicker, but I did the punting when we got to midfield because supposedly I was more accurate at getting the ball down to the corner. Well, in this game, I got the ball down in the corner all right and The King took it there, right on the goal line. He started down the sideline and all of a sudden there was only one man — me — between him and the goal line. He left me flat on my face and ran it 100 yards for a touchdown!"

"It was like a touchdown run out of a combat movie...only it was real."

The 100-yard return off Gifford's punt still ties McElhenny for the longest punt return in NCAA history.

McElhenny once owned the NCAA rushing record, for highest average gain per rush. He set that mark in the final game of his junior season when the Huskies capped a fine 8-2 record and second-place finish in the Pacific Coast Conference with a convincing 52-21 thrashing of Washington State in Spokane. The King gained 296 yards on just 20 carries that day, an incredible 14.8 average, and he scored five touchdowns, including an 83-yard romp in the fourth quarter.

Another well-remembered run took place in the 1950 Kansas State game, the season opener which served to dedicate the opening of the upper deck in expanded Husky Stadium. McElhenny raced 91 yards on a fourth-quarter scrimmage play to break a 31-year-old Washington mark for the longest single play rushing gain.

McElhenny earned second team UPI All-Coast honors (third team AP) as a sophomore, then first team UPI and AP All-Coast honors as a junior and senior. By the time he ended his record breaking career in 1951, McElhenny was a unanimous All-America pick.

The King is a member of the prestigious National Football League (NFL) Hall of Fame inducted in 1970, the College Football Hall of Fame (inducted in 1982) and the Washington Hall of Fame (inaugural group in 1979). He was also selected to the Washington Centennial team in 1990.

1991 National Champions

A potent offensive squad and an athletic defense came together to create a team that finished the 1991 season with a perfect 12-0 to give Washington its first National Championship.

Offensively, the Husky running game was powered by the duo of Beno Bryant and Jay Barry, who helped Washington to average over 230 yards per game. They were complemented by sophomore quarterback Billy Joe Hobert who proved he could run the ball when he was not throwing strikes to All-America receive Mario Bailey or Orlando McKay. Senior center Ed Cunningham, All-American tackle Lincoln Kennedy, and Suipeli Malamala led an offensive line that enabled the Huskies to muster for over 470 yards of total offense a game, the best mark in the Pac-10. At the end of the season, five offensive players were named first or second-team All-Pac-10.

Consensus All-American Steve Emtman led one of the stingiest defenses college football has ever seen. Washington allowed less than 10 points a game while holding opposing rushers to 67 yards a game. The Huskies' defense swarmed the ball on every play with raw athleticism coming from every angle. Donald Jones, Andy Mason, Chico Fraley, Jamie Fields, Brett Collins and Dave Hoffmann created a wall few backs could penetrate. Waiting in the secondary was the backfield of Shane Pahukoa, Tommie Smith, Dana Hall and Walter Bailey. The did their share to create a defense that ranked first in the country in turnover margin.

Washington started the season with a pair of formidable challenges on the road, opening at Stanford and Nebraska. Making his starting debut after 1991 Rose Bowl MVP Mark Brunell suffered a knee injury during the spring, Hobert found Bailey in the endzone to give Washington a 21-7 lead at half-time following a scoreless first quarter and a pair of rushing scores by Bryant and Barry. The defense gained national attention in its opening performance by holding Stanford's Heisman candidate Glyn Milburn to only 16 yards on 11 carries as the Stanford offense managed only 238 yards on the day and turned the ball over six times.

In one of the most anticipated games on the early part of the college football season, fourth-ranked Washington traveled to Nebraska to face the ninth-ranked Cornhuskers. The Huskies fell behind 14-6 at the half to team that had won 20 consecutive times on its home field, and events only got worse for the visitors when Nebraska's Derek Brown scored after UW muffed a punt on its own two-yard-line. That's where Washington began its greatest comeback of the season.

Behind Hobert's passing and play calling, early in the fourth quarter Washington took a 22-21 lead when McKay scored on an eight-yard toss. His second TD run of the game, with 7:26 remaining gave the Huskies an eight-point lead before an 81-yard run by Barry finished the game's scoring. The Husky defense stymied any Cornhusker comeback, creating two Nebraska turnovers. By the end of the contest the Huskies had reeled off 27 unanswered points and gained 618 yards of total offense.

"Their defense is dominant. Steve Emtman has to be the best lineman in the country. Nobody blocks him and the folks around him are great football players. Washington is as good a team as the Pac-10 has had, ever."

– Dick Tomey, Arizona head coach

Opponents were overwhelmed by Washington's defense in its first three home contests of the season. The Husky defense turned in a spectacular effort against Kansas State, holding the Wildcats to three points and negative 17 yards on the ground. Washington's offense scored in six of its first seven possessions en route to a 56-3 win that also featured the return of Brunell to action as a backup.

Arizona's luck against Washington was even worse the following week as the Huskies parlayed seven Wildcat turnovers into 27 points and held a potent Arizona rushing attack to just 30 yards. Emtman, reaped havoc on the Arizona offense rocking quarterback George Malauulu for losses on Arizona's first two plays from scrimmage. The Huskies went on to hold the Wildcats to only 142 yards of offense and handed the Wildcats their worst defeat in history by a score of 54-0. The following week Mario Bailey hauled in three touchdowns as Washington recorded its second straight shutout, holding Toledo to just 48 rushing yards.

Upstart California, ranked seventh nationally, was the Huskies next big roadblock. Before a packed stadium in Berkeley, the Bears got on the scoreboard first when Sean Dawkins carried a Mike Pawlawski pass into the endzone near the end of the first period.

Washington answered with a 35-yard touchdown pass from Hobert to Bailey to even the score. Washington took the lead on a short field goal by Travis Hanson before the Bears answered with their own 50-boot.

"Against that good of a football team, a team that motivated and that skilled you need to play damn perfect."

— Bruce Snyder, California head coach

Washington took a lead into the locker room when Barry scored at the end of the half on a nine-yard run. Cal evened things up at the end of the third quarter when Lindsey Chapman raced 68 yards for a score.

The Huskies answered with their own big play score when Bryant raced 65 yards on the next possession to give Washington a 24-17 lead. Cal made one last charge, but Husky cornerback Walter Bailey who broke up a Pawlawski pass at the goal line on the final play of the game to insure the win.

Jumping to third in the polls, the Huskies returned to Husky Stadium for a pair of home contests against Oregon and Arizona State. Washington frustrated the Ducks, holding them scoreless for the first 55 minutes of the game and limiting them to 129 yards of total offense in a 29-7 win highlighted by three Travis Hanson field goals.

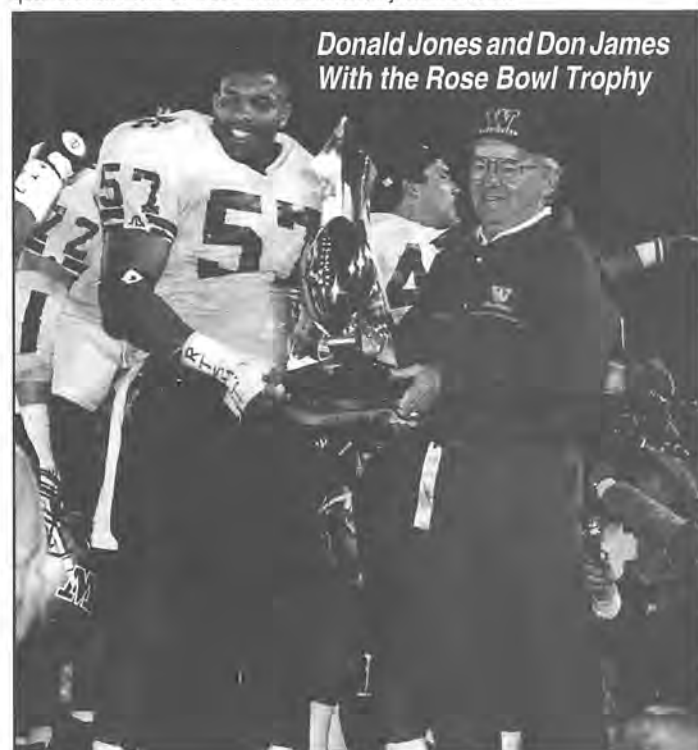

The Sun Devils did not fair any better as the Huskies rattled off the first 41-points en route to a 44-16 win.

Heading back on the road for two of the last three contests of the regular season, the second-ranked Huskies went to the LA Memorial Coliseum to face the Trojans who were looking for revenge after a 31-0 loss in 1990 at Husky Stadium. Bryant, a Los Angeles native, gave the Huskies all they would need with a pair of first-half touchdown runs to propel Washington to a 14-3 victory. The following week Oregon State's was defenseless as Bailey scored three times to lead Washington to a 58-6 victory.

"I said it before the game that Washington is the best team I've seen in this league ever, and I still stand by that. I thought we made them work for it. The main problem was we couldn't move the football against them."

— Rich Brooks, Oregon head coach

The Huskies completed their perfect regular season with a convincing 56-11 victory over cross-state rival Washington State in the annual Apple Cup matchup. Seven different Husky players scored touchdowns in addition to a sack of Cougar quarterback Drew Bledsoe in the endzone by Jamie Fields.

"There is no question in my mind that Washington is the best team in the country. They've got a balanced offense, a fantastic defense and they're strong in the kicking game. In my years of experience I haven't seen a better overall team."

— Larry Smith, Southern California Head Coach.

Tied for the top ranking in the country heading into a showdown with Michigan in the Rose Bowl, the Huskies were ready to defend its crown in Pasadena against a high-powered offensive attack led Heisman Trophy winner Desmond Howard. Hobert, who had been getting the job done all season by running and passing, gave Washington an early lead with a two-yard touchdown run. A Michigan touchdown and a pair of Travis Hanson field goals gave Washington a 13-7 lead at the half.

The second half belonged to the Huskies. A touchdown to freshman tight end Mark Breuner late in the third quarter started the onslaught. Early in the fourth, Hobert when back to the tight end, this time Aaron Pierce to give Washington a 27-7 advantage before Brunell hit Bailey with a 38 yard touchdown strike as Washington cruised to a 34-14 win to cap a perfect season.

Early the next morning Husky head coach Don James received a phone call in his hotel room informing him that the Huskies has been voted to National Champions in the coaches poll. It proved to be the perfect ending to a dream season for Washington.

Huskies at the White House

While Washington and Miami shared the 1991 National Championship, it is interesting to note that the Huskies were voted national champs by three of the four major organizations that crown a national champion. The National Football Foundation, USA Today/CNN and Football Writers' all voted the Huskies No. 1 in their respective polls. Miami's only first-place finish was in the Associated Press poll.

Huskies vs. The Heisman Winners

Bruce Smith - 1941

Minnesota 14, Washington 6

Smith accounted for both Minnesota touchdowns as the Golden Gophers outlasted Washington in Husky Stadium. Minnesota dominated the game, outgaining the Huskies 236 to 85, but did not put the game away until late. Smith's first touchdown came in the second quarter on a seven-yard touchdown run, followed later by a one-yard plunge to seal the game in the fourth quarter. Washington's lone touchdown came on a 14-yard run by Ernie Steele, but the kick failed.

Leon Hart - 1949

Notre Dame 27, Washington 7

Notre Dame ran its winning streak to 30 games with a 27-7 win at Husky Stadium in front of a record 41,510 fans. Washington scored first on a 45-yard touchdown pass from Don Heinrich to Roland Kirkby in the first quarter, but then watched the Fighting Irish rattle off 27 straight points for the win. Hart scored Notre Dame's first two touchdowns on a 27-yard second quarter touchdown catch and a 14-yard scoring run in the third quarter to put the Irish ahead 13-7 on the way to the victory.

Joe Bellino - 1960

Navy 15, Washington 14

Washington limited Bellino to 53 yards on 14 carries but lost the game with 2:14 to play when Navy converted a 32-yard field goal attempt. Neither team put on much of an offensive show as third-ranked Washington outgained the 17th-ranked Midshipmen 193-69. Bellino scored the first Navy touchdown on a one-yard plunge in the first quarter, but the extra point was no good, as was the two-point conversion try on Navy's next touchdown, leaving Washington ahead 14-12. The Huskies had scored on a 31-yard pass from Bob Schloredt to Don McKeta and a three-yard run by Ray Jackson, setting the stage for the game-winning field goal.

Terry Baker - 1962

Washington 14, Oregon State 13

Baker's all-around effort nearly lifted the Beavers to an upset of the seventh-ranked Huskies, but a missed extra point allowed Washington to pull out a 14-13 victory. Baker, who passed for 144 yards and two touchdowns and ran for 85 yards, accounted for both Beaver touchdowns as he connected with Vern Burke on six- and 10-yard scoring plays. Husky running back Junior Coffey racked up 113 yards, including a 43-yard touchdown run to tie the score at 7-7 in the second quarter. Later, with Oregon State leading 13-7 after the failed extra point, Coffey helped lead the Huskies downfield on the game-winning scoring drive, capped off by a Charlie Mitchell touchdown run. Baker rounded out his performance by punting seven times for 271 yards.

Mike Garrett - 1965

Southern California 34, Washington 0

The eighth-ranked Trojans rolled over Washington as 34-0 as Garrett gained a total of 175 yards on 31 carries. Washington managed just 130 yards in total offense, and crossed the 50-yard line on only two occasions. Trojan quarterback Troy Winslow completed all 11 passes he threw, for 105 yards, as he and Garrett led USC to 445 total yards against the unranked Huskies.

Gary Beban - 1967

UCLA 48, Washington 0

Beban had one of his finest outings ever as the fourth-ranked Bruins dominated Washington from start to finish. Beban passed for three touchdowns and ran for another in leading the Bruins to a 41-0 halftime lead. He threw 36 yards to Dave Nuttall for UCLA's fifth touchdown and then completed the first half scoring spree with a 42 yard touchdown pass to Harold Busby. The Bruins outgained the Huskies 500-84 in total offense, as Beban completed 14-of-22 passes for 289 yards. Washington completed just four-of-15 passes for 40 yards.

O.J. Simpson - 1968

Southern California 14, Washington 7

The top-ranked Trojans, led by Simpson, narrowly avoided a major upset in Los Angeles at the hands of unranked Washington before escaping with a 14-7 win. Simpson scored the game's first touchdown on a one-yard dive in the first quarter, on his way to a 173-yard, 33-carry performance. Washington tied the game in the third quarter when Buddy Kenamer scored from eight yards out, but missed two later opportunities as the Trojans tacked on another touchdown for the win. With the score tied 7-7, the Huskies took over at the USC 20 after a Simpson fumble and drove to the one-yard line where they failed to convert a fourth-and-one play. Two plays later Simpson was nearly tackled for a safety but broke free and led the Rose Bowl-bound Trojans on the game-winning touchdown drive which he capped with a nine-yard scoring scamper. Washington responded by driving to the USC seven-yard line but fumbled the ball away.

Jim Plunkett - 1970

Stanford 29, Washington 22

Plunkett made a strong statement to Heisman voters by setting an NCAA record for career passing yardage, throwing for 268 yards and four touchdowns to bring his career total to 7,088 yards. Plunkett surpassed the old mark of 7,076 set by Steve Ramsay of North Texas State as he led the Indians to a 29-22 triumph in a see-saw battle at Stanford Stadium. Washington took an early 7-0 lead when Jim Krieg returned the opening kickoff 95 yards for a touchdown. Stanford then came back with three straight Plunkett touchdown passes in the first quarter to go ahead 21-7 before Washington quarterback Sonny Sixkiller brought the Huskies back, running for one touchdown, passing for another and completing a two-point conversion pass for a 22-21 lead. But the Heisman-bound Plunkett brought his team back in the fourth quarter with a touchdown and two-point conversion to seal the win for the sixth-ranked Indians and vault them into the Rose Bowl for the first time since 1952.

Charles White - 1979

Southern California 24, Washington 17

White showed his true Heisman form by marching all over the Huskies for 243 yards on 38 carries as the second-ranked Trojans pulled out a 24-17 win on their way to the Rose Bowl. Washington, which entered the game ranked 16th, staged a late rally to tie the game at 17 on a one-yard run by Tom Flick and a 12-yard touchdown pass from Flick to Paul Skansi. Flick finished with 245 yards on 18-for-28 passing. White led the Trojans to their final touchdown nearly single-handedly before Marcus Allen covered the final 10 yards for the score and the victory in one of the most exciting games ever played in Husky Stadium. Washington then drove to the Trojan two-yard line after a Mark Lee 40-yard punt return but could not score.

Marcus Allen - 1981

Washington 13, Southern California 3

Allen may have won the battle, pounding out 155 yards on 38 carries, but the unranked Huskies won the war by upsetting the third-ranked Trojans, keeping themselves in contention for a Rose Bowl berth. USC took a 3-0 lead in the second quarter but did not score again while Washington tallied 13 special teams points on a wet and windy day at Husky Stadium. Despite yielding 155 yards to Allen, the Husky defense stood tall and kept USC out of the end zone, the first time the Trojans had been denied a touchdown since 1967. The game was tied 3-3 in the fourth quarter until Chuck Nelson converted a 46-yard field goal and the Huskies recovered a fumble on the ensuing kickoff for a 13-3 lead.

Desmond Howard - 1991

Washington 34, Michigan 14

Washington's dominating defense overwhelmed Michigan's high-powered attack and Heisman Trophy winner Howard as the second-ranked Huskies defeated the fourth-ranked Wolverines 34-14 in the Rose Bowl to earn a share of the first national championship. Howard was limited to just one reception for 35 yards in his last game as a Wolverine as the Husky secondary frustrated him all day. Washington quarterback Billy Joe Hobert sparked the Husky offense by scoring on a two-yard touchdown run for the first of Washington's 34 points and threw for two touchdowns as Washington won its second straight Rose Bowl, capping a perfect 12-0 season.

Eddie George - 1995

Ohio State 30, Washington 20

Eddie George played a key role in the 10th-ranked Buckeyes' victory against the Huskies at Ohio Stadium. George rushed for 212 yards (a career high at the time) and scored a pair of touchdowns to spark Ohio State. His second score, a 16-yard run in the third quarter, gave the Buckeyes a commanding 30-7 lead. George rushed for 149 yards by halftime. His rushing total was the 10th best against a Husky team.

Glossary of Medical Terms

A-C Joint - Acromioclavicular joint; joint of the shoulder where acromion process (of the scapula) and the distal end of the clavicle meet; most shoulder separations occur at this point.

Abduct - Movement of any extremity away from the body.

Abrasion - Any injury which rubs off the surface of the skin.

Abscess - An infection which produces pus; can be the result of a blister, callus, penetrating wound or laceration.

Achilles Tendon - The tendon at the back of the heel.

Adduct - Movement of an extremity toward the body.

Adductor - Any muscle which moves a part toward the median axis of the body.

Adhesion - Abnormal adherence of collagen fibers to surrounding structures during immobilization following trauma or as a complication of surgery which restricts normal elasticity of the structures involved.

Aerobic - Exercise in which energy needed is supplied by oxygen inspired; required for sustained periods of hard work and vigorous exercise.

Anterior - In front of; the front surface.

Anterior Cruciate Ligament (ACL) - Ligament of knee attaching to anterior tibial plateau and posterior medial aspect of femoral condyle. It provides stability in keeping the lower leg from coming forward.

Anti-Inflammatory - Any agent which prevents inflammation.

Arthrogram - X-ray technique for joints using air and/or dye injected in affected area (to show torn cartilage or rotator cuff tears).

Arthroscope - An instrument used for visualization of the interior of a joint cavity; sometimes referred to as "scope."

Arthroscopy - Examination of the internal structures of a joint by means of surgical viewing apparatus (arthroscope) inserted into the joint.

Atrophy - To shrivel or shrink from disuse, as in muscular atrophy.

Avascular Necrosis - Death of a part due to lack of circulation (can occur in the elbow from throwing).

Avulsion - A tearing away forcibly of a part of structure.

Axilla - The armpit.

Bicep - Muscle on the front of the upper arm responsible for bending the elbow.

Bruise - A discoloration of the skin due to an extravasation of the blood into the underlying tissues.

Burner - Common term for brachial plexus trauma in the neck. Usually results in burning or tingling sensation into the shoulder or arm when the neck is forced beyond the normal range of motion.

Calcaneus - The heel bone.

Calf - Also known as gastrocnemius; muscle responsible for plantar-flexing, or pointing the toes down, the foot.

Capsule - An enclosing structure which surrounds the joint and contains ligaments which stabilize that joint.

Cartilage - Smooth, slippery substance preventing two ends of bones from rubbing together and grating.

Cellulitis - Inflammation of cellular or connective tissue.

Charley Horse - A bruise to the quadriceps resulting from a direct blow to the front of the thigh, characterized by intramuscular bleeding. No other injury should be called a charley horse.

Clavicle - The collar bone.

Collagen - A substance existing in commonly injured tissues of the body, including skin, cartilage, ligaments, and bone.

Concussion - Jarring injury of the brain resulting in disfunction. Can be graded mild, moderate or severe depending on loss of consciousness, amnesia and loss of equilibrium.

Congenital - Existing before birth; to be born with.

Contusion - An injury to the muscles and tissue caused by a blow from a blunt object.

Costochondral - The cartilage that separates the bones within the rib cage.

Cranium - The bony framework of the head composed of eight cranial bones, the 14 bones of the face and the teeth.

Dehydration - Loss of body water.

Disc - A flat, round-like, plate structure usually referring to cartilage between vertebrae.

Distal - Away from.

Echymosis - Bleeding into the surface tissue below the skin, resulting in a "black and blue" effect.

Efferent - Away from, pushing out from center.

Effusion - Accumulation of fluid, or the fluid itself, in various spaces in the body. Commonly found in the knee following injury.

Electrolyte - Ionized salts in blood, tissue fluids and cells including salts of sodium, potassium and chlorine.

EMG - Electromyogram test to check nerve function.

Epicondylitis - Inflammation in the elbow due to overuse of either the flexor or extensor muscles attaching to the medial or lateral epicondyle of the humerus.

Eversion - Turning outward.

Extensor - A muscle which upon contraction results in straightening a joint.

Extrinsic - From without.

Fascia - A connective tissue sheath consisting of fibrous tissue and fat which unites the skin to the underlying tissues.

Femur - Thigh bone.

Fibula - The smaller of the two bones in the lower leg, located to the outside.

Flexion - Bending a joint, as in flexing the arm or leg.

Flexor - A muscle which upon contraction flexes or bends.

Fracture - Breach in continuity of a bone. Types of fractures include simple, compound, comminuted, greenstick, incomplete, impacted, longitudinal, oblique, stress, or transverse.

Groin - Junction of the thigh and abdomen.

Hamstring - Muscle running from the buttocks to behind the knee. Often injured as a result of improper conditioning or lack of muscle of muscle flexibility. Muscle responsible for flexing the knee joint.

Heat Stroke - Condition of rapidly rising internal body temperature that overwhelms the body's mechanisms for release of heat.

Heat Exhaustion - Mild form of shock caused by loss of fluid and electrolytes from the circulation because of excessive sweating when exposed to heat.

Heat Cramps - Painful muscle spasms of arms or legs caused by excessive body heat and depletion of fluids and electrolytes.

Hematoma - A tumor-like mass produced for an accumulation or coagulated blood in a cavity.

Hip Pointer - Contusion to the iliac crest.

Humerus - Bone of the upper arm.

Hyperextension - Extreme extension, or straightening, of a limb or body part.

Inferior - Lower, beneath, toward the bottom.

Intrinsic - Inherent or inside.

Isokinetic Exercise - A form of active resistive exercise in which the speed of movement of the limb is controlled by a pre-set rate-limiting device, such as Cybex, Biodex, etc.

Isokinetic - A constant speed and consistent resistance exercise.

Lateral - To the outside of the body.

Lateral Collateral Ligament (LCL) - Ligament of knee attaching lateral femoral condyle and to fibula head. It provides lateral stability to the knee.

Ligament - Band of fibrous tissue that connects bone to bone or bone to cartilage and supports and strengthens joints.

Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) - Provides highly detailed pictures of the body's interior, using highly magnetic fields.

Medial - Pertaining to or near the middle.

Medial Collateral Ligament - Ligament of knee attaching to medial femoral condyle and to medial tibia. It provides medial stability to the knee.

Metacarpals - Five long bones of hand, just below fingers.

Myositis - Inflammation of a muscle.

Necrotic - Relating to death of a portion of tissue.

Neuritis - Inflammation of a nerve.

Orthotic - Any device applied to or around the body in the care of physical impairment or disability, commonly used to control foot mechanics.

Parasthesia - Sensation of numbness or tingling, indicating nerve irritation.

Patella - The kneecap.

Patella Tendinitis - Inflammation of the patella tendon.

Pathology - The study of the nature and cause of disease.

Pectorals - Chest muscles beneath breast, leading up to shoulder.

Phlebitis - Inflammation of a vein.

Plantar Fascia - The tight band of muscle beneath the arch of the foot.

Plica - A fold of tissue in the joint capsule and a common result of knee injury.

Posterior - At the back part, or rear of the body.

Posterior Cruciate Ligament (PCL) - Ligament of the knee attaching to posterior tibial plateau and anterior lateral aspect of femoral condyle. It provides stability in keeping the lower leg from going backward.

Pronation - Moving of the forearm into a palm down position.

Quadriceps (Quads) - The four powerful muscles in the front of the thigh, responsible for extending the knee joint.

Radius - Forearm bone on thumb side.

Rotator Cuff - Comprised of four muscles in the shoulder area: supraspinatus, infraspinatus, teres minor, and subscapularis. Often irritated by overuse.

Scan - Injection of radioactive fluid (equal in radioactivity to about one x-ray) which may then be displayed on a computer/monitor or film (e.g. bone scan).

Scapula - The shoulder blade.

Sciatic Nerve - Largest nerve in body located in back of leg which controls most of its function.

Shin Splint - A catch-all syndrome describing pain either in the front of the lower leg or on the inner aspect of the leg.

Spasm - Sudden, violent, involuntary contraction of a muscle.

Spleen - Large, solid organ responsible for the normal production and destruction of blood cells.

Sprain - A joint injury. A violent twisting, stretching, pulling or tearing of a ligament.

Stinger - Common term for brachial plexus trauma in the neck.

Strain - A muscle injury. The pulling or twisting of a muscle or tendon.

Stress X-Ray - A continual x-ray taken when a portion of the body is stressed to its maximum to see if the ligaments are intact.

Stress Fracture - A hair-line type of break in bone caused by overuse.

Stretching - Any therapeutic maneuver designed to lengthen (elongate) pathologically shortened soft-tissue structures and thereby increase range of motion.

Subluxation - Partial dislocation of a joint. Term usually implies that joint can return to normal position without formal reduction.

Superior - In anatomy, the upper of the two parts; toward the top or above.

Supination - Moving the forearm into a palm-up position.

Tendinitis - Inflammation of the tendon and/or tendon sheath, often caused by chronic overuse and/or sudden injury.

Tendon - Fibrous tissue that connects muscles to other structures.

Tibia - Larger of the two bones in lower leg; weight-bearing bone.

Trachea - The windpipe.

Trapezius - A flat triangular muscle covering the posterior surface of the neck and shoulder.

Triceps - Muscle of the posterior upper arm, opposite the biceps that extends the elbow.

Turf Toe - Sprain of the metatarsophalangeal (MTP) joint of the great toe.

Ulnar Nerve - Nerve in the elbow commonly irritated from excessive throwing or repeated trauma.

Wrist - The junction between the two forearm bones (radius and ulna) and the eight wrist bones (trapezium, trapezoid, capitate, hamate, pisiform, triquetrum, lunate and scaphoid).

The Apple Cup

Dogs and cats.

Could there be a more natural rivalry?

Huskies and Cougars.

The annual matchup when Washington meets Washington State is definitely one of the best rivalries in college football today. Up for grabs each year is the Apple Cup, a trophy sponsored by the Washington State Apple Commission and presented by the state's governor.

This gridiron battle actually has two histories. The series dates back to 1900 when the teams played to a 5-5 tie in Seattle, but only since 1962 has the winner been awarded the Apple Cup. Washington holds a 57-26-6 record in the 89-game series, and is 25-10 in Apple Cup games.

Like most rivalries, each game is a new chapter with unpredictable results, regardless of records, momentum or history. It is a game based more on emotion and determination than scouting reports and talent.

Though the schools are on opposite sides of the state, creating a natural geographic split among fans, the annual meeting on the gridiron splits the state in so many other ways — sometimes between members of the same family. Such was the case in 1990 when Husky freshman Travis Hanson waged a personal kicking battle with his brother Jason, the Cougars' All-American place kicker.

But while individual stories give the Apple Cup its character, its enormity and magnitude come from the number of times the game has determined Rose Bowl fate for either team. In 1981 the two teams met in Seattle with a trip to Pasadena at stake along with the Apple Cup trophy — Washington prevailed 23-10.

Perhaps the most shocking upset in the series came in 1982 when the Huskies carried a 9-1 record and an eight-game Apple Cup winning streak into the contest, and needed only to defeat a 2-7-1 Cougar squad to make a third straight Rose Bowl appearance.

Washington, which had held the number-one national ranking for seven weeks earlier in the season, had knocked off two top-10 teams in its previous two games and appeared to be on a roll that would carry it to Pasadena. But the inspired Cougars, playing the Apple Cup at Martin Stadium for the first time since 1954, stunned the Huskies with a 24-20 defeat. The celebration in Pullman began immediately as jubilant Cougar fans poured onto the field to remove the goal posts, and carried them to the Palouse River for a trip downstream.

Washington seemed certain to take the lead and avoid the upset in the fourth quarter when All-American kicker Chuck Nelson set up for a 33-yard field goal with the Huskies trailing 21-20. But Nelson missed, halting his NCAA record for consecutive field goals at 30 as the Cougars went on to victory.

If the '82 game was the most shocking, the '85 game in Husky Stadium goes down as one of the coldest on record. Five days before the game it began snowing in Seattle and did not stop until there was more than a foot on the ground. The city was nearly paralyzed and the turf in Husky Stadium, while clear of snow, was frozen solid under the Arctic conditions. UW officials swept the snow from the seats and had to fill the toilets in the stadium with anti-freeze to keep them in working order.

The fans who braved the elements saw WSU running back Rueben Mayes skitter his way to 167 rushing yards as the Cougars defeated Washington 21-20.

The most impressive comeback in Apple Cup history belongs to the Huskies in 1975, when they turned a 27-14 deficit into a thrilling 28-27 victory in the final 3:01. The Cougars had the ball at the Husky 14-yard line and a chance to pad the lead, when they unexplainably put the ball in the air. Husky Al Bursles intercepted the ill-advised pass and returned it 93 yards for a touchdown. Washington then held the Cougars on their next possession and took over on their own 22-yard line with 1:56 remaining. One play later they led 28-27. On first down, Warren Moon passed the ball in the direction of a mob in the center of the field. It hit WSU's Tony Heath and ricocheted into the hands of Husky receiver Spider Gaines, who took it all the way for a 78-yard touchdown play. Two touchdowns in a little over a minute, and the Huskies were victorious in Don James's first Apple Cup.

The Apple Cup trophy is awarded annually to the winner of the game between Washington and Washington State. The Huskies lead the series 25-11 since it became known as the Apple Cup.

The past two seasons have seen wild Apple Cup finishes. The 1995 affair was settled with just over a minute to play when John Wales booted a 21-yard field goal to give Washington a 33-30 victory. Rashaan Shehee ran for 212 yards and three scores for the Huskies while Cougar quarterback Ryan Leaf, in his first career start, passed for 291 yards and one score.

In 1996, in Pullman, the Huskies jumped out to a 24-point lead in the third quarter thanks to Corey Dillon's 155 rushing yards on 38 carries. Dillon recorded three TDs to cap his career. Cougar quarterback Ryan Leaf rallied WSU with 24 unanswered points and when Wales field goal was just left the game went into overtime. Brock Huard found Jerome Pathon for a three-yard score to give UW the lead. On fourth down, Leaf's pass to Chad Carpenter was caught just out of bounds to end the contest.

Since Washington's eight-game winning streak (1974-81), neither team has won more than three straight Apple Cup contests.

For a list of top performances by Huskies and Cougars in the Apple Cup, see page 161.

Apple Cup Barbs

There have been many zingers tossed out between the Cougars and Huskies over the years, regarding the Apple Cup and the cross-state rivalry. Here are a few of the most colorful:

"They've got a lot of great dancers on their team. Too bad they can't hit as well as they dance."

—WSU's Timm Rosenbach after a 34-19 loss, 1987

"There are four important stages in your life. You're born, you play the Huskies, you get married and you die."

—WSU guard Dan Lynch, 1984

"I've always felt being a Cougar prepares you well for life. You learn not to expect too much."

—UW coach Don James, 1983

"Nobody in the press box, no other coach made that decision. I made the choice. The kids thought we should try a pass. I stupidly agreed."

—WSU coach Jim Sweeney after miracle Husky comeback, triggered by an interception, 1975

"I thought they might give it to me. Those are good at home, but we weren't at home."

—Chuck Nelson after first miss in 30 tries, 1982

"Nothing in my job - not the Rose Bowls, not the Holiday Bowls, nothing - is more important than beating the University of Washington."

—WSU coach Jim Walden, 1982

"I'm a 2,000 word underdog."

—Don James on Jim Walden, 1985

"To just think about losing this game makes me want to puke. It would absolutely disgust me."

—UW guard Trevor Highfield, 1995

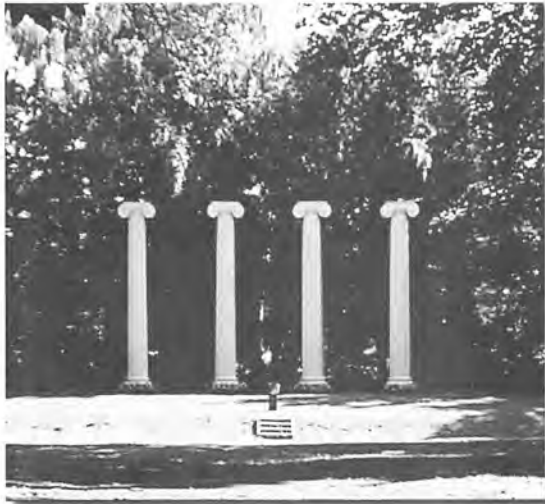

"When I don't feel like running that extra lap or doing the 20 extra reps on the bench press, the thing that motivates me is the Cougars."

—UW fullback Richard Thomas, 1995

THE UW EXPERIENCE

The University of Washington

Founded in 1861, the University of Washington is considered one of the foremost institutions of higher education in the nation. The University's location provides some of the most scenic views in the Pacific Northwest.

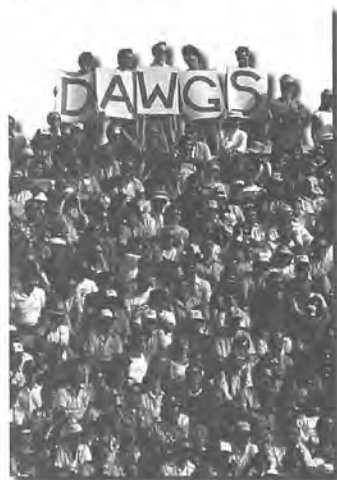

Seattle — The Emerald City

University of Washington students are fortunate to be located in one of the most vibrant cities in the country. Seattle waterfront location in the shadows of the Cascade and Olympic Mountain Ranges is truly spectacular. The city is the home to such international businesses as Microsoft, Boeing, Starbucks and Nintendo.

Game Day at Husky Stadium

Game day at Husky Stadium is one of the most unique college football settings in the nation. Washington always plays before a packed house in its 72,500-seat stadium located on the shores of Lake Washington. Enthusiastic UW fans, many of whom come to the game by boat, make it a tough experience for opposing teams.

Washington Leads All Colleges in 1998 NFL Draft

When the two-day National Football League draft was over in April the Washington football program stood out above all other programs as having the most draft picks. A total of 10 Husky players were chosen in by NFL squads. Two other players would go on to sign free agent contracts. At the start of the 1998 season Washington had 40 players on rosters of this year's NFL teams. Since 1990 Washington has had 51 players drafted by NFL teams, including Steve Emtman, the first pick overall in the 1992 draft.

Noting the Huskies in the '90s

- Four Pac-10 titles
- Three Rose Bowl appearances
- 1991 National Champions
- Washington's 69-24-1 record (.739) ranks 12th among Division IA programs and tops among Pac-10 schools.
- Washington's 48-15-1 league record since 1990 is also the best in the Pac-10.
- In 1997 the Huskies averaged 73,589 fans per game to rank 16th in the nation in attendance.
- Washington's average home attendance was 7,774 more than the next highest Pac-10 program.
- With 67,000 season tickets, Washington has more season ticket holders than the Seattle Mariners, Seahawks and Sonics combined.
- Steve Emtman was named the Lombardi and Outland Trophy winner in 1991 and went on to be the top pick in the NFL draft.
- Four Huskies, Emtman, Lincoln Kennedy, Lawyer Milloy and Benji Olson have been named unanimous All-America selections.
- A total of 12 Washington players have been named to at least one first-team All-America squad.
- Washington's 42 first-team all-Pac-10 selections is the most among any league school.
- Greg Lewis, Steve Emtman (twice), Mario Bailey, Dave Hoffmann, Napoleon Kaufman and Jason Cholak have all earned Pac-10 player of the year honors this decade.
- Husky players have won the league's Morris Award four times on offense and three times on defense.
- Teams from the NFL have drafted 51 Huskies since 1990, including six first-round picks. Last year the Huskies led all college teams with 10 draft selections.
- In 1995 Washington had six former quarterbacks on NFL rosters, the most of any college program.

- Twelve Washington players have received Academic All-America or regional Academic All-America honors this decade.
- Ed Cunningham was awarded an NCAA postgraduate scholarship in 1991 and Dave Janoski received one in 1996.
- Jim Nevelle received a National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete Award scholarship in 1993.
- The Huskies enter the 1998 season ranked 17th among NCAA schools in total victories with 593.
- Washington's all-time winning percentage of .638 is the 13th best mark among active programs.

The Total Student-Athlete Program

Developed by the University of Washington Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, the Total Student-Athlete Program (TSAP) is an NCAA-affiliated Life Skills Program that focuses on the student-athlete as a whole person, helping them reach their maximum potential both on and off the field. The program provides educational experiences and services in order to develop well-balanced lifestyles for student-athletes.

The Total Student-Athlete Program will provide individuals the resources needed to realize their full potential in five areas of development:

- Commitment to Academic Development
- Commitment to Athletic Development
- Commitment to Career Development
- Commitment to Personal Development
- Commitment to Community Service

Academic Excellence

The University of Washington is strongly committed to promoting excellence in academic achievement by its student-athletes. The Total Student-Athlete Program is an important link between the variety of programs and services developed to support student-athletes in their academic endeavors.

Student-Athlete Academic Services (SAAS) provides academic advising, financial aid and eligibility counseling, as well as a multi-dimensional tutorial program which enables student-athletes to meet the unique demands imposed by participation in collegiate athletics. SAAS allows student-athletes to reach the same standards of excellence in academic work as they do in athletics.

Services Available to Student-Athletes:

- Academic Advising
- One-on-one tutoring
- Mentoring
- Study Table
- Test Review Sessions
- Math/Science Drop-In Center
- Writing Center
- Academic Skills Workshops
- Bridge Program
- Academic Computer Center

Athletic Excellence

The University sponsors broad-based athletics programs that allows every student-athlete an opportunity to perform at the highest level and against the best competition in the country. Because of the stature and tradition of the University and the quality of the athletic department, teams are in a position to compete for national championships.

The basic foundation for the successful development of an athletic program requires access to quality equipment, facilities, coaching and support services to its student-athletes. The following are a list of the support services available to student-athletes:

- Strength & Conditioning Programs
- Athletic Training and Health Care

- Sports Nutrition
- Standards of Conduct
- Public Relations & Marketing
- Band and Cheer Squad

Career Development

The Total Student-Athlete Program encourages the student-athlete to develop and pursue career goals. The program allows student-athletes to explore career options, develop job search skills, build a strong resume and secure internships and permanent employment. In addition, our student-athletes have gained valuable skills for today's workplace through their sports, skills such as teamwork, cooperation, responsibility, commitment, dedication and motivation.

The Total Student Athlete Program has many resources available to student-athletes that assist them with all aspects of their career needs, including:

- Career Counseling
- Internships
- Writing Resumes & Cover Letters
- Networking
- ICA Student-Athlete Employment Program
- Placement via the Center for Career Services
- Personal Development
- Husky Sport Psychology Services
- Alumni Mentoring Program
- SAAS Mentoring Program
- Personal Development Workshops

Community Service

Most often in the world of college sports, athletes are recognized for their "on the field" performances more than anything else. The University of Washington Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is proud of the Husky student-athletes' commitment to community service. The TSAP supports the belief that all student-athletes should use their talents to make positive contributions to the campus and surrounding neighborhoods.

Each year all 23 UW athletic programs participate in group and individual community service activities. The Huskies have participated in projects ranging from planting trees, tutoring school children, sponsoring a youth clinic and visiting a nursing home to serving meals to the homeless. Student-athletes find that participating in community service activities is a great way to help others and gain valuable experience.

Student-athletes also can earn academic credit through various internship opportunities and service-learning courses that are coordinated through University of Washington's Carlson Leadership and Public Service Office.

Leadership

The Total Student-Athlete Program is committed to fostering leadership development among student-athletes and helping them build strong foundations for their personal values and goals.

Washington Student-Athlete Advisory Council (WSAAC) serves as an advisory board to the Total Student-Athlete Program and athletic administration. Two representatives are selected from each sport and work together toward common goals providing a positive purpose and direction for their fellow student-athletes. WSAAC members receive invaluable training on leadership development, effective problem-solving techniques, team-building, communicating effectively and decision-making skills.

The main purposes of the council are to:

- Promote effective communication between the University of Washington Department of Intercollegiate Athletics and the student-athlete population.
- Provide student-athletes with the opportunity for input on the Total Student-Athlete Program.
- Develop effective leadership skills so those members can serve as team (collaborative) peer leaders.
- Encourage involvement of student-athletes in campus and Seattle-area activities.

UW Cited for Football Grad Rate

In June, the American Football Coaches Association cited the Washington football program as one of 24 to receive honorable mention status for its 1998 Academic Achievement Award. The Husky program was one of 24 to post a graduation rate of 70 percent or better for the class of 1997.

Northwestern won the award with a perfect 100 percent graduation rate. The other programs receiving honorable mention honors were: Boston College, Bowling Green, Duke, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Louisiana Tech, Marshall, Mississippi State, Nebraska, Notre Dame, Oregon, Penn State, Rice, SMU, Syracuse, Tennessee, Tulane, Vanderbilt, Virginia, Wake Forest and Wisconsin.

The overall graduation rate of the 79 institutions participating in the survey was 59 percent. The survey involved the freshman class from the academic year of 1992-93. Of those student-athletes who completed four years of eligibility, 74 percent have graduated and another seven percent are currently enrolled and working toward a degree.

Strength and Conditioning

Washington's strength and conditioning program is headquartered in the 12,000-foot weight room facility that houses a balance of machine apparatus and free weights as well as a variety of modern fitness equipment.

The spacious room is equipped with some 15,000 pounds of Olympic weights, 34 Olympic bars, eight Olympic benches, six incline benches, three military benches, three knee extension and hamstring curl machines, eight Olympic power racks, 60 pairs of dumbbells, six exercise bikes and three Stairmasters, as well as numerous other cutting edge apparatus.

The weight room, housed in the Graves Annex Building (which also contains most of the UW coaches' offices), doubles UW's previous workout space and resources. Planned fitness programs are aided by computerized training and evaluations, video instruction, a plyometric testing area, and a sauna and jacuzzi. Apparatus representing the latest technology in fitness and strength training are continually being added to the weight room, ensuring that Husky athletes have every opportunity to excel.

Located near all of the athletes' locker rooms and practice and competition venues, the weight room is a convenient stop during the student-athletes' busy days.

A long list of Husky athletes have been voted to the National All-Strength Team.

The Husky weight room is continually updated to remain at a state-of-the-art level.

Athletic Medicine

Washington's athletic training staff consists of seven full-time certified athletic trainers, 12 student trainers and a staff of six doctors, all working to help provide the 700-plus Husky student-athletes the best available medical care. In addition, a network of other specialists — dentists, optometrists, etc. — are all available for any of the UW student-athletes' needs.

Dennis Sealey is the Huskies' head athletic trainer. He and his staff provide care and attention to hundreds of athletes a day in two separate training rooms in the athletic department.

Washington's medical staff is headed by orthopedic surgeon Dr. Steve Bramwell, a former Husky football standout and an Academic All-America Hall of Famer. Dr. Bramwell's sports background has proven invaluable in understanding sports-related injuries, the athlete's desire for rehabilitation, and a healthy return to competition.

The physical health and safety of all Washington student-athletes is of paramount importance to all Husky coaches and medical personnel.

To that end, the Husky training staff vigilantly continues the educational process, keeping informed on all of the various advancements in the field of sports medicine.

The Campaign for the Student-Athlete

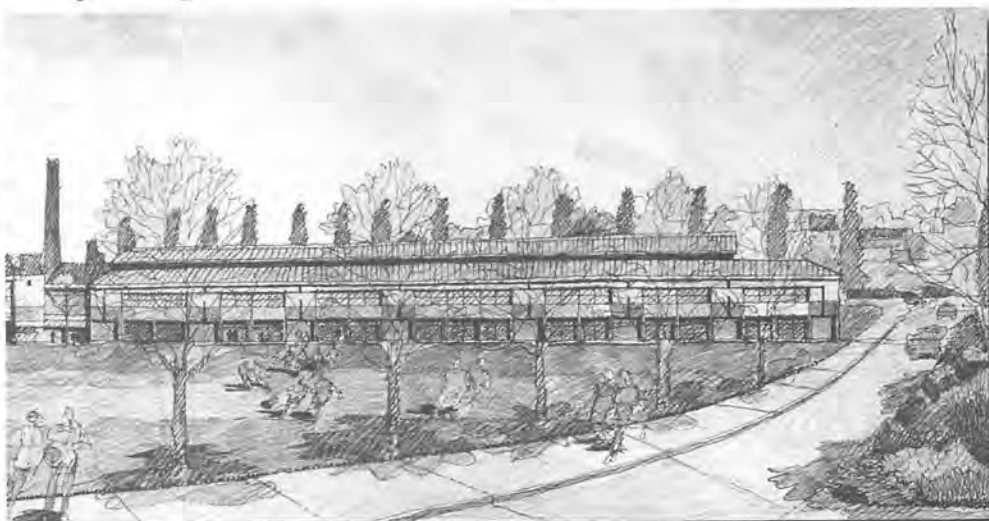

Last fall, the University of Washington athletic department announced a $36 million fund-raising campaign to fund new athletic facilities, renovate Hec Edmundson Pavilion, and provide endowment for athletic scholarships. The announcement was made jointly by University President Richard McCormick, athletic director Barbara Hedges and National Campaign Chair, Tom Porter.

The Campaign for the Student-Athlete is the cornerstone of a $70 million master funding plan that is the result of strategic planning involving University administrators, coaches, student-athletes, community leaders and Husky fans. The Campaign is a five-year effort that began on July 1, 1995, and will run through June 30, 2000.

Priorities for the Campaign include the renovation of Hec Edmundson Pavilion, a new soccer practice facility, a new soccer stadium, a new baseball stadium, the renovation of the Conibear Shellhouse, and an endowment fund for scholarships.

Just over half of the $36 million needed for the Campaign has been received in contributions and pledges during the quiet period of the Campaign.

Private contributions will provide the most significant funding portion of the strategic plan. Support will come from Washington alumni, Husky fans and supporters, and former student-athletes. In addition to the $36 million from the Campaign, the University will provide $10 million for the Hec Edmundson renovation. The remaining $24 million will come from athletic department funds, including a season ticket capital improvement fee, corporate sponsorships and the department's reserve fund.
